

Weathersfield music series hopes to “get everyone back together”

WEATHERSFIELD, Vt. – Local music supporters and the town of Weathersfield are partnering to provide an outdoor music series to give residents a much needed social respite from the 15-month ongoing novel coronavirus pandemic and area musicians a venue to resume their art.

The Weathersfield Summer Music Series, the brainchild of Bill and June Brink of Springfield, Vt., aims to simultaneously fill two demands in the southern Windsor County region: a new source for live music and another venue for local musicians who have had limited work for over a year due to pandemic restrictions.

“There really wasn’t much around here for music besides getting hired for a gig at a bar or something,” June Brink told The Eagle Times. “We wanted something outdoors.”

The series, which kicks off Friday, July 9, will provide free live music every Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Hoisington Field (sometimes called the Perkinsville Soccer Field) in Perkinsville, Vt. The 11-week series is slated to run through Friday, Sept. 24.

The Weathersfield Parks and Recreation Commission is sponsoring the music series, which town officials hope will help to bring the community back together after a difficult year and additional months of quarantining and gathering restrictions.

“We think this is a great way to get everyone back together,” said Weathersfield Town Manager Brandon Gulnick.

Hoisington Field is an ideal location for public gatherings, organizers said. There is ample lawn space, a pavilion with tables for chess or checkers, a basketball court and a playground.

Brink said she is currently working to secure food truck vendors. The biggest challenge now, according to Brink, is raising donations and sponsorships to fund the series through the scheduled dates. While the concerts are free to the public, Brink hopes to raise a total of $7,000, a conservative budget needed to pay musicians and cover expenses like the sound equipment and advertising.

The town of Weathersfield is funding $1,000 to cover expenses of the first two concerts, according to Brink. The expense per show will vary based on the number of musicians performing.

Despite having only a short time-window to launch the music series this year, Brink said it felt particularly important to assist local musicians sooner. “Most of the musicians we know lost all their gigs last year,” Brink said. “And that was a lot of income for a lot of people. So we thought let’s get them a gig.”

Musicians, including Brink’s husband Bill, have been “dying to play” but the available venues remain limited, according to Brink. “The problem now is that everything is opening up but musicians everywhere are [competing] for the gigs,” Brink said. “There’s not a lot left for the little guys.”

Brink hopes with enough additional funds to offer special treats like a free pizza or free ice cream night for attendees.

People wishing to donate are encouraged to send a check by mail or in-person to the Town of Weathersfield at Martin Memorial Hall, 5259 US Route 5, P.O. Box 550, Acutney, VT 05030. Checks should be made to The Town of Weathersfield and include a note specifying a summer music series donation.

For additional payment questions, people may contact the office at 802-674-2626.

Though Brink would prefer donations be sent directly to the town, people wishing to donate by PayPal may do so through Bill Brink’s PayPal account at www.billbrinkmusic.com. PayPal donations should also include a note indicating it as a donation to the music series.

Businesses that donate will be named at each show and listed on Bill Brink’s musician website and the Weathersfield Summer Music Series Facebook page, according to Brink.

Brink said at the end of the summer series she plans to release a film that showcases one song performance from each performing act, with hope to air it on Springfield Area Public Access Television.

For more information about the event, including the concert schedule and performers, visit the Weathersfield Summer Music Series Facebook page or www.billbrinkmusic.com.

Springfield Town Library hires summer intern

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Springfield Town Library is proud to announce it is the recipient of the Public Library Association’s Inclusive Internship Initiative grant. The grant, funded by the Institute of Museum and Library Services, allowed the library to hire a high school student for a paid, summer-long internship. The intern will be working with Youth Services Librarian Michelle Stinson and Library Director Sue Dowdell to learn about careers in librarianship and practice leadership skills. Another goal of the initiative is growing new audiences and programs within the library by having the intern develop and implement a community-based project reflective of their interests and the library’s goals.

Ella Robinson.

Ella Robinson, a junior at Springfield High school, was hired and began her internship Monday, June 21. Ella’s first week included a two-day virtual seminar with interns throughout the country, an overview of the circulation system, and decorating the children’s room for the Tails and Tales summer reading program. She will be helping Michelle Stinson with children’s programs in addition to learning about other areas of the library including cataloging, material selection, and more. Ella will participate in other online learning and networking activities throughout the summer to support her knowledge, skills, and confidence. She will attend and present her project at a final wrap-up event in September when all interns will share experiences and be able to place the internship in the context of college and career readiness.

Ella is not new to libraries. Her hobbies include reading and painting so she fits right in. While at Riverside Middle School, Ella was a student library aide. According to RMS school librarian, Jessie Baldwin, “Ella single-handedly created a contest corner in the library... which increased traffic flow in the library, creating community building opportunities,” in addition to other creative projects for the middle school audience.

Ella’s upcoming project is to create a community service club that involves high school teens. This new group would hold weekly meetings at the Springfield Town Library in order to host events, collect donations, and be active members of the community in order to make a difference. Her hope is to have this club continue after her internship is over. Library Director Sue Dowdell was “impressed with Ella’s enthusiasm and creative ideas for helping those in need in our community and looks forward to working with Ella.”

The Springfield Town Library has been serving the town and surrounding communities from its present location in the heart of downtown Springfield for over 100 years. Established in 1871, Springfield Town Library settled into a permanent home at 43 Main Street in 1895. Today, the library offers a full range of services, including more than 50,000 books and other materials, free access to online courses and a wide range of electronic resources, and programs for both adults and children. It is the community hub for growth, connection, and discovery. The Springfield Town Library serves as the heart of our town. We connect people, ideas, and endeavors of all kinds. Together, we honor our past and embrace the future. We transform lives.

Shear Beauty Salon now open in Woolson Block

BY AMANDA WEDEGIS

The Shopper

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Since it opened June 4, Shear Beauty Salon in downtown Springfield has hit the road running. Owner Daryl Turner has been in the salon business for 15 years at a local salon, but last December she decided she was ready to set out on her own. Now, half a year later, she has opened her chic space as the first business in the newly remodeled Woolson Block.

Daryl, a mom of four, is excited for her new venture. She credits Jessica Martin from Springfield on the Move for helping her through the process. Springfield as a whole, she says, has been a very supportive community. “Small town Springfield, I love,” she says. “It’s truly an upcoming town. It’s going to be great.”

As the corner storefront, Shear Beauty Salon is in a prime foot traffic location, especially with the state lifting Covid-19 restrictions as well as the recent opening of the Springfield Food Co-Op on Main Street.

Shear Beauty Salon is very inviting. The large floor-to-ceiling storefront windows bring in sunlight into the open space. The remodeled storefronts have a clean, updated feel while highlighting their historic features such as the wood floors and intricate tin tiled ceilings. “I love the historic industrial look of this space and being right out on Main Street,” Daryl says. “It just seemed like the perfect location.”

Three attractive styling booths and a shampoo station fill out the space while maintaining an airy and open look. Daryl calls the space a work-in-progress. Some furnishings have been on backorder due to Covid-19, but she will be adding in pieces along the way, including some of her own artwork.

Shear Beauty Salon is open Monday, Thursday, and Friday, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and by appointment Tuesday and Wednesday. The family-friendly salon specializes in cuts, colors, foils, and bridal hair. For more information or to book an appointment online, find Shear Beauty Salon on Facebook and Instagram or call 802-885-6050. The salon is also accessible from the Park Street entrance.

Dump Daze flea market returns to Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – St. Mark's Episcopal Church is pleased to announce the return of the Dump Daze flea market starting Saturday, July 3. The reopening is after a year of hiatus with the Covid-19 pandemic and resulting restrictions placed on the church by the Diocese.

This popular event will occur every Saturday until the "snow flies" and is entirely free. Vendors may arrive and set up at 8 a.m. Closing is at the vendor's discretion. We ask that no animals be offered for sale or giveaway. Restroom facilities are available, and we ask that people abide by the posted regulations.

Dump Daze is located on the church grounds at 33 Fair-ground Road in Springfield. This is an extremely high traffic route on Saturdays to the local recycling center. We ask that folks abide with any Covid-19 related requests asked of them. Please call 802-885-2972 with any questions. Leave a message if necessary.

Humanity Network of Greater Falls offers restorative conflict resolution

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – On Thursday, July 8, from 6:30-8:30 p.m., join the Humanity Network of Greater Falls for an introduction to Restorative Conflict Resolution. This event will be held on the lawn behind Butterfield Library on Route 5 in Westminister, Vt. Bring a lawn chair.

Please register with Anne Dempsey at programming@rockinghamlibrary.org if you will be attending this event, but you are welcome to come to the event without registering.

Would you like to learn skills that might help you improve communication with people in your community and your family? We have all experienced the discomfort of a disagreement that did not end well for either party. Whether with coworkers or family members, neighbors or professional interactions, we can all benefit from learning and practicing Restorative Conflict Resolution – aka nonviolent communication skills.

The Rockingham Free Public Library is sponsoring a collaboration between The Humanity Network of Greater Falls and Restorative Community Practice of Vermont to offer a free introductory workshop on Restorative Conflict Resolution and to learn more about HNGF and RCPVT.

The Humanity Network of Greater Falls is a recently forged grassroots group that is working toward an egalitarian society by supporting cultural education and social engagement opportunities.

The workshop will be led by Dan Dewalt, Laurie Rabut, and Claire Webb of Restorative Community Practice of Vermont. To learn more about RCPVT, visit their website at www.rcpvt.org.

We hope this free introductory workshop will inspire your membership in the Humanity Network of Greater Falls and encourage your participation in Restorative Circle Conference Practice, a six-week workshop planned for September. All are welcome. For more information on the HNGF or to get the link to the monthly meetings, contact Jeanette Staley at jeanette.staley@vcfa.edu or Representative Michelle Bos-Lun at mboslun@leg.state.vt.us. Contact Laurie Rabut with any questions about RCPVT's work at rabutlaurie@gmail.com.

Kurn Hattin Homes finalist for Red Sox Foundation Impact Award, staff honored

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – The Red Sox Foundation has named New England Kurn Hattin Homes as one of the four finalists in the state eligible to win the $10,000 Impact Award grant this year. The Impact Awards provide Red Sox fans in the surrounding New England states with the opportunity to support their favorite nonprofits by casting a vote. Organizations with the most votes will win a $10,000 grant from the Red Sox Foundation.

This year's Impact Awards focus on organizations that have demonstrated an impact on raising awareness and improving mental health outcomes in young adults in their communities. Please show us your support and help Kurn Hattin Homes win by voting at www.redsox.com/IMPACT.

Winners will be announced following the July 9 voting deadline. The winning organizations will be invited to participate in a special pregame ceremony and check presentation at Fenway Park July 22.

In other news, 13 staff members were recognized at Kurn Hattin Homes this year for their dedication, hard work, and many years of service. Executive Director Steve Harrison and Assistant Executive Director Susan Kessler honored these individuals with service awards June 4.

Staff members receiving five-year awards were Michelle Banning, art educator; Martha Ruffle, director of Human Resources; Stephen Harrison, executive director; William McHugh, 504 coordinator; Laurel Harrison, middle grades literacy teacher; and Stephen Fitch, financial manager. The 15-year awards went to Clint Plante, co-assistant director of Residential Life, and Myles Farrar, maintenance. The 30-year award was given to Karen Rumrill, houseparent, and 35-year award to Lisa Bianconi, music director. The 40-year award went to Richard Long, social studies teacher, who retired this year. He was honored with a special certificate

Community Asylum Seekers Project develops language-learning program

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. – As it welcomes more participants into its program, the Community Asylum Seekers Project is facing the dilemma of how to integrate them into life in Windham County, including finding meaningful work with limited English-language skills. Seven asylum seekers in this area have been gainfully employed, yet a few have lost job opportunities because of barriers to the full understanding of directions.

Federal regulations have doubled the wait time for work permit eligibility, so CASP has designed a language-learning plan that takes advantage of that wait to better prepare asylum seekers to find work and keep it. Adaptable for all levels, from beginner to advanced, it focuses on language learning plus vocational and cultural skills.

Called a curriculum map, it is made up of nine units in sequence that cover everyday life, from learning about the community, home life, safety, health and wellness, the natural world and work to money and banking. There is also the flexibility to adapt the map to individual needs. Each unit suggests experiences, activities, and excursions to enhance the learning and get the students out into their new world.

While the curriculum map was designed for use locally, CASP has licensed it for non-commercial use and plans to publish it online for use by teachers of any language, locally and nationally. "It is arranged by units, so it is highly flexible," said John Bohannon, creator of the vocational segment of the plan.

The language segment was devised by Nancy Lindberg, a teacher of English at the U.S. Committee on Refugees and Immigrants, in collaboration with Jennifer Borch, the education program director at USCRI. Project task co-directors are Dorothy Leech and Francie Marbury, CASP board members.

The curriculum was reviewed by representatives of local businesses and organizations, including Paul Millman, former CEO of Chroma Technologies, Alex Beck of the Brattleboro Development Credit Corporation, and several instructors connected with The School for International Training. During preparation of the curriculum, planners interacted with personnel from 15 local businesses. It was funded by a $14,000 grant from the Clowes Foundation of Indianapolis.

Now that the pandemic is winding down and in-person learning can resume, CASP will be applying for a grant to implement the map by hiring a teacher and finding an appropriate classroom space. In the meantime, it is seeking possibilities for field-testing of the map, contributions to the plan, and feedback.

CASP was founded in 2016 and provides material and moral support to those seeking asylum from violence and poverty in their home countries by finding host families for them, helping with food and other daily needs, assisting them in navigating the asylum claim process, and helping them achieve eventual independence as they proceed through the process. Currently, CASP is supporting 14 individuals in Windham County. Kate Paarlberg is executive director.

Further information can be found at www.caspvt.org, on Facebook, or by contacting CASP at P.O. Box 1355, Brattleboro, VT 05302 or 802-579-1509.

LOCAL HISTORY

BY RON PATCH

Chester Historical Society flower gardens—

I became president of the Chester Historical Society in 2006. At that time, there was an overgrown and rotted picket fence separating the historical society lawn from the cemetery. Grapevines had become established and were aggressively growing on the fence. A few young walnut trees had a good start. It was an awful looking mess. One of these walnut trees is now growing on my property.

I called on a few friends to help establish a flower garden. We removed the rotted fence and went to work. Clint Bigelow came down with his Kubota with backhoe. Clint excavated the flowerbed to the length and width you see today. At this same time, Clint reset the stone fence posts. They had begun to tilt.

Pret Warren came over with his rototiller and tilled what Clint had excavated. Pret made many passes preparing the flowerbed for Francine Provost, a master gardener.

Francine spent many hours on her hands and knees, removing tree roots, bricks, and preparing the soil. The bricks are from the old Chester Academy. I donated perennials I could spare. A call went out to members that we needed plants. We had a wonderful response from members. Andy Ojane donated a pickup load of dry cow manure. Soon the garden began to take shape.

I used to have antiques shows on the front lawn of the historical society as a fundraiser. Angelica Dierks was set up at one of these shows selling her wares. She had an antique wrought iron gate for sale, which I bought.

Harry Goodell bought two pressure-treated, six-by-six-inch posts. Steve Lavoie dug holes for the gateposts. Steve and Harry set the posts in place, and hung the wrought iron gate. Harry made copper caps for the tops of the gateposts.

In the 1990s, I bought for my place a pair of large Victorian cast iron garden urns at an auction in Plainfield, N.H. They never really fit my landscape so I took them to the historical society and placed them in front of the gate. I sold the urns several years ago to Skip at Bargain Corner. Skip has generously left them at the historical society for us to use.

Today, around the inside perimeter of the handicap ramp is a hosta bed. This was a problem area. When the ramp was built, the center area was filled with crushed rock. Francine knew how to make plants grow in this rocky area.

She used hemlock bark mulch and spread it over the rocks to about a foot deep. Then she dug holes in the mulch where she wanted to plant hostas. In these holes she mixed compost with potting soil, and planted the hostas. It worked perfectly. Today, the hostas are thriving.

As the old mulch decomposes, new mulch has to be added otherwise the rocks will resurface. In recent years Larry Wright has delivered mulch donated by Gilcris Enterprises in Proctorsville.

Francine maintained these flowerbeds for many years, retiring a couple years ago. Jen Rosenthal of Gnarly Roots took Francine's place. Jen is a professional landscape artist who donates her time and skills to the historical society gardens.

Every spring, Jen and her crew make our gardens ready for the summer, topping off mulch, cutting fresh edges, plantings, etc.

Throughout the summer, Jen maintains the gardens and in the fall prepares them for the winter. I noticed this year that Jen cut deeper edges around the flowerbed. It looks great.

Jen is very busy this year with her business so Chester Townscape planted the urns and our whiskey barrels with annuals for us. I think our flowerbeds are some of the prettier gardens in town. It's not because of one person. It took everyone I mentioned. I thought it important to create a record of what we did and acknowledge those whom worked on this project. Thank you all.

Instead of an old saying I want to tell another Jack Bittner story. Jack was having an auction one summer day where George and Mary Bittner live today. Jack had a great sense of humor. Jack was busy selling antiques when a train came up from Bellows Falls. The train sounded its horn as it approached town. Jack stopped selling to tell this story.

"Years ago, a man's wife ran off with the conductor of the train. Every time the man heard the train whistle, he began to cry. He thought the conductor was bringing his wife back."

Acworth Meetinghouse 200th anniversary

ACWORTH, N.H. – Where does time go? Seems like yesterday, but it's been 12 years since the steeple was put back on the Acworth Meetinghouse and 11 years since the painting was completed. The Friends of the Acworth Meetinghouse are now having two sides of this magnificent building painted again and planning to get the rest done in a timely fashion.

With the help of the United Church of Acworth, we're also planning a 200th anniversary celebration for the meetinghouse and a horse shed dedication for Aug. 14, 2021. Please put this date on your calendar and plan on helping us celebrate!

We are planning events all day including vendors selling their wares on the front lawn, a Chicken BBQ at noon, a welcome ceremony at 10 a.m., and the horse shed dedication at 1:30 p.m., as well as a ringing of the Revere Bell in memory of people or in honor of people. Hopefully we will be giving tours of the building. Please come and bring your friends and relatives. We'd love to see and talk to all of you and show off our historic accomplishments on Aug. 14.

Claremont Savings Bank promotions

CLAREMONT, N.H. – Claremont Savings Bank is pleased to announce the promotion of Timothy Bates to Senior Vice President of Information Technology and Operations.

"We are delighted with the work Tim and his IT and facilities staff have done for the bank," said Reggie Greene, president and CEO. "We recently asked him to take on management of operations in addition to his existing duties and are recognizing his performance and increasing responsibility by promoting him to senior vice president. Tim is an important member of our executive management team."

Bates came to Claremont Savings Bank in 2007 with significant IT and project management experience gained at TD Ameritrade and while serving in the military. He is currently on the board of the Claremont Soup Kitchen. He has previously served on the Claremont Christian Academy and the Claremont Opera House boards.

"I am truly honored and excited to take on this new challenge," said Bates. "I would like to thank the Board of Trustees and senior management for their faith and trust in me to serve in an executive leadership position. I would also like to thank all the staff that have been on my teams over the 14 years I have been employed by Claremont Savings Bank for their hard work and tireless efforts for growth and constant improvement."

Bates resides in Claremont with his wife and children. He has a Bachelor of Science in business from the College of Saint Joseph, and a Master of Business Administration from Plymouth State University.

In addition, Zachary Haines has been promoted to vice president of operations. "Zach is compassionate with his staff and has a strong work ethic. He has a great attitude which rubs off on the entire operations department," said Bates. "He takes great pride in his work which is evident in his project delivery. Zach has worked very hard to receive this promotion and it is my honor to be able to continue to work with him in the future." Haines began his career with the bank in 2009.

Dear Editor,

Summer is here, and with it tick season. Beware of the ticks and their cargo of Lyme disease. They are very dangerous.

In case anyone hasn't heard about it, Vermont seems to be ground zero for the attacks of ticks. And I'm very qualified to speak about it, and Lyme disease, of which they are the primary carriers.

Lyme disease, if untreated, leads to chronic ailments, mental debilitation, and discomfort. I first heard about it about 40 years ago when an Iowa member of Congress was compelled to resign because the ailment had caused such physical problems and mental deterioration that he couldn't do his work. At that time, the seriousness of the disease was not understood.

Since then it has become a focus of attention within the medical community. Although originating in New England – first noticed in Lyme, Conn., hence the name – it has moved across the Northeast and into the border states and the Midwest.

Three years ago, here at our Vermont place, I spent a few hours during a balmy June visit cutting limbs from a tree in the backyard. When I returned to Florida, I developed serious flu like symptoms. My better half gave me a quick going over and found on my side where I had not noticed it, the characteristic livid bull's eye rash that marks the Lyme disease infection, transmitted by a tick bite. The rash was a whopper, about a foot across.

She hauled me off to the nearest emergency department where the well-informed physicians quickly concurred in the diagnosis. Two days in the hospital, being provided with high doses of antibiotics, a spinal tap, followed by two weeks of daily antibiotics doses, led to the opinion that I was cured and without long-term effects.

I was very glad that – apparently – my mental faculties were not impaired. But a couple of my kids wondered how would anyone have known?

Anyway, flash forward to June 2021. I took my usual customary walk along the road past the house. A downpour soaked me, and when I got back to the house I needed assistance in getting out of my wet clothes. Bingo! There on my back under two layers of shirts – one with a hood – was a tick right where I never would have seen him.

The Missus picked off the little pest, killed him, and put some topical treatment on the spot. Then she advised that I head for an ER for what she said was a quick treatment that an online medical site said would squelch any infection if taken within 72 hours.

So off I went to Dartmouth-Hitchcock, where the very attentive and thorough ER crew within a short time dosed me with two capsules of doxycycline monohydrate, also known as Monodox, intended to prevent infection. Medical science to the rescue.

So now I rest easy. A couple of footnotes. My treatment for the disease three years ago with antibiotics ravaged my intestinal system, slaughtering good bacteria as well as bad, so that I was severely constipated. A couple of weeks of store bought replenishment eventually cured me, but it wasn't pleasant.

And I am informed that the medicine that I just received is a common treatment for gonorrhea and chlamydia. Boy, what a relief! Uh, about the treatment for potential Lyme disease that is.

Sincerely,
Bruce Graham

Dear Editor,

Nothing about the 2021 session was business as usual. It was the first Legislative session on record that was held remotely from start to finish.

Then, because of unprecedented spending at the federal level, a vast infusion of federal dollars came to Vermont, which led to unprecedented levels of revenue for our state. In the spring of 2020, Vermont received $1.25 billion from the Cares Act and in the spring of 2021 we received $1.052 billion from the American Rescue Plan Act.

Our recently passed fiscal year 2022 balanced budget of $7.32 billion – no doubt, the largest ever for the state of Vermont – incorporates Cares Act money and $581 million of the ARPA money, plus more than $200 million in surplus state dollars.

I am proud of what a Democrat-led Legislature and Republican-led Administration accomplished together in this 2021 session. We all worked to ensure that the billions of dollars coming into the state were put to immediate and effective use in response to the pandemic. A lot of the needs that were unfulfilled in past years were addressed and funded. It was an once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to make high-impact investments.

Here are just a few highlights of the fiscal year 2022 budget's investments to begin July 1,

Expanding Broadband: H.360 dedicates $150 million of federal stimulus funds to the construction of broadband infrastructure in the most underserved rural parts of the state.

Investing in Childcare: H.171 invests $12.5 million with a goal that no family receiving subsidized childcare spend more than 10% of its gross annual income on childcare. By increasing affordability for working families and increasing childcare worker wages, we can support and grow our workforce.

Increasing Affordable Housing: $200 million has been set aside to increase housing stock for low- and middle-income Vermonters while transitioning homeless Vermonters to permanent housing. Also the money will fund rental assistance programs and provide no-interest loans to rehabilitate sub-standard housing.

Addressing Climate Change: With transportation accounting for 44% of Vermont's carbon emissions, the infusion of federal dollars allows us to expand incentives for electric vehicles and e-bicycles, provide more charging station grants, and extend Amtrak service from Rutland to Burlington. Funding of the emissions repair and the weatherization programs for low-income Vermonters also will help the state meet its carbon-reduction goals.

We also invested in higher education and workforce development to prepare Vermonters for 21st-century jobs. We continued the Vote By Mail program, which will be effective in the next General Election. Even though Vermont's education spending is decided at the local level, we were able to keep property tax rates level with the use of federal dollars.

And finally, we began the process of resolving our public pensions crisis as we face a $5.6 billion unfunded liability. We were able to come up with a total pension investment this year of $466 million, a massive commitment for the Legislature in a single year, by using an additional $150 million of ARPA dollars.

There remains $600 million of the ARPA funds not included in the fiscal year 2022 budget that is available for future use. We will be coming to Vermonters across the state this summer to ask for your input and feedback regarding how we should spend the remaining $600 million. So stay tuned!

I welcome your questions and concerns on any legislative issues. You can reach me at tbock@leg.state.vt.us or by phone at 802-875-2222.

Sincerely,
Rep. Tom Bock

Op-Ed: Summer reading is more important than ever this year

It's been a tough year for all of us, but kids in particular have been significantly impacted by a year of remote or hybrid learning, disrupted routines, and a lack of socialization and normal activities. Anxiety and depression have skyrocketed, social-emotional skills have taken a hit, and many children have fallen behind in those all-important literacy skills, one of the strongest indicators of a child's future success.

A U.N. study found that "100 million more children will fail basic reading skills because of Covid." In 2020, the number of children with reading difficulties worldwide jumped 20%. This has huge implications for these children's futures, including increased risk of dropping out of school and living in poverty.

Research shows students who don't read and engage in learning activities in the summer are likely to fall behind their peers. This problem affects low-income kids, who may lack access to reading materials and educational opportunities in the summer, at higher rates. While the data varies and one recent study indicates that the effects of the "summer slide" learning loss may be overstated, kids who read during the summer tend to maintain and even increase their literacy skills, such as vocabulary, comprehension, and communications skills. Reading also has emotional benefits and has been shown to increase empathy and decrease stress.

The Children's Literacy Foundation provides fun authors' visits and free books through its Summer Readers program. They send Vermont and New Hampshire children's authors, illustrators, and storytellers to places where kids spend time in the summer – camps, rec programs, summer schools, meal sites, libraries – and gives each child two new books of their choice.

CLiF Program Manager Jana Brown says, "Our goal is for CLiF's free literacy programs and book giveaways to keep children engaged with reading throughout the summer. Literacy is a focal point for learning re-engagement as our partners move forward with their Covid recovery and learning re-engagement plans and we look forward to continuing to provide professional literacy programs and new, high-quality books."

Kids are far more likely to enjoy reading and do it often when they get to choose their own books. So, CLiF provides hundreds of diverse books to choose from so that everyone finds something they'll enjoy. It's also important to not make reading a chore – remember it's fun! Kids should see it that way. Take them to the library often if you can, and encourage them to find books that meet their interests and needs. Librarians are very good at this.

One of the best things you can do for your child this summer is to provide books and let them read what and where they want. Let them see you doing it too. Read together – if they'll allow it. Talk about books and stories. Ask questions. Encourage them to write their own stories and offer to read them if they want. Promoting literacy is one of the best ways to help them prepare for the future and to make sense of a bewildering year.

John F. Williams, 1971-2021

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – John “Big Red” Williams, 49, passed peacefully at the Jack Byrne Center June 23, 2021.

He was born Aug. 9, 1971 and spent his early childhood growing up among the apple trees in Bethel, Conn., moving to Westminster, Vt. during high school. He was a graduate of Bellows Falls Union High School, Class of 1990.

After high school, he joined the Army National Guard and then moved to Texas. He went to France and Germany where he played football for the NFL team Frankfurt Galaxy.

He then returned to Vermont and fathered two boys, Brodie and John Jr., who he is survived by.

John was a fun loving guy with a smile and laugh that filled the room. He will be greatly missed.

A celebration of life will be announced at a later date.

Winifred M. Allbee, 1921-2021

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Winifred M. Allbee, 100, of Bellows Falls, passed away peacefully at Morning Glory Manor Saturday, June 5, 2021.

She was born May 23, 1921 in Windham, the daughter of Harry and Bessie (Rounds) Jenison. Winnie attended schools in West Townshend and Townshend. She played several sports while in high school and was well known for being an excellent basketball player.

Winnie and her first husband Edward Dextraze had three children, Jeannette, Eddy, and their first-born daughter who died at birth. Their marriage ended in divorce a few years later.

In 1954 Winnie married Perlie Allbee in a small ceremony in West Townshend. The couple was married for 31 years until Perlie’s passing in 1985.

Winnie, affectionately known as Bah, was an incredibly hard-working and caring woman with a zest for life. She was well known for her cooking, baking, love of music, reading, puzzles, and love of the ocean.

Some of Winnie and Perlie’s endeavors included a lunch cart “Winnie’s Foodmobile,” which they traveled with up and down the East Coast. They also sold Christmas trees, picked oranges for a season in Florida, owned a sulky racehorse, owned a tractor trailer and hauled loads cross-country. They also enjoyed setting up at local flea markets. To obtain items to sell at these flea markets, they were always going to yard sales. It wasn’t unheard of for them to make an offer for everything at the yard sale and, if accepted by the usually surprised person having the yard sale, they would start loading up the pickup truck.

Bah always kept busy, never one to sit still. She recently celebrated her 100th birthday, a day she really enjoyed.

She was predeceased by her first-born daughter, mother and father, sisters Esther and Maxine, and husband Perlie. Survivors include her daughter Jeannette Whelan of Westminster, son Edward Dextraze Jr. and wife Ruth of Claremont, granddaughter Wendy Moss and husband Bernie of Bellows Falls, grandson Seth Dextraze and wife Tina of Reno, Nev., grandson Scot Dextraze of Bellows Falls, granddaughter Courtney Wiese and husband Nick of Springfield, and five great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

The family would like to say a special thank you to Pastor Pete Carlson, Dr. Robert Swartz, Gerry Chandler, Chris and the late Ed Decamp and their incredible loving team at Morning Glory Manor for all of the care Bah received. Bah was a woman of Faith. Bah was a true blessing in our lives and will live on in our hearts forever. A private memorial service was held in Townshend June 18.

In memory of Winnie, donations can be made to the Bellows Falls Senior Center.

Donations in memory of Sylvia H. Lawrence

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – In memory of Sylvia H. Lawrence who died June 13, 2021, donations can be made to the Butterfield Library, P.O. Box 123, Westminster, VT 05158 for the purchases of children’s books in Sylvia’s name, which would be appreciated by the family.

Ann M. Lemp, 1925-2021

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Ann Marie (LaVecchia) Lemp, 96, of Bellows Falls, Vt., passed away peacefully at the Jack Byrne Center at DHMC in Lebanon, N.H., June 18, 2021. Ann was born Jan. 17, 1925, the daughter of Thomas and Beatrice LaVecchia in Jersey City, N.J.

Ann, or more affectionately known as “Nina,” is survived by her two loving daughters and their families, including daughter Patricia (Harold) Bushway of North Walpole, N.H., granddaughter Kerry (Brian) Pickering of Drewsville, N.H., great-granddaughter Allegra (Nate) Bisson and great-great-grandson Keenan of Walpole, N.H., and great-granddaughter Shea of Drewsville, N.H.; grandson Mark (Tammy) Bushway of Estero, Fla., and great-grandchildren Kylee Bushway of Arlington, Va., and Chloe Bushway of Estero, Fla.; daughter Joanne (Ray) Perry of Bellows Falls, Vt., granddaughters Nicole (Brett) Clace and great-grandchildren Griffin and Graeme of Colchester, Vt., and Courtney (Cole) Thomas and great-grandchildren Louisa Lark, Peter Leif, and Mathilda Rose of Essex, Vt.

In addition, Ann is survived by her sisters Lena Harris of Newburgh, N.Y. and Marion Williams of Monticello, N.Y.; and brother-in-law Ronald (Dorothy) Lemp of Succunna, N.J., as well as several nieces and nephews.

Ann married her loving husband Edwin Lemp Nov. 24, 1957, who predeceased her Oct. 17, 2016. She is also predeceased by her siblings Rose Perrone, Catherine (Kay) Gerson, Louis (Louie) LaVecchia, Antonette (Nettie) Brown, Frances Patton, Bernardo (Ben) LaVecchia, and Margaret Smith. Additionally, her first husband Bernard Sullivan of Jersey City, N.J.

Ann “Nina” was a faithful and devoted wife, loving mother, grandmother, great-grandmother and great-great-grandmother, sister, and friend whose life centered around her family. Ann was deeply loved and will be missed by all who knew her.

We are grateful for the compassionate care and friendship provided to her by Bonnie Reagan, Jamie Harper, and Barb Kolodziej. We also would like to thank the Jack Byrne Center at DHMC, Vermont Hospice, and Vermont VNA. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions in Ann’s name may be made to Jack Byrne Center, 154 Hitchcock Loop Rd., Lebanon, NH 03756.

A funeral mass will take place Saturday, Aug. 21, 2021 at 10 a.m. at St. Peter’s Church in North Walpole, N.H.

Vermont Fish & Wildlife says pollinators are in peril

REGION - Many of Vermont's pollinator species are in peril, and the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department would like to share a few simple suggestions to greatly benefit our essential pollinator species.

"The majority of our flowering plants need pollinators in order to produce seeds," said Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department zoologist Mark Ferguson. "Vermont is home to hundreds of species of pollinators from bees to butterflies to beetles and other bugs that play a vital role in pollinating our flowers, trees, and food crops. These insects are responsible for pollinating 60 to 80% of Vermont's wild plants and play a critical role in the propagation of fruits and vegetables in gardens, wild berry patches, commercial berry farms, and apple orchards."

But many pollinator species in Vermont are in trouble. Habitat loss, invasive species, single-crop farming, disease, and pesticides are a few of the threats affecting populations of these insects across our state. Vermont's native bees, including over 300 unique species and three that are threatened or endangered, are among our pollinators being impacted the most.

A recent examination of our 17 different bumblebees compared recent observations with historical collections and concluded that several species have drastically declined or disappeared from Vermont, including the Rusty-patched Bumble Bee.

To better understand not only the number and diversity of our native bee species, but also their distribution and population trends, the department and partners are conducting a three-year study of Vermont bees. Vermont Fish & Wildlife is working closely with the Vermont Center for Ecological Studies and is inviting any members of the public interested in contributing to this data collection to send their bee observations to iNaturalist, www.inaturalist.org.

Vermonters can also help conserve our native bees and other pollinators with a few simple household considerations:

- Provide a variety of vibrant flowers and native plants to attract pollinators to your yard and garden.
- Learn to live with wildflowers and weeds growing in your yard and fields. Pollinators prefer a variety in their habitat, even if it looks untidy to humans.
- Keep an eye out for bare patches of lawn where ground-nesting bees may make their home.

- Use pesticide alternatives such as pollinator-friendly barriers to keep unwanted pests off your plants.

- Avoid using insecticides, especially those that contain neonicotinoids such as imidacloprid, thiamethoxam, clothianidin.

- Reduce the amount of property that is mowed, mow less often, and consider leaving fields unmowed until October when most pollinators have finished their pollinating activities.

Meadows that are narrow in shape or less than 10 acres in size are not suitable to provide habitat for grassland birds, but they can be extremely valuable pollinator habitat. Consider leaving these small fields, and also large fields managed as grassland bird nesting habitat which are not needed for hay harvest in August or September, unmowed until October when most pollinators have finished their pollinating activities.

You can also ensure the viability of Vermont's pollinators by contributing to Vermont Fish & Wildlife's habitat conservation projects through the Vermont Habitat Stamp program: www.vtfishandwildlife.com/node/225.

To learn more about Vermont's pollinators and additional ways to help, please visit www.vtfishandwildlife.com/node/191 or contact Mark.Ferguson@vermont.gov.

Shrine Maple Sugar Bowl to benefit Shriners Hospitals for Children

CASTLETON, Vt. - Vermont's governor has announced the end of the State of Emergency and lifted all restrictions resulting from the Covid-19 pandemic. With this announcement, the Shrine Maple Sugar Bowl Board of Governors is moving full speed toward hosting the Aug. 7 football game at Castleton University, with kick-off at 12:30 p.m.

Game ticket and parking pass purchase will change this year. For the first time ever, the 2021 Shrine Maple Sugar Bowl will be selling advance tickets and parking passes through an online system. Following the purchase of tickets and parking passes, fans will receive an email with a code that should be printed or saved on their mobile device. Tickets and parking passes will remain available for advance purchase online until 11:59 p.m. Aug. 6, 2021. Please note that any fan who fails to bring their printed or saved order code with them will need to repurchase tickets and parking passes onsite.

Upon arrival to the Castleton University campus, those who have purchased tickets and parking in advance will show the lot attendants their parking code to gain access to the parking areas on campus. Fans will then proceed to the pavilion where their ticket code will be scanned and they will be given wristbands that allow access into the stadium. Fans that do not have a wristband will not be allowed entry into Dave Wolk Stadium.

For fans that do not wish to purchase advance tickets and parking passes online, parking and tickets will be available day-of at an increased rate. To purchase tickets online, go to www.shrinemaplesugarbowl2021.eventbrite.com.

Vermont turkey brood survey starts July 1

REGION - Wild turkeys are found throughout most of Vermont, but their reproductive success is monitored annually by the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department with help from "citizen scientists." The department had an annual online survey for reporting turkey broods in August, but this year the survey will start July 1 and continue to the end of August.

If you see a flock of turkeys in Vermont during July and August, the department asks you to go to the turkey brood survey on its website, www.vtfishandwildlife.com, and report your observations including where and when you observed the turkeys along with the number of adult and young turkeys, or poults.

"Information gathered from this survey helps us monitor long-term trends in the productivity of Vermont's wild turkey population," said Vermont Fish & Wildlife's wild turkey biologist Chris Bernier. "It also helps us assess the impacts of Starting July 1, Vermont Fish & Wildlife is asking people who see wild turkey broods during the month to provide information about their sightings via a survey on the department's website.

spring weather on the survival of poults and adult turkeys which is an important consideration in the management of turkeys."

"We monitor and manage wild turkey numbers annually in order to maintain a healthy, abundant, and sustainable population of these iconic and ecologically significant birds throughout the state," added Bernier. "Beyond providing Vermonters with a local source of protein and an enduring connection to their environment, turkey hunting is the principal mechanism for managing Vermont's turkey population. Please help us scientifically manage the turkey population by reporting your Vermont turkey sightings during August."

"We are moving from an August-only survey to a July and August survey this year in order to bring our survey protocol into compliance with the regional protocol. One of the biggest benefits of this survey is being able to compare productivity trends across turkey range and the only way we can do this effectively is if all the Northeast states collect these data in the same way."

SEVCA's Good Buy Thrift Stores offer new shoes

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – SEVCA's Good Buy Thrift Stores have received a generous donation of more than 900 pair of new men's and women's designer shoes in a variety of sizes and styles. The shoes, given by a donor who owned a recently closed shoe store in St. Johnsbury, will be offered to community members at prices beginning at 50% below retail price.

SEVCA's Good Buy Thrift Stores in Bellows Falls, Springfield, and Hartford offer home goods, clothing, and shoes at all three locations. The stores serve a dual purpose: they offer affordable goods for community members of all income levels and they are, as well, intended to serve as a source of income for SEVCA, an agency which provides services to alleviate the effects of poverty for those living in Windham and Windsor counties.

SEVCA has remained open to the public throughout the pandemic, both to ensure that community members have access to home goods and shoes and clothing at affordable prices and to receive donations. Donations have been at high volume with generous high quality items provided and offered for sale. The agency continues to offer vouchers to agency customers who may be eligible to receive no-cost items at each location through prior appointment with our Family Services staff. In addition to the current offering of brand-name new shoes by Naot, Durea, Uggs, and other designers, the agency is also carrying a large inventory of summer and everyday items.

More information about donation acceptance and store locations in Bellows Falls, White River Junction, and Springfield can be found on SEVCA's website, www.sevca.org/thrift-stores/locations.

For more information about SEVCA's no cost services that help community members to navigate the effects of Covid-19, including help with referrals and access to applications for available supports such as Vermont Emergency Rental Assistance Program for current and back rent and utilities, or to learn more about SEVCA's no-cost Money Management and Vermont Matched Savings program, you may visit our website, www.sevca.org, or call to make an appointment, 800-464-9951.

Beware of scam job offers

REGION – With pandemic restrictions fading, many look forward to a return to “normal” and rewarding employment. According to news outlets, there are literally thousands of employers who are desperate to hire workers, offering hiring incentives and increased wages. Compounding the situation is the annual surge of job seekers from high schools and colleges. Sadly, the criminals who lure us into scams are aware of our desires and needs related to jobs.

According to the Better Business Bureau, about 14 million people experience job scams, losing more than $2 billion in a typical year.

Leading the list of targeted employment are “work from home” offers. Scammers know that there is great interest in this and “create” high paying jobs that require no experience, time, or effort. Frequently, the criminal offers to sell employment training kits, requesting payment by credit card or gift card. The result, at best, is loss of money; at worst, it is a compromised credit card. Here are some of the more popular “work from home” traps.

Reshipping scams are when you work as a personal assistant receiving, repackaging, and reshipping products. The products tend to be big-ticket items and the new address is in a foreign location. The company tells you that you will receive your first paycheck and expense reimbursement shortly but it never comes. You are out the money and possibly set up to be an identity theft victim based on the personal information you provided.

In reselling scams, you are given an opportunity to buy discounted brand-name products and then sell them at a profit, but once you pay for them, the merchandise never arrives.

Other job scams include “mystery shopper” jobs, caregiver jobs, and even government employment jobs. Often, these scams involve paying a fee to get the job or prepare for it. Other scams impersonate employment or job placement services. In these cases, the criminal creates a fake job that has lucrative salary and surprisingly excellent benefits. Some of these scams charge fees while others send advance payment checks to cover expenses.

In the case of the latter, the advance payment is in excess of your expenses and you are asked to return the additional money, but the check you receive is bogus and bounces. Now you have lost the money you returned and likely face bank fees.

Avoid losses by applying a healthy degree of skepticism, particularly when the job offer sounds too good to be true. The Federal Trade Commission suggests an online search of the company and hiring person. Verify the legitimacy of the job offer by contacting the company human resources department. Talk to a trusted resource such as the Better Business Bureau or your state Department of Labor.

Don't pay for the prospect of a job. If you are asked to make an upfront payment, it's a scam. Another sign of a scam develops when you are sent a check and then asked to return part of it by gift cards. Honest employers do not operate this way. If you are the victim and have paid money to a likely scammer, contact the company that was used to send the money.

Contact your state consumer protection agency if you believe you are a victim:

- New Hampshire – www.doj.nh.gov/consumer,
- Vermont Consumer Assistance Program – www.ago.vermont.gov/cap/consumer-complaint,

Civil Division Clerk

VERIFIED COMPLAINT FOR ABANDONMENT PURSUANT TO 10 V.S.A. § 6249(i) (Uninhabitable)

NOW COMES The Housing Foundation, Inc. (“HFI”), by and through its counsel Nadine L. Scibek, and hereby complains as follows:

1. HFI, a Vermont non-profit corporation with a principal place of business in Montpelier, County of Washington, State of Vermont, is the record owner of a mobile home park known as the Windy Hill Acres Mobile Home Park (the “Park”) located in the Town of Springfield, Vermont (the “Park”). The Park is managed by the Vermont State Housing Authority.

2. Patricia A. Crawford (“Crawford”) is the record owner of a certain mobile home, described as a 1974 Centurion mobile home, 14' x 70', bearing serial number ANE 7020114 (the “Mobile Home”), located on Lot #72, Windy Hill Acres Mobile Home Park, 242 Town Farm Road in Springfield, Vermont. See attached Vermont Mobile Home Uniform Bill of Sale.

3. Crawford leased a lot in the Park for her mobile home from HFI pursuant to a written lease. Crawford paid a security deposit in the amount of $375.00 to HFI. See attached Lease.

4. Crawford is deceased. Crawford's date of death is December 2, 2019. No probate estate has been opened for Crawford per the Vermont Superior Court, Windsor Probate Division. See attached Vermont Certificate of Death & Obituary.

5. The last known legal occupant of the Mobile Home was Crawford. The last known unauthorized occupants of the mobile home were Cody and Jodi Crawford (Crawford's children) who were evicted from the mobile home on March 18, 2021 by court order pursuant to 12 V.S.A. § 4853b. See The Housing Foundation, Inc. v. Crawford et. al., Vermont Superior Court, Windsor Civil Division, Case No. 20-CV-00057. The mobile home has been unoccupied since the Writ of Possession was executed by the Windsor County Sheriff's Department.

6. The Park has attempted to communicate in writing with Crawford's heirs-at-law, Jodi and Kelly Crawford and they have failed to respond. See attached.

7. The following security interests, mortgages, liens and encumbrances appear of record with respect to the mobile home:

a. Crawford is in arrears on obligations to pay property taxes to the Town of Springfield, Vermont in the aggregate amount of $148.64, plus any additional interest and penalties. The delinquent property taxes are now a lien on the property. See attached Tax Bill & Delinquent Tax Report.

8. Mobile home storage fees continue to accrue at the rate of $452.00 per month. Rent due HFI as of June, 2021 totals $6,253.79. Court costs and attorney's fees incurred by HFI exceed $2,000.00.

9. HFI sent written notice by certified mail to the Town of Springfield on April 22, 2021 of HFI's intent to commence this abandonment action as required by statute. See attached.

10. The mobile home is uninhabitable. Property Manager Thomas Young, duly authorized agent for HFI, will testify under oath as to the poor and unlivable condition of this mobile home at the abandonment hearing.

WHEREFORE, HFI respectfully requests that the Honorable Court enter an order as follows:

1. Declare that the mobile home has been abandoned;
2. Transfer the mobile home which is unfit for human habitation to HFI without a public auction so that it may be removed and disposed of accordingly.
3. Order pursuant to 10 V.S.A. § 6249(j) that the mobile home and any security deposit paid be conveyed to HFI in “as is” condition, and free from all liens and other encumbrances of record.

DATED this 15th day of June, 2021.
THE HOUSING FOUNDATION, INC.
BY: Nadine L. Scibek
Attorney for HFI

I declare that the above statement is true and accurate to the best of my knowledge and belief. I understand that if the above statement is false, I will be subject to the penalty of perjury or other sanctions in the discretion of the Court.

Pursuant to 12 V.S.A. §4953(b), the public sale may be adjourned one or more times for a total time not exceeding 30 days, without further court order, and without publication or service of a new notice of sale, by announcement of the new sale date to those present at each adjournment or by posting notice of the adjournment in a conspicuous place at the location of the sale.

TERMS OF SALE

A deposit of $10,000.00 in the form of a bank treasurer's check or certified funds will be required to be delivered at or before the time a bid is offered. The successful bidder(s) will be required to execute a purchase and sale agreement immediately after the close of the bidding. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid within thirty (30) days from the sale date in the form of a certified check, bank treasurer's check or other payment satisfactory to the Mortgagee's attorney. The subject property is being sold “as is, where is”, with all defects, patent and latent, subject to property taxes and municipal assessments, if any, which take precedence over the said mortgage above described.

Pursuant to 12 V.S.A. §4949(a), the Mortgagors are entitled to redeem the premises at any time prior to the public sale by paying the full amount due under the judgment order and such other amounts, including costs and expenses of sale, accruing postjudgment as agreed upon by the mortgagors and the mortgagee or ordered by the court.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

Dated: June 18, 2021.

Announcing the Climate Catalysts Innovation Fund grant program

REGION – The Vermont Council on Rural Development announced the launch of a new small grant program designed to support local innovators with projects that move Vermont closer to its climate and energy goals. The Climate Catalysts Innovation Fund is capitalized with $20,000 from the Vermont Low Income Trust for Electricity and VSECU. This grant program is intended to support innovative local projects for which a small grant could have a meaningful impact. Municipalities, schools, businesses, nonprofit organizations, and town energy committees are all eligible to apply. Four to 10 grant awards will be made ranging in size from $500 to a maximum of $4,000.

"Tackling climate change and preparing for its impacts means acting at every level, from the hyper-local to statewide, nationally, and internationally," noted program director Jon Copans. "Across Vermont towns, organizations, and businesses are stepping up in creative ways to confront this challenge. Our intention is for this grant to support projects that demonstrate some mix of innovation, collaboration, and replicability, while also addressing the plight of Vermonters in need."

"Since the adoption of our Environmental Mission Statement in 2006, VSECU has been actively supporting our members to reduce their energy use and save money while doing it," said Simeon Chapin, community impact officer at VSECU. "The Climate Catalysts Innovation Fund will help engaged communities across the state test ideas, learn, and share new ways to move us all further towards our individual and collective energy and climate goals."

A short grant application can be found here: <https://forms.gle/ghoD-JpMxDkEXDVs8>. The deadline to apply for this grant is July 22.

Anyone with questions about this grant and how to apply should contact Jon Copans at jon@vtrural.org or call him at 802-272-0162.

Springfield Community Players opens auditions for upcoming musical SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – The Springfield Community Players are back and in full production. We are excited to announce that we will be holding auditions for the upcoming musical performance of the “The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee.” Auditions will be scheduled for July 17, 10 a.m. – 12 p.m., and July 18, 4-6 p.m.

“The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee” is a musical comedy with music and lyrics by William Finn, a book by Rachel Sheinkin, conceived by Rebecca Feldman with additional material by Jay Reiss. The show centers on a fictional spelling bee set in a geographically ambiguous Putnam Valley Middle School. Six quirky adolescents compete in the bee, run by three equally quirky grownups.

Auditions will be held at the Springfield Community Players theater located at 165 South St. in Springfield, Vt. If you wish to audition, you must be at least 16 years of age or older and be able to sing. During auditions, you will need to provide your own material to give to the accompanist. We will also have our music available as well for those who may not be able to obtain their own. For more information, please contact the Springfield Community Players Ticket Box Office, 802-885-4098 or springfield-communityplayers@gmail.com.

“The Bookstour” documentary features Northshire Bookstore

MANCHESTER, Vt. – When a self-published author started visiting the most unique indie bookstores around the country, he intended to promote his novel on Amazon. But that didn't last long. He realized there was a priceless something the “everything store” couldn't sell. On a new cross-country roadtrip, dozens of booksellers, including the previous owner of Northshire Bookstore in Manchester, Vt., reveal what that something is: the Number 1 unexpected reason we should all shop indie. The director of the film, Mason Engel, is also its main character. “When I first started shooting interviews for this film, I was still an Amazon diehard,” said Engel, “but dozens of booksellers gave me a reason to support their stores instead, a reason I'd never heard before, a reason you probably haven't heard either.”

Engel's 2019 cross-country roadtrip took him to 50 independent bookstores in 50 days. In this most recent trip, which crossed through Vermont, he visited 30 more stores and conducted as many bookseller interviews. The resultant film will answer the question of why we should buy our books locally; follow the roadtrip story of an Amazon diehard growing to love indie bookstores; and raise money for the Book Industry Charitable Foundation.

“The Bookstour” documentary film is a 30-minute documentary from independent author and filmmaker, Mason Engel. From now until July 7, 2021, you can preorder the film at www.TheBookstourFilm.com to reserve your digital rental or attend the virtual premier. One hundred percent of the proceeds from the film will benefit the Book Industry Charitable Foundation.

Reading of “Jeeves at Sea” with The Walpole Players

WALPOLE, N.H. – Jeeves and Wooster are sailing onto the Common! The Walpole Players will be presenting a staged reading of “Jeeves at Sea” by Margaret Raether, adapted from the stories of P.G. Wodehouse, Saturday, July 10 at 5:30 p.m. on the Walpole Town Common.

Set sail for laughter as Bertie Wooster, played by Tom Durnford, revels in life aboard the Vanderley yacht. Bertie is the pampered guest of the lively and fetching Lady Stella (Jenny Plante), accompanied as always by his peerless valet, Jeeves (Mike Delaney). If only Bertie's pal Crumpet (Rebecca Saunders) hadn't assaulted a prince! In the blink of an eye, Bertie is masquerading as a romance novelist, Crumpet is posing as his own long-lost twin, and a sinister foreign Count (Gina Richardson) is challenging Bertie to a duel over the misunderstood affections of Lady Stella's companion Miss Pilbeam (Ruth Pratt). Will this madcap case of mistaken identities end in Bertie's doom – or worse, his marriage? Have no fear! Jeeves will sort it all out.

We are asking audience members to support The Walpole Players with a suggested donation for adults. Any amount is greatly appreciated and will help us keep the curtain up and lights on at the Helen Miller Theater.

Don't forget to bring your choice of outdoor seating – lawn chair, blanket, etc. For more information, please email WalpolePlayers@gmail.com, check our website www.TheWalpolePlayers.org, or call 603-756-2535.

Canal Street Art Gallery presents Vermont Summer Group Show

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Canal Street Art Gallery presents the third annual Vermont Summer Group Show, “All Mediums, All Subjects, All Art” on view now through Aug. 14. The exhibition celebrates the diversity and abundance of local art here in southern Vermont.

The Vermont Summer Group Show presents artwork from 22 artists working in 18 distinct mediums and representing at least 35 subject matters. The open call group show includes artists from Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and New York. Of these, 11 are from Canal Street Art Gallery's roster of represented artists: Jean Cannon, watercolor painting; Nancy Fitz-Rapalje, oil painting; Kim Grall, collaged encaustic sculpture; Carol Keiser, acrylic painting; Nicholas Kekic, blown glass; Marcie Maynard, monotype printing and pastel painting; Jeanne McMahan, oil painting; Lisa McNealus, acrylic painting; MC Noyes, oil painting; Phyllis Rosser, wood sculpture; and Melissa Rubin, monotype printing.

The Canal Street Art Gallery is honored to make available artwork from three returning artists, including Deedee Jones, pastel painting; Carla Liguori, textile found object and terra-cotta sculpture; and Mark Ragonese, carved wood sculpture. In addition, the gallery is pleased to introduce artwork by John Steven Gurney, oil and acrylic painting; Yvette Hendler, photography; Chung Ah Park, oil painting;

Susan Roylance, felted and found object sculpture, Nathan Shepard, oil and gouache painting; Michael Valentine, digitally augmented photography; John van der Does, ink drawing and writing; and Peter van der Does, painted sculpture.

The Canal Street Art Gallery is proud to continue sharing local art and artists and thanks all those who appreciate and support their creative neighbors. Important to the Canal Street Art Gallery's mission is the recognition of art-making as both income and expense to the artist. The selling of an artist's work can have a direct effect on their ability to afford the time and materials necessary to create more. The gallery now represents 22 local artists and there are over 400 individual pieces of artwork on our website.

The Canal Street Art Gallery, 23 Canal St. in Bellows Falls, is open by appointment Wednesday to Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, go to www.canalstreetartgallery.com, call Mike or Emmett at 802-289-0104, or email artinfo@canalstreetartgallery.com.

Independence Day in Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Vt. – The grand Brownsville Independence Day Celebration is Saturday, July 3. From 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., there will be a full schedule of activities. Brownsville Community Church will host a breakfast from 8:30-10 a.m. Also enjoy lively music, games, a bouncy house, and diverse food vendors. The arts & crafts sale and a book sale will take place inside the Town Hall. Independence Day Committee is also selling IDC t-shirts at the Town Hall.

The Gala Parade starts at 1 p.m. and will feature the Shriners Clown Unit. Parade lineup is at 12:30 p.m., and there will be a road closure from 12:30-1:30 p.m. on the Brownsville-Hartland Road with a detour via Bible Hill and Shedsville roads during this time. After the parade, youth who would like to participate in the Pledge of Allegiance at the Tribute Park sign and flag will receive a free frozen treat. The daytime activities in the village will take place rain or shine on Saturday.

In the evening, join us at Ascutney Outdoors from 6-9 p.m. to enjoy music, food vendors, family picnics (no barbecues), and spectacular fireworks at dusk. The rain date for fireworks is Monday, July 5.

In line with state Covid-19 guidance, masks are optional. However, if you are feeling under the weather, please wear a mask or stay home.

Participating organizations include West Windsor Volunteer Fire Department, the Windsor Police Department, the West Windsor Historical Society, the Mary L. Blood Library, Lucy Mackenzie Humane Society, Brownsville Community Church, Ascutney Outdoors, Mt. Ascutney Hospital, the Moonlighters Snowmobile Club, American Pie Pizza, Lazy Cow Ice Cream, and more.

We'd like to recognize the generous sponsors, including American Legion Windsor Post 25, Brownsville Butcher & Pantry, DLX Excavating, Dark Horse Realty, Doolittle's Print Serve, 4 Generations, Ennis Construction, Holiday Inn Mount Ascutney Resort, Kurtzhalt Excavation, Leland Company, Martin Delaney & Ricci Law, Mascoma Bank, Mt. Ascutney Hospital, Parris Hill Farm, Pizza Chef of Windsor, Prudent Living, Seth Warren Real Estate, Tami's Head Lines, Windsor Station Restaurant, and Windsor Wine and Spirits.

If you would like to volunteer, contact BrownsvilleIDC@gmail.com. To make a donation, please go to www.fundrazr.com/BrownsvilleIDC or mail a check made payable to "Brownsville IDC" to P.O. Box 37, Brownsville, VT 05037.

Independence Day at the Calvin Coolidge State Historic Site

PLYMOUTH, Vt. – The Coolidge Foundation is pleased to announce that Saturday, July 3 fireworks will light up the Plymouth Notch sky once again as part of a two-day celebration of American independence and the birth of our 30th president, Calvin Coolidge. Fireworks begin at 9 p.m. and are free to the public.

Coolidge is the only U.S. president born on Independence Day, and July 4 has been commemorated at his birthplace in Plymouth Notch for many decades. This year's celebration will feature a number of special events including the final rounds of the Coolidge Cup National High School Debate Tournament and the annual procession and wreath laying ceremony at the Coolidge graveside led by the Vermont National Guard. We hope you will choose to celebrate this holiday with Coolidge.

• Procession and wreath laying ceremony on Coolidge grave on the Village Green, 12 p.m.

• Semifinal Debate Rounds of the Coolidge Cup, 1 p.m.

• Calvin Coolidge Challenge Recognition, Declamation Winner Announcement and Luncheon under the big tent, 2 p.m.

• Coolidge Cup Awards Ceremony under the big tent, 4 p.m.

The public can tour 12 buildings at the Coolidge Site, which is managed by the Vermont Division for Historic Preservation. A National Historic Landmark, Plymouth Notch is considered one of the best-preserved presidential sites in the country. At the Museum & Education Center, visitors can see the permanent exhibit, "More Than Two Words: The Life and Legacy of Calvin Coolidge."

President Calvin Coolidge State Historic Site is located at 3780 Route 100A, Plymouth Notch, Vt. For further information about July 3 and 4 programs, contact John Ferrell at officeadmin@coolidgefoundation.org.

Fourth of July in Saxtons River

SAXTONS RIVER, Vt. – No parade, no fireworks, no street fair, but Saxtons River will still celebrate the Fourth of July, although not in its usual all-out way.

Citing concerns about Covid-19 and young children, plus the difficulty of raising funds to pay expenses, the Fourth committee opted for a small commemoration of Independence Day in the village's new park on Main Street.

The day begins at 8:30 a.m.

with a short group fun-run taking off from the Village Market. At 9:30 a.m., there will be a ceremony at the Saxtons River Village Park. Bradley Robinson will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner," followed by a reading of the Declaration of Independence by Jeanie Levesque. Those attending are asked to bring bells to ring to "help get freedom ringing," according to committee member Heidi Lauricella.

A special Saxtons River Fourth of July t-shirt will be for sale as long as supplies hold out. The design by Emily Wunderle features a patriotically dressed teacher at the blackboard holding class online and is a tribute to teachers, especially Saxton River Elementary teacher Jaimie Douglass. Douglass was recognized this year by the University of Vermont as an outstanding teacher.

The shirts are available before July 4 at Village Square Booksellers in Bellows Falls and will also be on sale Saturday morning, July 3 in front of the Village Market.

Those attending the event in the park are asked to bring a blanket or lawn chair. Muffins and lemonade will be available at Main Street Arts after the ceremony. In case of rain, the event will be held at 24 Main Street, formerly Christ's Church.

Further information is available on the committee's Facebook page: Saxtons River Fourth of July.

Independence Day parades, fireworks, festivities

FRIDAY, JULY 2 –

CHESTER, Vt. – On Friday, July 2, the Flea Market and Craft Fair will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The American Legion Band of Brattleboro will play an outdoor concert, starting around 7 p.m. at the Legion Field, 635 Route 103 in Chester. Fireworks will follow the concert. The American Legion will be accepting donations before the show.

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – On Friday, July 2, fireworks are back at Magic Mountain, 495 Magic Mountain Access Rd. The Hot Rubber Monkey Band plays outside from 7-11 p.m. with spectacular Londonderry Fireworks Show at 9:30 p.m. There will be a slimmed down tavern menu inside as well as grilled food available outside. No BYO beer or booze on the property.

SATURDAY, JULY 3 –

ASCUTNEY, Vt. – Fireworks will take place at dusk, Saturday, July 3 at Ascutney Outdoors, 449 Ski Tow Road. Food vendors and lively music between 6-9 p.m. Bring a picnic. No grills allowed.

CHESTER, Vt. – On Saturday, July 3, the flea market and craft fair will take place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sons of the American Legion will be making a pig roast, and other food and refreshments will be available. Starting around 10 a.m., the Legion will host a horse pull at the Legion Field.

GRAFTON, Vt. – Vermont Symphony Orchestra is back, July 3, 2021 at 4 p.m., at 225 Townshend Rd., in Grafton. Experience a rich American patchwork quilt of colors, textures, and sounds as the VSO's Woodwind Quartet takes the audience on a journey through 120 years of American music, from Tin Pan Alley to Carnegie Hall, from a bumpy bike ride with Alyssa Morris's "Motion" to the fairgrounds with Amy Beach's "Carnival." This concert is made possible by generous support from Frances Alford, Sam Battaglini, Liisa Kissel, and the Music Performance Trust Fund. Admission is free.

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – On Saturday, July 3, the Londonderry Fourth of July parade begins at 11 a.m., starting at the Town Garage. It ends at The Mountain Marketplace.

PLYMOUTH, Vt. – On July 3, fireworks will light up the Plymouth Notch sky once again.

Join us at the President Calvin Coolidge State Historic Site, 3780 Route 100A, in Plymouth. Fireworks begin at 9 p.m. and are free to the public.

SUNDAY, JULY 4 –

CLAREMONT, N.H. – The excitement will begin at Monadnock Park at 6 p.m. with many local vendors on hand selling food, drinks, and novelty items. We are excited to have American Cheese as our feature entertainment playing rock and country hits from the '50s to the '80s. All of these fun events will lead up to the spectacular fireworks show presented by McGee Toyota at 9:30 p.m. Parking spaces will be available along Broad and Pleasant streets. For more information, go to www.facebook.com/ClaremontParks.

LUDLOW, Vt. – The fireworks display will take place at Imery's on East Hill Road and will begin at dusk Sunday, July 4. The best viewing may be found on South Hill, North Hill, West Hill, and Pleasant View Cemetery. Thank you to Imery's Talc for sponsoring this year's fireworks.

MONDAY, JULY 5 –

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – On Monday, July 5, from 5-10 p.m., celebrate Independence Day with kids entertainment, food vendors, and fireworks, sponsored by Vtel, at Crown Point Country Club, 155 Golf Course Rd., in Springfield. Gates open at 5 p.m. Admission is free, but there is a charge for onsite parking – please have cash as there is no ATM. A live band will be playing all night.

2021 Sammy Pierce Memorial Scholarships

REGION - Each year, the Sammy Pierce Memorial Scholarship is offered by the Crown Point Board of Realtors and Mrs. Sam (Rita) Pierce to eligible candidates continuing their education. The scholarship was created in honor of their late cohort, Sammy Pierce, whose strong history of volunteer and charitable efforts and commitment to community, were endearing qualities he possessed and is remembered for. This year's recipients are Alexandra Hutchins and Aislynn Kelley.

Alexandra Hutchins is a graduating senior of Green Mountain Union High School. She will be starting school at Castleton University, majoring in Mathematics: Secondary Education, with the hopes of pursuing a master's degree in education. She would like to become a high school level math teacher. She will also be playing soccer for Castleton and plans to continue her volunteer service in her new community. Alexandra is the daughter of Angela and Christopher Hutchins of Springfield, Vt.

Aislynn Kelley graduated with honors from Mill River High School. One of her notable achievements was the starting of her own dog cookie treat company. She baked and packaged the treats and sold them for three years at farmers markets and donated all the profits to local shelters. Aislynn will be attending Coastal Carolina University in the fall. She will major in business management with a minor in sports management. Aislynn is the daughter of Chris and Lisa Kelley of Belmont, Vt.

If you would like to donate, please contact Helen Wachtel, Chairperson of the Sammy Pierce Memorial Scholarship Fund, at hwachtel@bratt-bank.com.

One Credit Union awards $6,000 in scholarships

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. - Brett Smith, president and CEO of One Credit Union, announced the winners of the 2021 Scholarship Awards. To qualify applicants must maintain a GPA of 3.0 or better, demonstrate financial need, and be eligible for membership at One Credit Union, as well as submit a 300-word essay explaining their experience with teamwork and community building. Each of the winners received $1,000.

Tegan LaPan

Tegan graduated from U-32 in Montpelier and plans to attend Northern Vermont University in the fall. She has championed racial equity and mental illness awareness efforts in her school.

Alexandra Hutchins

Alexandra served as Editor-In-Chief of the Green

Mountain Union High School yearbook, an experience that underscored the importance of teamwork. She plans to attend Castleton University in the fall.

Bodey Towle

Despite being a seasoned athlete, Bodey branched into theater at Colchester High School, a change that shaped his views on teamwork and community building. Bodey will be studying at Gordon College in the fall.

Matthew Jachim-Gallagher

While attending Newport, N.H. High School, Matthew got involved with North Country Community Theater, where he was elected treasurer of the Advisory Board, experiencing and contributing through many roles within his community. This fall Matt will be attending Dartmouth.

Victoria Otis

Sports and community service have helped Victoria understand how communities thrive. Whether on town cleanup days, helping at the humane society, or working at a daycare, her commitment shines through. She plans to attend University of Southern Maine in the fall.

Reagan Kayhart

Reagan will be leaving Vergennes Union High School for Worcester Polytechnic Institute in the fall. Her respect for teamwork comes from collaborating on projects and experiencing the benefit of multiple perspectives on the overall quality of the output.

"Each year, I continue to be impressed by the level of community commitment and teamwork these kids demonstrate," said Smith. "At One CU, we are proud to invest in these kids. We wish them the best in their collegiate experiences. The dividends will return to all of us!"
