Bellows Falls Central School alumna free book program

BY BILL LOCKWOOD

The Shopper

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – On May 14, Bellows Falls Central School alumna Ella Cademartori brought a reading program called Free to Read Every Day to the fourth grade at the school. It is a program her aunt created and ran for about 20 years in Arizona. The program provides students with a bag of seven free books, a book a day for a week.

Cademartori says she was a little apprehensive of their response “with so much technology these days.” She appeared in Ms. Kamel’s fourth grade classroom with 233 donated books packed in 33 bags that had been decorated by student volunteers at Vermont Academy, another school of which Cademartori is an alumna. She gave out the books and found the “kids seemed responsive.”

She says they were really happy they could keep the books, and just like on baseball trading card day they were soon trading books, one wanting biographies, another graphic novels. Cademartori says she picked the fourth grade as the students are at a good age where they know what they like.

Cademartori herself is passionate about reading. Growing up in Bellows Falls, she volunteered at the Rockingham Free Public Library and knows well longtime children’s librarian Sam Maskell. Cademartori now lives in Antrim, N.H. and has recently started working at libraries in Dublin and Fitzwilliam, N.H. She has a versatile academic resume, having a degree in art history and anthropology and a graduate degree in media.

Cademartori says her great aunt, Glenna Phelps, inspired her to replicate the program in her old hometown. Phelps, who taught kindergarten through sixth grade, came up with the book a day for a week program from a desire to help lower income children in her district. Phelps was able to get all the books donated from various sources, expanding the program to give away around 30,000 books one year in at least 20 years of the program. Cademartori contacted Phelps’ son Craig who sent her detailed information on the program and its history as well as granting permission for her to replicate it here. The history included records of events where children would trade books and also dress up as characters they had read about.

Being furloughed from a cooking job due to the pandemic, Cademartori began working on her project in earnest. She says she started looking around and found the Bellows Falls Rotary willing to be her fiscal agent. She then used a GoFundMe page to finance book purchases and received other books donated from family and friends. Based on the success of the program at Central School this year, Cademartori plans to do it again with the fourth grade at Central School next spring and

Bellows Falls looks to restore pump house

BY JOE MILLIKEN

The Shopper

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – The Bellows Falls Village Trustees recently announced a project to restore the original “pump house” and “gatehouse” located at Minard’s Pond in Rockingham. The pump house originally sat on a foundation in the pond, but was moved to a new location on the side of the pond nearly a decade ago when the village of Bellows Falls upgraded their water system, which made the old pump house obsolete.

After being neglected for years and needing thousands of dollars in repairs, it was originally promised by the Village Trustees – when the structure was moved – that the pump house would eventually be restored. However, because the structure was moved from its original foundation, it is not eligible to receive any state or federal historical grants.

Funded by a grant from the Preservation Trust of Vermont, a restoration evaluation was done three years ago by the Keefe and Wesner architectural firm based in North Bennington and specializing in historical structures. The evaluation revealed that the priorities to restore the structure included a new roof and other repairs.

The small, square building measures 14-by-13 feet, is a braced timber-framed structure with a pyramid-style roof. Originally, the pump and gatehouse were positioned at an estimated 20-foot deck leading out into the pond. However, the pump house became obsolete when, in 2012, the water system was revamped and began using an electronic system.

Although the pump house building is currently not open to the public, it has the potential to be an interesting landmark for the public because of its historical significance to the town. Minard’s Pond is a popular and scenic destination for the local community, as many people like to engage in activities in the area such as walking and fishing.

The history of the town’s water system began when the Bellows Falls Aqueduct Company was incorporated in 1821 for the purpose of supplying the town of Bellows Falls with water and the following year, built a water system using freestone pipe. Eventually the freestone piping was replaced with lead pipe. Subsequently, the Bellows Falls Water Company was established in 1834, then incorporated in 1849 for the purposes of supplying the village of Bellows Falls with pure water for domestic use. The village of Bellows Falls ultimately purchased the water company in 1872.

Years later, Minard’s Pond, which is located one-and-a-half miles outside of Bellows Falls, was established as the town’s water source in the late-1940s, and a dam was built in the mid-1960s as to expand the pond’s capacity, which spans some 40-plus acres.

Rockingham Meeting House preservation receives community grant award

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Rockingham Meeting House Capital Reserve Fund received a $1,000 gift from Greater Falls Insurance Agency and Co-operative Insurance Companies in May.

The gift, awarded as part of Co-op’s Community Grants program, will be used to support conservation of the Rockingham Meeting House, a National Historic Landmark. The Meeting House is curated by the town of Rockingham through its Historic Preservation Commission. “We think the town’s commitment to preserving the Meeting House is great,” said Bridget Kelly, owner and agent of Greater Falls Insurance Agency. “We’re proud to support the commission’s efforts.”

“Every year, people from all over the world come to Vermont to visit our town’s Meeting House,” said Rosemarri Roth, senior meeting-house museum docent. “The frame was raised in 1787, making it the oldest public building in its original form still standing in Vermont, telling a story of who we were.”

Cooperative Insurance Companies’ Community Grants Program was established in 2004 to assist with community projects across Vermont and New Hampshire. Through the program, Co-op partners with its agents and directors to provide funds for capital campaigns and operational support throughout the two states.

“Groups like the Rockingham Historic Preservation Commission are meeting the needs in the same communities that Co-op serves,” said Randy Roy, Co-op’s senior vice president of marketing. “We think it’s important to do our part as neighbors to help them out, and this grant program is one more way we can do that.”

The Rockingham Meeting House Capital Reserve Fund was created at 2017 town meeting. The purpose is to provide funding for large-scale conservation and restoration projects to preserve the meetinghouse for future generations. Donations from the public help build the fund.

Rockingham Recycling Center requires access stickers

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – The Rockingham Recycling Center reminds residents and non-residents that access stickers are required to enter the center on Route 5, south of Bellows Falls. Access stickers for 2021 are available as of May 10, 2021 and can be obtained at the Rockingham Town Clerk’s Office and at the Recycling Center cashier building.

Rockingham residents and non-resident property owners who pay taxes in Rockingham are entitled to two access stickers free of charge. Additional access stickers will be available for purchase. Replacement stickers required because of vehicle accident or windshield replacement can be obtained at no cost with proof of loss required. Proof of residency will be required when obtaining stickers. Each vehicle must have an access sticker displayed on the front vehicle windshield. If a sticker is not displayed, you will be asked to obtain a sticker before using the facility.

The access stickers are required to access the facility even if one is leaving food scraps or recyclables. The only exception to this is for those who are leaving electronic recycling items. The Exchange building was closed because of Covid and continues to be closed until further notice.

The operating costs for the center are funded by the town of Rockingham and its taxpayers. Peter Golec of the Selectboard noted it was not unreasonable for Rockingham to assess an access sticker fee for users from other towns to help pay for running the facility, as is the practice at other town’s facilities.

Golec reminds all users that even if you have an access sticker displayed, you must pay for disposal of household trash, appliances, and other items. There is no charge for items that go into the recycle container. If you have more than five bags of trash for disposal, you may be asked to weigh on the scales.

Construction and demolition debris will be weighed on the scale. We strongly encourage the use of trash tickets for trash disposal. Cash is not accepted at the trash compactor. Only Rockingham trash tickets may be used to dispose of trash, and these can be purchased at the cashier’s building or the Rockingham Town Clerk’s office. Trash compactor attendants do not have change and will not accept cash. Cash is accepted at the cashier’s building.

Price increases have been discussed and may be increased necessitated by increases in disposal costs. Food scraps separation from regular household trash is mandatory as of July 1. We are currently not charging a fee for disposal at the recycling facility as separation was not mandatory prior to July 1, 2020. A fee may be charged if we see a significant increase in users disposing of food scraps at the facility. We are currently experiencing cost increases in disposal of tires and refrigerant chemicals. If price increases are needed, a further press release will be issued stating the new prices.

The center is in the process of installing directional signs for the compactors, traffic control, parking, and the access sticker requirement. If you do not know where or what can be disposed of at the facility, one of the helpful employees will be able to assist you.

School days

I paid Ted Spaulding a visit this past Saturday, May 29. It's not uncommon for one of us to mention a person or event from the past that gets the other to thinking. I'll say to Ted, "Do you remember so-and-so doing such and such?"

Ted thinks a bit and says, "Yes, you're right." Sometimes I get Ted to recalling things he hasn't thought of in 80 years. Occasionally, Ted learns something from me.

This past Saturday, I was telling Ted about teachers I had in elementary school. My two all-time favorite teachers were Miss Pickard and Mr. Fish. Both were sixth grade teachers at Chester Elementary School.

Miss Pickard
I asked Ted if he knew Miss Pickard. "Yes, she lived in Cavendish."

Miss Pickard recognized my love of the natural world and encouraged me to pursue my interests. Miss Pickard knew I liked snakes. One time she knew of someone who had a python they wanted rid of. She asked if I wanted it.

"Yes! But my mother will have something to say about it." Well, June wanted no part of a python living in our house.

Another time Miss Pickard, knowing I liked flowers, gave me some poppy plants. I planted them out back of the house. "Look at my poppies!" I said to my mother when they bloomed. Well, Arnold mowed over them and that was that.

That fall Miss Pickard asked me if I could get her some acorns. She wanted to plant some oak trees on her property in Cavendish. I knew where to find acorns and soon filled a three-gallon milk pail for her. Those trees would be large today.

Mr. Fish
Mr. Fish taught history and geography. I credit him for developing my interest in history. We were studying World War II at the time. We had a pull down wall map of the world on the wall. I remember Mr. Fish pointing to Japan on the map. I said to Mr. Fish, "That little island caused us so many problems in World War II?"

Looking at the world map and comparing Japan to the size of America to a 12 year old seemed unimaginable.

Mr. Fish asked me to stay after class. He gave me a history book to read about Japan in World War II. I took to it well. Sometimes I stayed after class to discuss what I was learning and why it was important.

One day Mr. Fish had a question for us. He had an immediate family member who somehow became disabled. I don't remember now who or how. Anyway, Mr. Fish asked us kids if we had any suggestions for what a disabled person might do to keep busy with his hands. At this time my mother, June, was braiding rugs to sell. June used what were known as braid-aids for making braids.

Braid-aids were a metal thing-amajig. You used three at a time. One strip of wool passed through each braid-aid. These braid-aids neatly folded the edges of each strip of wool so that you ended up with a braided rug that was reversible. Reversible rugs were something rug braiders had strived for forever. My mother gave me braid-aids to give Mr. Fish. I don't remember now how it worked out.

Larry Howe
Larry was a friend and classmate of mine. Larry was a bright kid but couldn't spell worth a hill of beans. Larry would often ask the teacher how to spell a word. One day, Larry asked Mr. Fish how to spell a word. Mr. Fish spelled "D-i-c-t-i-o-n-a-r-y," as Larry wrote down each letter. Larry looked up when he realized what he had just written and grinned in his boyish smile. Larry lives in California today.

Mr. Naylor
Some will remember Mr. Naylor, our high school English teacher. English was my worst subject. I remember having to listen to Simon & Garfunkel's, "I am a Rock, I am an Island" in Naylor's class. We listened to this song attempting to interpret its meaning in 1968-1969. Poetry never made sense to me. Of all the English teachers I had, Naylor is the only one I remember today. History teachers including Mr. Collins I do remember.

The photo with this article was taken at my place about 12 years ago. Dooley Merrick, Bud Nadeau, Steve Bowler, and I got together for a barbecue. We were all elementary school kids together. Dooley lives out Seattle way and Steve lives in Montana. It was a great reunion.

Rockingham Meeting House Graveyard art and memory –

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – Historian William Hosley will present "Where Art and History Meet – Rockingham Meeting House Burying Ground" Wednesday, June 9, from 7-8 p.m. This is the fourth in a series of talks sponsored by the Rockingham Historic Preservation Commission in partnership with the Rockingham Free Public Library. The free lecture will be via Zoom.

Part of the Rockingham Meeting House National Historic Landmark, the graveyard has burials going back to the time of the American Revolution and includes the original town tomb. Many of the older headstones were crafted by the Moses Wright family of stone carvers who settled on farms to the north of Rockingham village in the 1790s. Migrating north along the Connecticut River Valley, the Wright family brought with them older Puritan style headstone motifs but with variation that led Hosley and other scholars to identify a distinctive Rockingham School, the last phase of iconic early New England slate carving. The presentation will look at this history with an eye to the need for ongoing restoration and conservation of the yard.

William Hosley is an independent scholar who has written extensively about New England graveyards including the Rockingham yard. A graduate of Middlebury College and the Winterthur Program in Early American Culture, he is a collector, photographer, and preservationist who specializes in cultural resource development and preservation services. He formerly worked for the Vermont Division for Historic Preservation.

To receive an invitation to this Zoom program, email programming@rockingham-library.org or call the library at 802-463-4270. Leave your phone number and email address. For those who do not have a computer, there is an alternative method of joining Zoom through a phone call.

The series is made possible through funding from the Vermont Division for Historic Preservation and the National Park Service.

Londonderry Arts and Historical Society receives grant

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – The Londonderry Arts and Historical Society is moving ahead with much needed window repair at the Custer Sharp House, partially funded by a grant from the 1772 Foundation in cooperation with the Preservation Trust of Vermont. The $9,000 award is matched by LAHS. The Preservation Trust received 23 applications and ultimately made 12 grants totaling $100,000.

The Custer Sharp House is the headquarters for the Londonderry Arts and Historical Society. It is a traditional 1820s farmhouse that belonged to artist Bernadine Custer and her husband Jimmy Sharp. Custer bequeathed the farmhouse to the Londonderry Historical Society with the stipulation that it also serve as an art center.

"The Custer Sharp House is one of the few old farmhouses remaining in Londonderry, and we are committed to its preservation," says Hilary Batchelor, president of LAHS. "The window repairs were deemed a top priority in the Preservation Trust's condition's assessment report conducted in 2018, and we are so appreciative they helped fund these critical upgrades."

The Londonderry Arts and Historical Society is open Saturdays and Wednesdays, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., between Memorial Day and Labor Day. Stop and see our ever-changing art and historical shows this summer. For more information, visit www.LAHSVT.org or our Facebook page.

Dear Editor,

Hello again from the Legislature. As I write this, we are hopefully just hours away from adjourning for the summer, presumably by the time you read this. We have done a lot this year. This session I'm on the House Commerce committee, so the bills I have been dealing with more closely are those related to our economy and our workforce.

This has been a very interesting committee to be on as we try to position the state for success in our recovery. We focused our efforts on bills related to the unemployment insurance system and workforce development programs. We also talked a lot about Tax Increment Financing districts, but that bill appears to be languishing and no longer on the road to pass this year.

This time at the end of session gets very convoluted and can be hard to follow. As I've said in past years, with regards to legislation, a lot of the disagreements end up being less between the political parties and more between the House and the Senate. We also often colloquially say at this time of year that bills and policies are either "hostages" or "Christmas trees." In this sense, a "Christmas tree" is a bill that one chamber adds other "smaller" bills or policies to, which would be the "ornaments." And a "hostage" would be a bill or policy that one chamber or committee knows the other likes, so delays passing it to get something from the other body.

To come back to my committee, on paper we will likely end this biennium having passed only three bills, but those bills were "Christmas trees," in ways containing the language from as many as five other bills, depending on how you count. Those bills are far-reaching. Most recently, we have been working on S.62, which started as a bill that codified the governor's remote worker program and added a provision to help pay moving expenses for employees relocating from one part of the state to another.

But when it passes, the bill will contain a lot of language about our Unemployment Insurance system, making changes so that employers will not face as severe taxes on unemployment than they otherwise would have because of how much the system was used this past year. We have a healthy UI Trust Fund, even now, because of difficult decisions made by the Legislature 10 years ago, and this will ensure we continue to move forward. It also adds a supplemental $25 benefit to those collecting unemployment for 10 years after the current federal $300 benefit expires.

I will go into more detail in my aforementioned End of Session Report on the bills my committee worked on and others from around the Statehouse. I am also planning to resume my Legislative Coffee Hours soon and hopefully will be able to set some dates and times next month!

As always feel free to give a call on this or anything else.

Sincerely,
Rep. Logan Nicoll
Ludlow, Mount Holly,
Shrewsbury

Dear Editor,

The Vermont Legislature adjourned Friday afternoon, May 21. We all agree – it was an historic session. It was the first Legislative session to be conducted completely remotely during an international pandemic. And, we also agree that, despite our productivity, we all long to be back in the Statehouse doing the people's business in person.

We learned many lessons. We learned that with the innovations of the 21st century, we could legislate remotely. Surprisingly, our 18th century Constitution and Chamber rules enabled us to respond nimbly to our current needs. We learned that high-speed internet and childcare were essential for our economy and Legislature alike, and that telemedicine worked surprisingly well. We learned how fragile economic security was for many Vermonters. We learned how human we really are – that we all need human contact, miss facial expressions, and hunger for hugs.

We also learned that public access to our Legislative work was expanded with these technological innovations. Through YouTube and Zoom, many more Vermonters were able to watch the Legislative process and follow issues they care about, without having to drive hours to the Statehouse. In our virtual Committee Rooms, everyone could fit. We are reminded that government, at its best, is an effective way of taking care of each other – in a time of lost jobs, lost business, and lost life. We are reminded that Vermonters are resilient and rise to the occasion – and that we work together productively to make progress for our beloved state and its people.

I am proud of what the Legislature accomplished in this 2021 session. We responded to the ongoing needs of Vermonters with a wide range of help, from feeding Vermont families and increasing support for those suffering from mental health challenges and substance abuse disorders to economic recovery grants for businesses and essential support for the Vermont State College System. Our Vermont values have driven our policy work this year – our values of equity, safety and wellbeing, social justice and economic security are reflected in almost every line of our $7.35 billion fiscal year 2022 budget. This year's 188-page budget was unusually complex. It blended many funding sources, each with different guidelines and criteria – general fund, transportation and education funds, one-time state surplus and federal American Rescue Plan Act money. Its use of $599 million of ARPA money launches four years of transformational investments. An illustration of this is the $190 million we are investing in Housing Initiatives. Previously, the most I recall us ever spending was in 2017, when we created a housing bond of $35 million.

In this fiscal 2022 budget, we are able to fund extraordinary investments: Broadband Connectivity, Child Care, Climate Change Mitigation, Economic Development, Workforce Development and Communities, Clean Water Work, Vermont State College System, Judiciary & Justice System, updating State IT Technologies, and brownfield clean up. These are sums we'd only dream of in years past. We have three more budget years to invest the additional $430 million. These federal dollars are enabling us to significantly invest in our future – ensuring that Vermont will build back better together.

I appreciate hearing from you. I can be reached by email at alarkson@leg.state.vt.us or by phone at 802-457-4627. Dear Editor,

I am sitting at my desk looking out my window at the beauty of spring in Vermont, reflecting on the last five months of my service in the Legislature. The session started on the morning of Jan. 6, as I looked out at the winter landscape, by taking the oath of office. The insurrection at our nation's Capitol in the afternoon of that same day led to such fear that the joy and excitement of the morning was quickly forgotten.

But the House Leadership, led by Speaker Jill Krowinski, never wavered from moving forward and working for Vermonters in these unprecedented times. Covid has exposed significant cracks in our state, including broadband connectivity, healthcare, and childcare. The infusion of one-time federal money has allowed us to focus attention on these fundamental problems: education throughout the lifespan, access and affordability of childcare, workforce development, climate change, protection of our landscape, racial and social equity, and so much more. The House passed 100 bills over the course of the last five months, an amazing feat as it was all done on Zoom. The text of all bills and their progress through the system can be found on the Legislature's website. This is a great resource for all Vermonters to follow the work of the Legislature.

The budget sent to the governor totals $7.35 billion to meet the ongoing costs of operating the state government. This includes programs that provide services and benefits to the people of Vermont, and it makes investments in our infrastructure both human and structural. The American Rescue Plan Act contributed approximately $600 million to this budget. ARPA money needs to be spent over three years and an additional influx of money is expected as things evolve in Washington.

So now we are in the "off session." Although the House is adjourned, we do have a tentative date for a veto session June 23. If this is needed, it will be another new experience for me. As the summer and fall approach, I continue to represent constituents of Windham-3, so please contact me if you have questions or concerns. With Covid receding, I hope to meet some of you out in the world, perhaps at a community picnic or event. I am so looking forward to that!

For those of you who might be wondering, I did report out on a bill: S.22. There was no interrogation and the bill passed unanimously! I am very relieved to have my first bill behind me.

I would also like to express my deep gratitude to my UVM intern, Alexis Drown. From the beginning of the session, we started our week together every Monday morning at 9 a.m. It was a great way to start the week, as we organized what we needed to do over the coming days. Alexis did research for me on upcoming issues on the Health Care committee, and we discussed the complexities so I could come to an informed decision on how to vote. Her assistance with my constituent Zoom meetings, both in planning and execution, was indispensable. I am very confident that she will do well as she continues on her path forward.

I want to say thank you for allowing me to represent you in Montpelier. It is an honor and a privilege for which I am so grateful. Again, please contact me with ideas, thoughts, and concerns through the "off session" and into the second year of the biennium at www.LeslieGoldmanVT.com, 802-869-2989, or lgoldman@leg.state.vt.us. The second year of the legislative biennium will start in January 2022.

Sincerely,
Rep. Leslie Goldman

Barbara A. Gulli, 1939-2021

LUDLOW, Vt. – Barbara A. Gulli, 81, of Ludlow, Vt., entered the kingdom of heaven peacefully in her home with her family at her side, Saturday, May 22, 2021. She was born June 15, 1939 to Wesley and Elizabeth (Baker) Hatfield.

Barb graduated Glens Falls High in New York in 1956 and pursued her higher education in Boston at Simmons College and obtained a Bachelor of Science in nursing. Her dormitory was across the street from a Northeastern University fraternity in Brookline, Mass. and she met Nicholas Gulli, PLS of Irvington, N.Y. while playing bridge. Nick and Barb were shortly thereafter married in the Boston Public Gardens.

They moved to Longmeadow, Mass. in 1969 where Barb started her career at Baystate Medical Center in Springfield, Mass. as an ICU nurse and later became a critical care nursing instructor. Barb also continued nursing as a per diem nurse at Springfield, Vt. where she practiced well into her 70s. Nursing was truly her life's calling, as her purpose in life was taking care of others and making people feel important, comfortable, and happy.

Barb and Nick started their family in Easton, Mass. and purchased property and the Academy on Lake Pauline in Ludlow, Vt. where they often hosted ski weekends for students of Oliver Ames High School. Barb and Nick spent nearly every weekend and all vacations skiing at Okemo and Round Top and lounging at the lake with many close friends in Ludlow, Vt. The Gullis retired to Vermont in 1987 where they opened a land surveying and septic system design business where Barb was a rod man, draftsman, and the general manager. Barb enjoyed helping her husband salvage old barns and buildings and recycling the materials by constructing houses on the property along Lake Pauline. In all, three homes were built and the half-mile Gulli Road is labeled on Google Maps and is one of the most prominent neighborhoods in Ludlow, Vt.

Barb had many things that brought joy and light to her life including gardening, reading, playing games, skiing, golfing, traveling with family and friends, and going to the beach at her brother's in Westerly, R.I. She was an avid Red Sox fan. As season ticketholder, she went to many games with family and friends. She would regularly have Wednesday night dinners with friends, which she truly enjoyed. Barb was truly blessed over the years with wonderful neighbors and beautiful friends. Most of all, Barb cherished her moments with her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren as is evidenced by the numerous pictures that adorn her home.

After Barb retired, she was an active volunteer as a member of the Ludlow Garden Club, Black River Good Neighbors Center, Fletcher Memorial Library, and working the election polls in Ludlow.

Barb was predeceased by her parents, husband Nick, and brother Robert Hatfield of Westerly, R.I. She leaves behind her son Dominick and wife Shelly (Gregerson) of Stockton, Calif.; daughter Melissa and husband Mike Jorgensen of Nottingham, N.H.; grandchildren Natali (Gulli) and husband Alfonso Ron, Martina Gulli, and Nick Gulli, all of Stockton, Calif., and Jeremiah and Maria Jorgensen of Nottingham, N.H.; as well as step-grandson Cliff Jorgensen of Ossipee, N.H. Barb was blessed with two great-granddaughters Mia Marie Gulli and Olivia Penelope Ron. She also leaves two sisters-in-law, Clare Hoover of Middletown, Conn. and Cynthia Hatfield of Westerly, R.I. as well as two nieces and a nephew.

Barb's ashes will be distributed by family along with Nick's at the Academy. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Fletcher Memorial Library and Black River Good Neighbors.

The family would like to send heartfelt gratitude to VNH Hospice for their outstanding care and guidance, especially Barb's team of providers, Carol, Heidi, Anna, and Dr. Caloras.

The family will host calling hours Saturday, June 5, 2021, from 1-4 p.m., at Barb's home, 182 Gulli Rd., to share loving memories of Barb. BYOB, BYOC (chairs).

Patricia S. Fromberger, 1940-2021

ANDOVER, Vt. – Patricia Susan (Kochiss) Fromberger passed away on the morning of Sunday, May 23, 2021, at her home in Andover, Vt. Pat was born in Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 4, 1940, the youngest of three sisters. She grew up in Easton, a small rural community a few miles from Bridgeport. Although her father was killed in an automobile accident when she was only one year old, she was raised and loved by a large and supportive family including her mother and many aunts and uncles.

Throughout her life, Pat's Christian faith was always essential to her outlook. Her relationship with God informed every aspect of her life from an early age; she was baptized in the Russian Orthodox Church of her grandmother, Mary Kochiss, and she grew up as a devoted member of the Episcopal Church. Pat drew enormous strength and comfort from her faith, and although she was patient, mild of manner, and not always publicly outspoken about her views, she was very clear in her devotion.

After graduating from the University of Connecticut in 1962 with a B.A. in home economics, she married H. Joseph Fromberger, having met by chance, and in answer to her prayers, on a ski trip to Vermont in 1967. They were married for 53 years. After the birth of their first son Michael, and the tragic loss of their second son Paul, Pat and Joe moved to Andover, Vt. There, Pat found and joined the community of St. Luke's Church. Together, her family and the church were the core and bedrock of her life. For Pat, St. Luke's became a kind of extension of her family, and she served the community of the church for the rest of her life.

Once her son was in school, Pat took a job at the Vermont Country Store. Although she started out with basic clerical tasks in the office of their mail-order business, she soon got involved in producing their mail-order catalogue itself. Pat always had a talent for art – she could draw well and had a keen photographer's eye. The owner, Vrest Orton, recognized Pat's skills, and within a few years she became the principal creative director in charge of the design, layout, and production of the VCS catalogue. Over the course of more than 25 years working at the company, Pat had a substantial influence on the artistic style of their iconic brand.

Pat also brought the skills and experience she gained from her working career back to St. Luke's, shepherding the production of the "Light in the Shadows" newsletter for many years. For this work, she was honored on multiple occasions by the Diocese of Vermont.

Patricia is survived by her husband Joseph as well as her son Michael, her sisters Joy and Sylvia, and their families.

A memorial service in celebration of Patricia's life will be held Saturday, June 12, 2021 at 11 a.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Chester, Vt. In lieu of flowers, please consider donations to the Chester-Andover Family Center, P.O. Box 302, Chester, VT 05143, or at www.chester-andoverfamilycenter.org.

Robert Beardsley, 1921-2021

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Robert O. Beardsley Jr., 100, passed away peacefully with his family by his side Friday morning, May 21, 2021. He was born Jan. 20, 1921 in the first hospital in Springfield, Vt. and enjoyed pointing out the building to friends. He was the oldest son of Robert and Katherine (Duffy) Beardsley. Bob attended Springfield schools, graduating in 1938. He later graduated from Vermont Academy and attended Colgate University.

On Sept. 14, 1946, he married Charlotte Hogue, who he'd had a "crush on" that started in the seventh grade. They were married 50 years.

Bob was employed with the Jones & Lamson Machine Tool Company for several years, working on the turret lathe assembly line. In 1948, he started selling petroleum dispensary equipment for Albert L. Gutterson. In 1952, he took over the business, changing the name to Beardsley Inc., which his son-in-law Jim Loutrel now owns.

He was very proud of his friendship with Mr. Gutterson and the business opportunity he gave him. He visited the office every day until he was 96.

Bob was an avid sports fan and went to the Springfield Cosmo football and basketball games into his 90s. In 1940, he saw the famous fifth down at the Dartmouth and Cornell football game, and in his youth he saw many Red Sox games at Fenway Park. He and friends would call players such as Ted Williams or Yankee player Joe DiMaggio over to the bleachers for a quick picture or autograph.

Bob was an ardent golfer and a founding member of Crown Point Golf Course in 1952. He spent many weekends enjoying golf with his friends and golf trips to Pinehurst Golf Course in Pinehurst, N.C.

Bob was a proud blood donor for the Red Cross. He belonged to The Lions Club, Odd Fellows, Muckcross Trout Club, and Crown Point Golf Course. He and Charlotte enjoyed the assembly dances once held at The Hartness House. Bob was a member of the Congregational Church and greatly enjoyed coffee hour and visiting with others. In later years, Bob enjoyed traveling, reading, watching old movies, and being very lucky with scratch tickets.

He had an active, full life with a quest to live to 100 years. He was enthusiastically given a 100th birthday celebration at Cedar Hill and enjoyed the singing, confetti, and choosing any cake and ice cream he wanted. Bob also received a congratulatory letter from Reese Lindeburgh who knew he'd sat in her father's plane, "The Spirit of St.

Robert Beardsley, 1921-2021.

Louis," during his visit to Hartness Airport in 1927.

Bob is survived by daughters Juliet Loutrel (Jim) and Kimberly Beardsley, both of Springfield; his beloved granddaughters Molly Loutrel of Wilder, Vt., Suzanne Loutrel Cassani (Joe) and 2-year-old great-grandson Joey of Shelburne, Vt., and Alexandria Loutrel of Essex Jct., Vt.; and several nieces and nephews.

He was predeceased by his parents, his wife Charlotte, brother John, as well as many friends, many cats, and beloved Boston Terrier "Skipper."

The family wants to thank the staff at Cedar Hill for their excellent care of Bob. Their patience and kindness are truly appreciated. A special, special thanks to Jennifer Grimes-White, Dulcie, Irene, and Mark for hours of bingo, trivia, and conversations with Bob.

Dad or "Bop's" wonderful smile, kindness, trivia knowledge of Springfield and sports, his interest in our lives, and sense of humor will be sorely missed.

A graveside service will be held Thursday, June 3, 2021 at 1 p.m. at the Summer Hill Cemetery in Springfield, Vt. Reverend Gerry Piper will officiate.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Springfield Humane Society, 401 Skitchewaug Trail, Springfield, VT 05156 or Cedar Hill Continuing Care Activities Department, 49 Cedar Hill Drive, Windsor, VT 05089, Attn: Jennifer Grimes-White.

Fish & Wildlife's "Leave It To Beaver and other Furbearers"

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – On Tuesday, June 22 at 6 p.m., join the Springfield Town Library and Vermont Fish & Wildlife at The Commons Park in Springfield for a presentation of

"Leave It To Beaver and Other Furbearers."

This one-and-a-half hour program offers a general introduction to the suite of species in Vermont called furbearers and then dives deeper into the ecology of beavers, one of Vermont's keystone species. Visual aids such as a beaver skull replica and scat replica will help the audience understand this industrious creature. There will be time for questions about beavers and any of the other native furbearer species.

Mary Beth Adler has worked for the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department for 19 years as a wildlife technician. Over the course of those years, her responsibilities have included working primarily with the furbearer management program participating in research and monitoring projects, entering data, installing water control structures to help mitigate beaver-human conflicts, and overseeing the upkeep and use of a dozen Furbearer Education Kits circulating throughout the state. She has also worked with private landowners to help improve wildlife habitat on their land, assisted with a bear study, and is recruited to help with any number of wildlife-related projects when needed.

This free program is open to the public and is sponsored by Springfield Town Library and Vermont Fish & Wildlife. Contact Tracey at stlvtprograms@gmail.com or 802-885-3108 with any questions.

Bring your own chair and blanket and remember to practice social distancing. Masks are suggested but not required.

BRAT cleans up the Black River

CAVENDISH, Vt. – Warmer weather has enticed people to venture forth in search of scenic drives along, and visits to, the Black River. Unfortunately, this increased traffic often results in an increase in riverside and roadside trash, presenting not just an eyesore but impairment to wildlife habitat. The Black River Action Team spent a few hours this past weekend cleaning up the pull-offs on Route 131 along the Black River in Cavendish. The trash collected ranged from political signs to tires, food trash to fishing line. While some appeared incidental, some was obviously intentionally discarded at these public sites.

Many thanks to the Cavendish Transfer Station for taking the trash and the tire, and a special shout out to BRAT volunteers Pam Lane and Armando Stettner for donating their time and elbow grease to beautifying the shoreline.

BRAT will continue to keep an eye on these pull-offs and will plan at least one more coordinated cleanup of Route 131.

Anyone interested in participating should contact BRAT Director Kelly Stettner at blackrivercleanup@gmail.com or leave a message at 802-738-0456. For donations to support the all-volunteer organization, please mail a check to BRAT, 101 Perley Gordon Rd., Springfield, VT 05156.

Keith Hermiz is EMS Educator of the Year

GRAFTON, Vt. – The recognition of Emergency Medical Services in Vermont was somewhat subdued this year due to the Covid-19 pandemic; however, the Vermont Department of Health did go ahead with its awards recognizing various individuals and organizations in EMS for their achievements.

Will Moran, EMS Chief for the Department of Health, announced that the 2021 EMS Educator of the Year was Keith Hermiz of the Grafton Rescue Squad. Keith, an advanced emergency medical technician who serves as president and training officer of Grafton Rescue, was cited in particular for his determination not to let EMS education be a victim of the pandemic, which caused most classes and training programs to be suspended.

After working diligently to acquire much needed and difficult to obtain personal protective equipment for the Grafton Squad, Keith then organized ongoing in-house training using distance learning and Zoom sessions so the Grafton responders could stay current with the field. “At this point,” according to

Grafton Emergency Medical Responder Mike Field, “Keith recognized the disrupted state of regularly available classes and took it upon himself to prepare and offer an EMR course meeting all safety protocols in Grafton that ultimately served 15 students from Grafton, Chester, and Westminster.”

This course was doubly important during the past year not only due to most training being curtailed but also because of the ever present need for EMS personnel.

Keith was recognized previously as the EMS Educator of the Year in 2019 for his constant efforts to train first responders and his effectiveness at planning and teaching numerous aspects of EMS and rescue services. Notably, he has been the lead instructor in the advanced CPR training technique known as the Resuscitation Academy, which he has taught to more than 15 Police, Fire, and EMS Departments in central and southern Vermont.

All training and use of this technique ceased due to the Covid-19 protocols, which limited the number of responders doing CPR. Once the pandemic started to ease up, Keith pushed to resume teaching the Resuscitation Academy CPR technique for which approval was granted and the first session recently completed. As Keith is well known in Vermont for his involvement with EMS, his receiving this award a second time would not have been a surprise to his colleagues in the EMS community. Although it was a surprise to Keith, who responded with characteristic modesty by replying, “There must be some mistake.”

VINE’s Vegan Challenge: Eat the Rainbow for Pride Month

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – VINE Sanctuary, a farmed animal refuge in Vermont, is celebrating Pride month by challenging LGBTQIA+ people and their friends and family to “Eat the Rainbow” by going vegan for the month of June.

Participants in the nationwide Pride Month Vegan Challenge will receive support, recipes, and inspiration throughout the month and can even be matched with an LGBTQIA+ vegan mentor. The challenge is free and open to everyone to sign up at www.RainbowVegan.org.

As the number of people embracing vegan eating continues to grow, so do the many reasons for making the switch, whether it’s to protect animals, the planet, our personal health, or the health and safety of our global communities. No matter your reason for joining the Pride Month

Vegan Challenge, we’ll be going on culinary adventures to help you explore new foods and flavors and experience the joys of incorporating colorful fruits and vegetables into our diets, as dieticians say we all should do.

According to VINE Sanctuary co-founder Patrice Jones, “Just as we are socialized to be straight or to have a particular gender, we are taught to crave animal products. But, in their heart of hearts, most people don’t want to hurt animals. We’re organizing this challenge as an LG-BTQ-led organization because we know how much truer to ourselves we all felt after going vegan.”

By joining the Pride Month Vegan Challenge, you’ll be in good company. Millions of people around the world are discovering the many benefits of plant-based eating, including Laverne Cox,

Little Yellow House Studio's "Tea & Twain"

ANDOVER, Vt. – Due to popular demand, Little Yellow House Studio's spring production of "Tea & Twain" is available for streaming until June 14. "Tea & Twain" stars Broadway, film, and television actor Ron Crawford as the renowned American author and satirist Mark Twain.

Viewers are invited to enjoy a favorite cup of tea as Ron performs his one-man show "Travels with Mark Twain" based on Twain's famous traveling lecture series, featuring readings from some of his most beloved works. The performance, recorded on Zoom May 2, recreates Twain's lectures from a hundred years ago, his adventures as a steamboat pilot on the Mississippi, his mining days out West, the Hawaiian Islands, and his first tour of Europe along with his caustic, humorous observations – and a few tall stories.

Little Yellow House Studio composer and musician Lisa Brigantino supplied pre-show music for the production, and her arrangement of Scott Joplin's "Pineapple Rag" is featured in this performance from May 2.

The performance is "pay what you can" and tickets can be purchased at www.littleyellowhousestudio.com/events. The streaming link will be emailed within 24 hours of ticket purchase.

"Tea & Twain" is the inaugural theater production presented by Little Yellow House Studio, launched in 2020 with a mission to educate and inspire students of the arts and grow community through performing arts. Little Yellow House Studio also offers voice, acting, musical theater and communications coaching, educational residencies, virtual and live music concerts as well as video production services. ## Weston Playhouse Walker Farm Music: Summer Edition

WESTON, Vt. – Weston Playhouse Theatre Company presents an 85th Anniversary Celebration Series kicking off with Walker Farm Music: Summer Edition. Join nationally recognized musicians June 26, July 3, and July 4 at 7 p.m. under the Tent at Walker Farm.

Music curator Jed Hughes has joined forces with Weston to put together a series of eclectic, exciting events. These shows are "pay what you will" events. This concert series is sponsored by Four Seasons Sotheby's International Realty, The Vermont Sales Group.

First in the series, Kat Wright returns to Weston June 26 after her incredible 2020 sold out Walker Farm Music winter series performance. Kat, whose voice is both sultry and dynamic, delicate yet powerful; gritty but highly emotive and nuanced, has been described as "a young Bonnie Raitt meets Amy Winehouse." Add to that voice enough stage presence to tame lions, and the combination of feline femininity proves immediately enchanting. It's funky in spots and beautiful all over. And it hurts a little... like it should.

Coming to Weston July 3 is Upstate – at times known for a large ensemble of eclectic instruments and musicians, while at others for featuring dazzling three-part vocal harmonies. Upstate has always been a band that writes honest songs and 2021 is shaping up to be their most truthful year yet. Audiences can count on what the group has always been known for: musicianship, harmony, and a "leave-it-all-up-there" show.

Closing out the series is The Suitcase Junket July 4. Matt Lorenz's vision, manifest in The Suitcase Junket, developed in the tension between the grand and the solitary – grand in its imagery, sound, and staging and solitary in its thrift and self-reliance. What instruments he requires, Lorenz builds from scratch and salvage. What parts five players would perform, he performs alone. The spectacle of his one-man set bears constant comparison to legends of showmanship, brilliance, madness, and invention.

Tickets are on sale now. Reserve yours at www.westonplayhouse.org.
