Ludlow Selectboard talks West Hill cameras, adds Juneteenth holiday

BY SHARON HUNTLEY

The Vermont Journal

LUDLOW, Vt. – The Ludlow Selectboard addressed concerns over cameras at West Hill, approved an assessor contract for the Lister's office, and added the federal holiday, Juneteenth, to the list of paid holidays for town workers as part of their Monday, July 12 meeting.

During the public comment portion of the meeting, Venissa White, who runs the summer camp, "Camp Go Wild" at Ludlow's West Hill location, said that she was not informed beforehand about the security cameras that were recently put up at the West Hill location both outside and inside the building.

Although she said having security cameras when the kids and staff are not there is great, surveillance of the children is not allowed under her agreement with Vermont's Agency of Education and her childcare licensing. She said that if she had had a conversation about the cameras videotaping children, she could have made other arrangements, perhaps even moving the program. Her concern stems from cameras inside the building being able to see which students are being tutored, and that billing information could also be compromised. A main concern was also not knowing who had access to, or was monitoring, that footage.

White said she now will need to get signed permission from all parents concerning the cameras midway through her program, which ends Aug. 6.

Municipal Manager Scott Murphy countered that White found out about the cameras because he had communicated to her about them via email. He also noted that other locations that White operates out of, such as the old high school, the community center, and Ludlow Elementary School all have security cameras.

Board Chair Bruce Schmidt responded, "I'm surprised this is an issue, Venissa, for what we've done to support your program. To bring it to us like this, I'm surprised."

Justin Hyjek suggested maybe they could work out something as a compromise such as turning off the inside camera or turning on the cameras after her program was finished for the day.

Schmidt agreed to have Murphy work out a compromise with White since there were enough board members who wanted to find a solution to get through the rest of the camp season.

FEMA's final report on a Commonwealth Avenue project was received, denying their financing of the second phase, which would have replaced an existing culvert with a larger one, thus alleviating ongoing flooding issues. The project, which has been delayed over nearly 10 years, has seen cost increases that made the project cost analysis fall outside their approval parameters.

Based on the board's direction and commitment to no longer kick the project down the road, Murphy will move forward to consider options for fixing the issue as well as other funding sources.

The board agreed to approve the recommended option for hiring consultants to work with the town's Lister's Office. The $53,800 contract would hire a consultant to perform the duties of an assessor, one full day every two weeks but available by email, completing all assessing and evaluation work. Listers will still be involved, approving the grand list and handling grievances. One lister will also act as assistant with office hours.

This contract will go through July of 2022 and give the town and the lister's office time to consider other options. Schmidt expressed some interest in exploring the benefits of hiring a full-time assessor, employed by the town, in the future.

The board added Juneteenth, which is now a recognized federal holiday, as a paid holiday for town employees. Schmidt said that the cost of the added holiday, which would be approximately $1,800 for Ludlow, is not a lot of money and is a deserved benefit for the "hard workers of the town."

The board approved a revised Municipal Solid Waste Ordinance concerning junk and junked vehicles and other solid waste accumulating on town residents' properties. The new language will allow the town to clean up the property and bill the owner.

Members of the Lake Rescue Association were at the meeting to discuss adding additional speed bumps to the set recently installed on Red Bridge Road. Representatives talked about speeding issues and had obtained matching speed bumps to eliminate that cost for the town, asking only that they be put in. Any decision by the board was tabled since the subject was not officially on the agenda.

The next Ludlow Selectboard meeting is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 2 at 6 p.m. at the Ludlow Town Office.

Weston Playhouse reimagines the theater experience with "An Iliad"

BY SHARON HUNTLEY

The Vermont Journal

WESTON, Vt. – "An Iliad," starring David Bonanno in what is essentially a one-man show, combines the actor's gripping intensity, effectively simple lighting and set design, and an open-sided tent locale, for an incredibly unique and intimate theatrical experience to herald Weston Playhouse's return to live performances at their Walker Farm location.

The story of "An Iliad" is based on Homer's classic poem, joining the Trojan War nine years into the ongoing battle between the Greeks and the Trojans, highlighting the power struggle between gods, like Achilles, and the mortal rulers of Troy, particularly Hector, the prince of Troy.

In this adaptation, our Poet, played by Bonanno, also weaves in the ongoing struggle between men driven by rage throughout the centuries resulting in an unending list of warfare stretching throughout history. Our Poet himself asking the question, "When do you know when you've won?" and the viewer is left acknowledging that mankind really has learned nothing.

Any fear I might have had not knowing Homer's classic in its original form was dispelled through the detailed telling of the story, characters, and the setting.

With Actor's Equity not allowing indoor performances, Director Meredith McDonough, along with Weston Playhouse's Executive Artist Director Susanna Gellert, embraced the challenge of how to stage performances while answering to health requirements resulting from the pandemic.

Not only was Bonanno absolutely captivating in the performance, but the theatre itself, a large white tent with sides open to the air, infiltrated by the sounds of the countryside as evening approached, brought lovely layers to the performance that could never be duplicated. Bonanno's entrance also took advantage of the locale, meandering amongst the greenery outside, stopping to pick up a piece of grass or flower, before wandering in and looking around to see all of us waiting to hear his tale.

Ludlow Rotary's donation paves the way forward for Black River

LUDLOW, Vt. – Six months ago, the Expeditionary School at Black River the Pathways to Possibilities initiative, a fundraising campaign charged with raising the monies needed to operate in 2021-22. A recent donation from Ludlow's Rotary of $2,500 to Black River helped the school obtain its goal of $150,000. The local Rotary's commitment to strengthen their community provides many more students with opportunities to learn how to "serve to change lives" – their logo's tagline, which synergizes nicely with what we are aiming to achieve here at Black River.

Likewise, Rotary International's mission, as published on their website, states that it is "where neighbors, friends, and problem solvers share ideas, join leaders, and take action to create lasting change." A statement that embodies what continues to motivate Black River's founding Board of Trustees. By forging mutually beneficial partnerships with the local businesses, our vision for economic vitality begins with aligning our courses to relevant and career-ready learning opportunities.

Prior to making this donation, incoming President Art Randolph, who is also the Vice President of People's United Ludlow Branch, has been teaching financial literacy to every student enrolled in our school. Financial literacy is a requirement for graduation, and each year a student is enrolled here they will be expected to demonstrate proficiency in banking basics, personal wealth management, and budgeting essentials.

The financial literacy curriculum is the FDIC Money Smart Program, which aligns to education standards and learning outcomes, including Common Core State Standards and National Financial Literacy Standards. When it is taught by industry professionals like Art, students gain knowledge in personal finance and confidence in money management skills that helps build a strong foundation that leads to healthy financial behaviors.

Thanks to Ludlow Rotary's donation, Black River's leadership team is now also talking with Ludlow Insurance Agency about how to infuse lessons about the insurance industry's content into our coursework. From the onset, our Board of Trustees mobilized with the intent of redesigning the relationship between the local school, the business community, and taxpayers in general.

As we enter into our second year, Habits of Work will continue to be the centerpiece of how we communicate a learner's progress toward proficient career-ready skills. While we are equally committed to instilling the foundational academic knowledge needed to advance one's career, the critical thinking and problem-solving skills expected of today's workforce are essential features of our assessment design. This is because we recognize that success starts with teaching students to be accountable for their own learning. Work ethic and respect for others are key aspects of our school's expectations for student conduct each and every day.

Thank you, Ludlow Rotary, very much for underscoring this community's commitment to our mission. We look forward to working with you to create a quality of life that invites everyone to be able to feel and benefit from these positive changes.

Okemo Valley TV 2021 Producer Awards

LUDLOW, Vt. – Okemo Valley TV, the community TV station and media center serving the Black River Valley and Okemo region, has announced the winners of its annual Producer Awards. The awards are given to community members and volunteers who have been active in producing programming over the past year. The four annual awards are for Producer of the Year, Youth Producer of the Year, Community Service, and Outstanding Achievement.

Producer of the Year goes to Norm Merrill for the coverage of basketball at Green Mountain Union High School, including all boys' and girls' home games.

He is a Green Mountain teacher and parent of a GMUHS senior basketball player who recently graduated. We teamed up with Norm to provide live streaming and broadcasting of the games. It was a remarkable season for sure; not only were spectators not allowed due to Covid-19 – thereby increasing the value of the video coverage – but the boys' team won the state championship!

Best Youth Programming: The youth programming producer of the year goes to Kata Welch from Cavendish Fletcher Community Library for her series of Story Time readings from popular children's books. Far and away, it's the steadiest stream of children's programming we've ever had; and with her dynamic personality and energy, Kata makes Story Time fun for all ages!

Outstanding Achievement was awarded to Wendy Regier for "The People Speak," a community reading of the U.S. Constitution. Prior to the pandemic shutting down in-person gatherings, Wendy coordinated and produced this community-wide project, which took place in our studio. The finished product is the complete Constitution, strung from above, directed the audiences’ attention. Several “moos” from local cows and the mowing of nearby fields all added, rather than detracted, from the play. Audience members were all separated into small pods around the tent, with a total audience size of approximately 75 or so, which added to the intimacy of the evening.

In addition to Bonanno, there were nine Muses who arrived to play piano and sing a few lines here and there, coming in and out, to highlight the story; but it’s really Bonanno’s gift that keeps the audience riveted until the very end.

“An Iliad” performances run from July 14 to Aug. 7.

Allie Hawkes

Allie Hawkes was born in Chester in 1884, living 'til 1970. Allie had been Chester town manager. Thankfully, he recorded some of his early Chester memories.

In 1987 Martha Bessey made notes in the margins of Allie's typewritten histories. Martha's notes made it possible for me to identify many of the places Allie writes of.

North Main Street
"Beginning at the north end of Main St., in front of the Zela Edson place they had Country Fairs and horse racing." Today, Roseann Sexton lives here.

"Coming down to where Mr. Gardener's people now live was the so called No. 6 school district where we all went to school from Church St." Today, this location is two places beyond Baba Louis'.

"Allen's garage looks about the same and at that time was a paint shop run by Mr. Bowles." This today is Knockout Carpet.

Main Street
"Years ago there were just two or three telephones in Chester. The central phone was located at Pierce's drug store where Pember Hazen is now located." This was Chester Drug Store next to the Masonic Lodge.

"Coming back on Main St. in back of the Baptist Church was another blacksmith shop run by Ethan Hall. The H.F. Crocker house has been built," now Sarah Vail's, "also the Pollard place in which Miss Pollard still lives." This is the Charthouse next to the library. Both places were built in 1900. "The Whiting Library is kept by our librarian Miss Pollard."

"A large hotel and boarding house stood where the First National Store now is," today Bargain Corner. "The Hugh Henry Law Office has been used a good many years, by the late Hugh H. Henry. It was through him that in 1897 President William McKinley and Mrs. McKinley visited our town."

"Dr. Griffith's place has always been occupied by a doctor, first by Dr. Emerson and then Dr. Ray." This is the brick house next to the entrance to the elementary school.

Grafton Street
"Coming to Grafton St. there has not been many changes. The Bargfrede and Underhill houses are new. There is an old landmark which was one of the busiest places in Chester, the Old Cider and Grist Mill. People came from far and near to get their corn and oats ground. This was run by water power and later by steam. W.L. Ware owned and operated this mill." It burned in the 1920s. It was located in the triangular corner at the intersection of Waldo and River streets.

"Back to the corner of Grafton and Main Streets is the old brick building," across Grafton Street from Chester Hardware, "used for a Baptist Parsonage for a great many years. About 1900 the house below that was built which was used as a parsonage until recently."

"Across the street where the Cray garage is located stood a building used as a shoe shop," this was the Chester Boot Company. "They employed quite a number of men and women. Later the building was bought by Deacon Guild and was made into a grocery store and residence." Today, this is the site of the old Jiffy Mart. Next spring Smitty's will open their ice cream place here.

Cobleigh Street
"On Cobleigh St. where Warren Heald now lives was the old family doctor, Dr. Gibson whom everyone admired." This is where Rick Bates lived. "At the end of Cobleigh was a mill pond and wood working shop owned by Mr. Cobleigh. There was another blacksmith shop at the end of the street owned by Mr. Ed Batchelder."

School Street
"In the brick building on the corner of School St.," now Vintage Vermont, "was a tin shop and stoves were bought and sold. Mr. Hadley owned this. Where the Goldthwaite home now stands was a saw mill run by Lovejoy & Sons." The Goldthwaite place is at the corner of School and Canal streets and was a tearoom in recent years. Canal Street used to be Lovejoy Avenue.

"When I was a boy there was of course no sidewalks, electric lights, or any city water. The sidewalks were put in about 47 years ago most which are still in use today. About 1899 the water was put in. The street lights were put in by a Stock Co. of which E.J. Davis the lead. The power was first developed at the old power mill at Factoryville of which part is still standing." Factoryville is where our new emergency services building is being built.

This week's old saying: "He's always trying to convince people he's as important as he thinks he is."

Vermont Everyone Eats funding extended

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – Vermont Everyone Eats, the innovative Covid-19 response program that provides meal assistance to Vermonters in need while supporting local restaurants, farmers, and food producers, has received an extension to continue programming. Program managers had previously anticipated that the program would end June 30, but the state has extended the program contract recognizing that many Vermonters continue to face exacerbated food insecurity due to the Covid-19 economic crisis. The program is now expected to continue through September, contingent on the need and available funding.

Even as Vermont celebrates its high vaccination rate and the lifting of state pandemic restrictions, residents and local businesses continue to face pandemic-related crises. Many Vermonters are navigating the confusing maze of shifting conditions and resources like the ending of the eviction moratorium, changing housing assistance, reduced unemployment benefits, SNAP eligibility, and school meals programs. To help families, restaurants, and farmers continue to cope with the lingering impacts of Covid-19, Everyone Eats has been extended to keep providing its meals to everyone experiencing food insecurity and income for struggling restaurants and farmers due to still-turbulent economic conditions.

Steve Geller, executive director of SEVCA, VEE's administering agency, spoke for everyone who made the program possible, when he said, "SEVCA, the VEE staff, the statewide Task Force, and the regional 'community hubs' that have delivered the meals, are all relieved and delighted that we now have three more months to provide this incredible benefit to so many Vermonters. Despite the positive news about the reduced Covid risk and our growing economy, the negative effects of this crisis are still impacting many individuals and businesses in our state, and this will give them the additional resources and time they need to recover."

The program is anticipated to ramp down, with the volume of meals decreasing over the next few months as, hopefully, community food security stabilizes. Meals are still available in all 14 Vermont counties through a variety of distribution channels. For more information about the program or how to receive a meal, please visit www.vteveryoneeats.org.

Celebration and service for Delores Barbeau

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – We are deeply saddened by the recent passing of our beloved friend, Dr. Delores Barbeau. Delores, along with Gloria Dawson, Carol Olstad, and Carol Robbshaw, founded Neighborhood Connections in 2009 to provide social services to the residents of the mountain towns of southern Vermont.

Services and a community-wide celebration of Delores' life will take place on the grounds of The Weston Priory located at 58 Priory Hill Rd., in Weston Aug. 13 and 14. Anyone and everyone whose lives have been touched by Delores are welcome to attend. Throughout both days, Neighborhood Connections will host a celebration of her life through photos and video in the Priory Visitor Center.

The schedule of events is as follows. On Friday, Aug. 13 at 5:15 p.m., there will be Eucharist at the Weston Priory Barn Chapel. On Saturday, Aug. 14 at 10:30 a.m., there will be a procession from the Weston Barn Chapel to the Priory Cemetery for internment. A Testimonial Service immediately follows internment in the Barn Chapel. All are then invited to a shared meal.

Committees are being formed to assist in planning the event. Please sign up for one of the committees: food coordination, drinks and ice, tables and chairs, tablecloths and silverware, musicians, cleanup, or housing for out-of-town friends. Email your choice to heidroot51@gmail.com.

Author offers hope and action for wellbeing

REGION – "It is the rare person who has never dealt with physical or mental illness," says Betsy Thomason, retired respiratory therapist and author of "Just Breathe Out – Using Your Breath to Create a New, Healthier You." "This applies to me, too. I've been bitten at least twice in the last 30 years by ticks carrying the Lyme bacteria. Consequently, I have no cartilage in my left hip, one of the late-stage results of a tick bite," she says.

Thomason credits the BreatheOutDynamic system – the topic of the how to breathe guidebook – with her ability to cross-country ski, snowshoe, hike, and paddle with little or no pain. "Each morning I wake committed to stretching and caring for my body. BODs supports this dedication. It's the drug-free way to remain functional."

In addition, Thomason says she consults a holistic nutritionist who is guiding her in the process of eliminating the Lyme bug altogether – a long-term project.

Currently, Thomason is sharing her outreach knowledge with people who have been diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis – ALS or Lou Gehrig's disease. As a member of Healing ALS, www.healingals.org, she coaches folks from all over the world to focus on their own outreach to provide strength and relaxation as well as help to manage anxiety, fear, pain, and stress. For over a decade, Thomason was the staff respiratory therapist at the ALS Association's New York City clinic. Every patient had the opportunity to learn the BODs basics.

Now retired and living in Vermont, Thomason continues to share this powerful outreach knowledge. In addition, she engages people of all ages at schools and libraries.

David E. Files, 1944-2021

HARTLAND, Vt. – The ever-busy hands of David Earl Files, 76, of Hartland, Vt., were suddenly stilled July 14, 2021. David was born Sept. 10, 1944, and grew up in Windsor, Vt. He graduated from Windsor High School in 1962, and joined the U.S. Navy. After service, he returned to Windsor where he married Sheilla Callahan, June 12, 1966.

Dave had a varied career; working at Cone Automatic Machine Company, and then for himself as a contractor, real estate agent, and as a landlord. He maintained all his properties and had experience as a builder, a licensed electrician, and a plumber. He worked for many years as an insurance salesman for Bankers’ Life and was once recognized as the top salesperson in the U.S. for that quarter. Dave was an avid collector of real estate, constantly improving properties he owned in Hartland, Windsor, Brownsville, Newark, and Morgan, Vt. and in Chiefland, Fla.

Dave had the gift of gab and could talk knowledgeably about many subjects. He loved fishing, nature, and the outdoors. Dave loved to go to auctions and to dicker over prices. He will be remembered for his sense of humor and the twinkle of fun in his blue eyes, but more importantly than what he did, he will be remembered for the people that he helped along the way. Dave made it a point to help others in the community who were less fortunate. As a mentor to many, BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Together for 32 years, David Michael Koske and Rosemarie Ann Koske (LeHenry), of Bellows Falls, departed this world together Saturday, July 3, 2021. Rose and Dave shared a love of music. David was always entertaining with his guitar and singing the likes of Neil Young with his heartfelt voice and his Rosie by his side.

If you were lucky enough to join them around the kitchen table to the melodies of “Shanty,” “Southern Man,” or “Motorcycle Mama,” you were one of the lucky ones. They were always opening their home and providing a seat at the kitchen table.

As much as they loved music, their greatest love was reserved for their children, Brian LeHenry, Kyla Koske, Stephanie Koske, and Tyler Koske, all residing in Vermont. They also leave behind their cherished grandchildren, Bodhi Koske and Jasper DeCell.

Their memories will live on forever in our hearts.

Delores A. Barbeau, 1943–2021

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – Justice will go before you; light will be behind and all through.

After a lifetime of service, Delores Anne Barbeau entered her rest Friday, July 9, 2021 at the age of 78. Born April 18, 1943 in Lynn, Mass., to Hazel Delia Lloyd (1917–1970) and Raymond Arthur Barbeau (1914–1990), Delores grew up in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., along with her two brothers.

From an early age, Delores knew she would devote herself to helping others. Immediately after high school, she joined the Maryknoll Sisters in Ossining, N.Y. After receiving her B.A. from the University of New York at Maryknoll, she briefly taught in the Lower East Side before moving to Bolivia, where she studied and received her medical degree at Universidad de San Simon and surgical residency at Elizabeth Seton Hospital in Cochabamba.

For 25 years, Delores practiced medicine in Bolivia and Nicaragua, building community and friendships wherever she went. These years, in her own words, “changed my life forever”: she saw the world through new eyes and walked in different shoes. She learned to dance, to love, and live the gospel in solidarity with others. It was in Bolivia, too, that Delores met her life partner, Carol M. Olstad (1942–2011), a registered nurse from Alberta, Canada.

Delores completed additional studies in medicine at Wayne State University Family Practice Residency Program and the University of Massachusetts, Fitchburg Family Practice Residency Program. She also served as a clinical faculty member at Harvard Medical College in Boston and the University of Massachusetts Family Practice Residency in Fitchburg, Mass.

In Vermont, where she made her home in the final decades of her life, Delores continued to advocate for the vulnerable and treated patients in the Springfield Health Center and Rutland Free Clinic. In 2009, along with Gloria Dawson, she cofounded Neighborhood Connections, a community-based health and human services organization in Londonderry. In 2014, the Vermont Chapter of the American Academy of Family Physicians distinguished her as Physician of the Year. Her close association with Weston Priory, a Benedictine religious community, gave her strength and opportunities for contemplation amidst so many rigorous professional commitments.

The impact of Delores Barbeau’s life is incalculable. All who knew her were struck by her depth of insight, love for community, and dedication to the most vulnerable. She is survived by a brother David L. Barbeau with his wife Rita in North Carolina, as well as a large extended family. Delores’s 12 cousins in the Kennett family related to her as a much-loved sibling, and her two nephews and their children admired her passion for life. Delores’ many friends in New England and around the world, including the Maryknoll sisters in New York, are too numerous to count. All our lives are forever imprinted with her memory.

All are invited to a Eucharistic celebration Friday, Aug. 13 at 5:15 p.m., as well as a graveside service and celebration of her life Saturday, Aug. 14 at 10:30 a.m., at the Priory in Weston. Pictures and slides, organized by Neighborhood Connections in Londonderry, will also be shared at the Visitor Center at that time. She would have welcomed any contributions made in thankfulness for her life to “The Delores Fund” at Neighborhood Connections, P.O. Box 207, Londonderry, VT 05148.

Tom was a self-employed carpenter in Ludlow and the surrounding areas for many years. He was well known for the quality of his work, but also the hard work and love he put into it.

Those who know Tom can agree that despite his usual gruff demeanor, he was the most hardworking, selfless, and caring man.

Vermont Fish & Wildlife to discuss moose

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – Nick Fortin, a wildlife biologist with the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department, will be at Neighborhood Connections Tuesday, July 27 at 4 p.m. to discuss the history and current status of moose in Vermont. In recent years, moose numbers have declined across the Northeast as herds are increasingly under stress from climate change. Wildlife biologists are concerned that the shorter winters are allowing winter tick numbers to increase – causing higher mortality rates. Nick will address these concerns and discuss other challenges moose are facing. This presentation is offered free of charge, but space is limited, so please call 802-824-4343 to register. Neighborhood Connections is a nonprofit social services agency located in Londonderry's Mountain Marketplace, next to the Post Office.

MONTPELIER, Vt. – Vermont Fish & Wildlife is offering shooting range improvement grants to encourage upgrades of shooting ranges for enhanced safety and operation. The Shooting Range Improvement Grant Program seeks grant applications from clubs and government agencies involved in the operation of shooting ranges, including archery ranges. Grant applications must be received by 4:30 p.m., Oct. 29.

Eligible projects include shooting range redevelopment, noise abatement structures, safety berms, shooting pads and stations, and the construction or improvement of access roads and parking lots. Grant money may also be used for lead mitigation, such as recycling, reducing range floor surface drainage, or liming range property. This year, $80,000 in grant funds will be available. These funds are derived through the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service Wildlife Restoration Program, which is based on federal excise taxes on hunting and shooting equipment. Ranges that receive these grants must provide at least 20 hours of public use per month when in operation and be open at reasonable times for hunter education courses. For further information or to download an application packet, visit the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department website at www.vtfishandwildlife.com. Rick Davis continues Cavendish concert series —

CAVENDISH, Vt. – The town of Cavendish will continue its summer music series with a concert by Rick Davis and Friends on the Svec Memorial Green in Proctorsville, Wednesday, July 28 at 6 p.m.

Rick Davis has been a staple of the Vermont ski scene on his own and with the Davis Brothers Garage Band, since the 1970s. The band is famous for covers of Stevie Wonder, Steely Dan, and the Doobie Brothers, among others.

The Cavendish Community and Conservation Association will again coordinate the series. All concerts are free and open to the public, so grab your lawn chair, a picnic and a cold drink, and join your friends and neighbors to enjoy plenty of rollicking good music from the gazebo. Murdock's Restaurant and Outer Limits Brewery will each be serving food and drink, either eat in or take out. Please support your local businesses.

Wearing masks at the concert and physical distancing are only required for those who are not vaccinated. The green is large and the band will be loud enough to be heard throughout, so please spread out and maintain distancing.

The summer concert series has a long history in Proctorsville and many area residents reserve Wednesday evenings to listen to the live music. As always, the concerts will be held unless severe weather threatens. In case of rain, alternative plans will be announced on the Cavendish Facebook page. If you would like to help, we would like to hear from you. Call Robin at 802-226-7736 to volunteer or for more information on the concerts.

A discussion of the novel, “Ecological Memory”

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Join the Springfield Town Library and author Caroline Ailanthus online Tuesday, Aug. 3 at 6 p.m. for a discussion of the novel, “Ecological Memory,” a tale about what happens after you lose everything.

In the summer of 2019, Ailanthus published a novel about a scientist in the aftermath of a catastrophic pandemic. Less than six months later, life began to imitate art. Join us for an online reading from the novel, “Ecological Memory.” We’ll discuss the fictional pandemic and explore the potential of ecology as a source of perspective and hope in the face of loss.

“Ecological Memory” is set 20 years after a catastrophic global pandemic. The story explores how the characters, society, and the planet find ways to heal. It’s a book about what happens after you lose everything.

Caroline Ailanthus is primarily a science writer; even her fiction blends science and story, and she is also the author of the Climate in an Emergency blog. “Ecological Memory” is her second published novel. She grew up in Delaware and attended various small, odd schools, mostly in New England, earning a B.A. in Environmental Leadership and an M.S. in Environmental Studies. She lives in Maryland with her husband and assorted animals.

This event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact Tracey at 802-885-3108 or stlvtprograms@gmail.com. To register, go to www.eventbrite.com/e/a-discussion-of-the-novel-ecological-memory-tickets-156536594167.

Dave Keller and band return to Chester Music Series

CHESTER, Vt. – On Thursday, July 22, 2021, from 6:30-8 p.m., Chester’s Summer Music Series welcomes back Dave Keller and his band.

Dave Keller is an award-winning, triple-threat: an outstanding singer, an intense guitarist, and a talented songwriter. Fueled by his love of deep Southern soul and blues music, his performances ring out with passion, integrity, and an ability to break down the barriers between performer and audience.

Based in Montpelier, Vt., Dave Keller’s reputation for dynamic, soul-stirring performances extends throughout New England. With over 1,000 shows to his credit, Dave Keller is a singer and guitarist who has forged a style uniquely his own – intense and soulful, gritty and sweet. Like the best blues and soul men before him, Keller learned his art firsthand from the masters: Mighty Sam McClain, Paul Rishell, Fontella Bass, and the late, great Robert Ward. Most recently, Keller was featured as singer and co-writer on “Living in the Light,” the new CD by legendary guitarist Ronnie Earl. He has earned glowing reviews in Blues Review, Vintage Guitar, Big City Rhythm & Blues and many other print and online publications. It’s clear that Dave Keller is indeed a leading voice in carrying soul music forward, helping to create the next generation of fans.

Bring your blankets and lawn chairs and be prepared to sit back and listen to some great music on a summer night right in downtown Chester.

In case of rain, the concert venue is the Chester American Legion Hall, Route 11, Chester. All concerts are free and for all ages. For more information, call Bill Dakin at 802-875-4000.

Ice cream social and concert at the Athens Brick Meetinghouse

ATHENS, Vt. – The Athens Brick Meetinghouse Committee in conjunction with the Athens Historic Preservation Society is hosting an ice cream social and a concert featuring Bard Owl Sunday, Aug. 8 at the 1817 Brick Meetinghouse in Athens, Vt.

Doors will open at 4:30 p.m. with an ice cream sundae “buf-fet bar” set up on the lawn. Concertgoers are invited to bring a picnic dinner to enjoy on the Meetinghouse Common prior to the concert.

Society to further our efforts to preserve Meetinghouse.

The Athens Brick Meetinghouse is historically significant to the Windham County region of Vermont, and particularly the 12 surrounding towns, which comprised the “Old Athens Circuit” – Grafton, Rockingham, Townshend, Londonderry, Weston, Chester, Acton, Springfield, Landgrove, Windham, Putney, and Mount Holly.

Circuit preachers from Athens traveled out to these towns to perform religious services. Quarterly camp meetings with congregants from these towns often lasted two days at this “Mother Church.”

For more information, contact Sherry Maher at 802-869-2141 or email athensmeetinghouse1817@gmail.com, or follow Athens Meetinghouse on Facebook.

through Sept. 4. Pickup date is Sept. 4, from 2-6 p.m.

Artists must provide paperwork with artist’s name, email, phone number, address, and complete list of works, prepared as noted. All art must contain information on the back including artist’s name, phone number, title, medium, description of that work, and price.

Art must be hangable and ready to install and sell; please do not submit otherwise. No pieces larger than 36 inches in any direction and artists may submit 2-3 pieces.

Artists are welcomed and encouraged to volunteer for any of the days we are open. It is a great value added to, as well as appreciated by, the community and all those who visit.
