BFUHS student wins Junior Iron Chef VT

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – On April 2, 2022, Joey Jacques of Bellows Falls Union High School competed in the Junior Iron Chef VT competition and took home the “Mise en Place” award, cooking by himself. His winning dish was Portobello Katsu over a Sweet Potato Curry and Coconut Rice.

Jr. Iron Chef VT is a statewide cooking competition for middle and high school students. Teams are invited to create healthy vegetarian dishes using seasonal ingredients and show off skills formed in after-school clubs at their local schools. The program was started in 2008 and has grown extremely popular, with over 5,000 students participating over the years.

Due to a winter storm, the March competition date was postponed. Because of rescheduling, Jacques’s teammate Kevin Patterson could not compete, so Joey Jacques had to cook solo, a rarity at Jr. Iron Chef, where teams are usually three or more students.

However, cooking solo did not damper Jacques’ abilities. In fact, Jacques was able to win one of the three awards up for grabs at the competition.

Jacques put quite a bit of preparation into the event. He and Patterson met eight times with their coach Jake Gallogly, the Nutrition Assistant at BFUHS. Both students had significant experience cooking with their families at home, but both also mentioned the techniques they had learned under Gallogly’s guidance. Jacques said, “I one hundred percent learned new techniques and vocabulary here. Julienne, mince, mise en place. Learning how to do things correctly is a big thing here.”

Coach Gallogly remarked, “Watching Joey cook was pretty awesome. I don’t know if he noticed or not, but all of the judges and many of the coaches kept coming up to me and asking if he was really competing alone. They were really impressed.”

As such, Gallogly wasn’t completely surprised when they announced Jacques’ name as the winner. But the extra reward came when the captain of the judges told Gallogly, “His dish was by far the best,” and that they’d pay for it in a restaurant.

Jr. Iron Chef helps build confidence in students and offers them a unique opportunity. Gallogly reflected, “Jr. Iron Chef is a great program. All three times that I have had the opportunity to coach a team, I feel that the kids walked away with more confidence in the kitchen. Cooking aside, I think some of the students that participate in the program aren’t always involved in competitive sports, so showing up to the expo center with all the energy and the big crowd of people there has to be exciting. Everyone needs a few butterflies in their stomach once in a while!”

Bellows Falls Trades community garden

BY BETSY THURSTON

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – On Tuesday, May 17, the Rockingham Selectboard awarded the lease for the Bellows Falls Trades community garden at 66 Atkinson Street.

BF Trades first presented the idea at a joint board meeting in March and was supported by Marsha Stern of Community Garden, Scott Wunderle of Terrigenous Landscaping, and representatives from Central Elementary School, Bellows Falls Middle School, and Bellows Falls High School, in addition to garnering support from Cheryl Charles of the Westminster School board.

BF Trades anticipates a year-long project development process which would engage youth throughout the school year. Their plan is to provide real-world instruction in design, agriculture, construction, advertising, and financial literacy as they work closely with Central Elementary School’s Farm to Table program.

Michael P. Stack explained that they expected to work with the town, and that the proposal asked for water, sewer systems, and that the lot be free of contaminants. Development Director Gary Fox said that, although the town could not guarantee the soil was contamination-free, there was no indication of hazardous materials ever used in that location.

Wunderle described the lot as a “jewel” and hoped that many people would weigh in on the plan. He said, “The main focus [is] will the town back the general idea.” Stack described their goal as an attempt to give kids a sense of ownership. He stated, “We have got something special to expose young people to and I’m thrilled to be part of it.”

Board member Elijah Zimmer described the project as exciting, but said that he would not choose that area. He said that ideally he would like to see a larger building; one that was multi-use and three stories.

Vice Chair Susan Hammond asked if anyone else had shown interest. Board member Rick Cowan supported this proposal and said, given the construction costs and labor shortages, he saw no other use.

Mark Gebo, BFUHS counselor, said, “A traditional educational approach does not always work...we want [graduates] to be invested and involved; it’s a great opportunity to learn the skills...to move forward.” He said there were currently 30 students involved in job shadowing.

Charles said the Center School has a vibrant farm to table program, and she supported outside learning for all ages.

Hammond suggested a clause amending the ten-year lease to “as agreeable by the town” to allow for any changes.

The BF Trades proposal with amendment was approved 4-1. Chair Peter Golec voted against, “For the location.”

The selectboard approved the summer meeting schedule. It will meet once per month; June 7, July 12, Aug. 9, and Sept. 20 at 6 p.m. in the Lower Theatre of the Bellows Falls Opera House, except for the Aug. 9 meeting, which will meet at the Rockingham Meeting House.

Greater Falls Farmers Market kicks the season off

BY BILL LOCKWOOD

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – On Friday, May 20, 2022, a large, enthusiastic, and spirited crowd turned out at Hetty Green Park in Bellows Falls for a fundraiser kick-off event to mark this year’s Greater Falls Farmers Market opening on June 17 and its return to the park after two years at the Waypoint Center. Local band Intercept entertained the crowd, and burgers and hot dogs were served. The success of this event will hopefully be a harbinger of a good market year to come.

The market is traditionally a spring to fall Friday night event and has had a tenacious following over the years, with ups and downs as it has appeared in various ideations and basically two locations, Hetty Green Park and, recently, the parking lot at the Waypoint Center. There was also a winter market attempt at the 33 Bridge Street Gallery space. In 2017, a struggling market was taken over by Sustainable Valley Group. Speaking for the organization, Gary Fox says that this year they are transitioning to a vendor run market with SVG continuing as its nonprofit fiscal umbrella that allows the use of EBT, or “food stamp cards,” and special added advantages for low income shoppers. Fox says there is a “core group of vendors and producers that are really motivated to have a good market season and see that market be vibrant.” He says he sees “a lot of people pulling together to run it,” and, “I think it’s going to be a really good year.”

Former vendor Janice Leary Jones of Eventide Farm became the market’s manager under SVG, having had experience developing The Old Rochester Farmers Market on Cape Cod. Jones is back this year as one of the vendors, and is helping with promotion and entertainment. She says they “want to make it a Friday night out in Bellows Falls.” She says they will have a variety of vendors this year with vegetables, fruit, herbs, poultry, fresh made-to-order pizzas, tarot card readings, and, as always, live music. Artist in Residence Amber Paris will be doing art activities. One such activity she has planned is a mapping project that will let market goers “see where they are in relation to where their food is made.”

Thalia Brown, owner of North Wind Farm, was there with a display of herbs and small plants for sale. She has been a vendor at the market for the last three years. She said, “We’re excited to have the market back here this summer.” Jones explained that a major reason for the move back to the park is the current and planned access that is limiting construction on the Island.

Par 13, a restaurant at BFCC

BY BETSY THURSTON
The Shopper

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Rockingham has a new restaurant; Par 13, Burgers and BBQ. Located at the Bellows Falls Country Club, Par 13 is a collaboration between Brian Joy, of PK’s, and George Kendall, formerly of Kendall’s Kitchen.

Par 13 is comfortable and casual; in the center of every table is a paper towel roll, and that’s because it’s all about the food. On the menu, you will find 13 signature burgers, including the “Big Three.” one is dedicated to the creator of the golf course, David “Deacon” Brown; another to Mike “Tolaro,” a legend from 1953-1981; and the “Bump” who left his mark with time and financial donations; the Hall is named after Bump Malley. The brand on the burgers was made by local artist Ted Slaght.

The BBQ includes pulled pork and brisket as well as smoked options of macaroni and cheese, corn, salmon, and rice and vegetables.

Kendall calls his BBQ, “Upscale with a Vermont twist.” His homemade smoker outside holds 70 pounds of meat. When asked, Kendall stated, “I love to BBQ!”

styles of french fries, and 13 dipping and wing sauces. Kendall said, “It turns out the dry rub [for his brisket] has 13 ingredients.”

Joy explained that every list they made had 13 items and it happens to be their lucky number. Joy’s high school jersey was 13 and Kendall’s birthday is on the 13th. The opening night of Par 13 was Friday, May 13, 2022.

Kendall said he started prep cooking at Vermont Academy when he was 15 and had been working there until recently. He also owns a mobile catering business specializing in barbecue. He closed Kendall’s Kitchen in Saxtons River in 2019, working at the Summit Lodge in Sunapee before Covid shut everything down.

Joy is a member of the country club, and when he heard that the previous restaurant manager was not renewing his contract, he told Kendall, “If I’m going to do this, you are the one chef I want to work with.” They signed a three-year contract and opened within five weeks. Joy explained that he wanted to stay local and create local jobs. He wanted to offer what he thought a country club should, and they created a menu that is fresh and exciting with a

Ariana Wunderle breaks world record

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – Ariana Wunderle, 18, from Rockingham, Vt. has been performing with Vermont's own Circus Smirkus since she was the age of two. As a senior, this was going to be the last season for her to perform under their Big Top, so she wanted to give back as part of her senior project.

Ariana has been "dancing on the wire" since the age of seven, and she wanted to pay tribute to where she learned her love of the wire and where she discovered her own individuality by performing with Circus Smirkus.

Each senior at BFUHS has to come up with a senior project, so Ariana thought it a perfect pairing to walk the wire to benefit the organization that started it all and what better way than to break a world record in doing it.

The world record for the farthest tightrope walk in high heels as it stood before Ariana's attempt was 15 meters, or 49.213 feet, on a tightrope that is 6.56 feet tall and 16.4 feet long in 4-inch high heels.

On May 16 at 2:19 p.m. in front of her family, the BFUHS students, and its faculty, Ariana Wunderle took her first step towards breaking the record. Ariana's wire measured 6 feet, 8.75 inches tall, was 19 feet in length, and her stiletto heels measured in at 4-inches. To allow some room to turn, Ariana had two ribbons of tape hanging that were 12 feet apart. To tie the record, Ariana had to walk four separate passes.

After 55 minutes, timed by timekeepers, Ariana ended up walking a distance of 194.983 meters or 639 feet and 8.5 inches.

Although the record is not official until all the evidence is submitted to Guinness World Records, Ariana met her goals of both beating the record and in monetary donations made to Smirkus. Her goal was to raise $1,000 and as of this printing she has raised $3,500.

Once Guinness receives the materials, it can take up to 12 weeks to have them review and certify her record attempt.

Maria's 371 Family Restaurant opens

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Maria's 371 Family Restaurant, located at 371 River St., Springfield, Vt., celebrated their grand opening with a ribbon cutting with the Springfield Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Maria started with a food truck in Mexico when she was 17 years old. She moved to the U.S. in 1996, and after working at various restaurants all over, she ended up in Springfield, Vt. in 2004.

She has long dreamed of opening her own restaurant in the U.S., and in March 2022 she accomplished the large step of creating an LLC. Earlier this month she opened the doors to Maria's 371 Family Restaurant for the first time.

Maria Grajales Candelario and her family are dedicated to excelling in their customer service and offering fresh authentic foods. 371 serves American, Mexican, Greek, and Italian cuisine. The Candelario Family is very appreciative of the kind and welcoming people in their community and the dedicated repeat customers who have enabled their family to take on this opportunity.

Shannon Niemiec celebrated Superhero

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – On April 28, National Superhero Day, the Great Falls Regional Chamber of Commerce held an evening of impact, resilience, and appreciation. Among the 16 superheroes celebrated was Kurn Hattin Homes' very own Shannon Niemiec. Kurn Hattin Homes held its own campus celebration afterward.

Shannon Niemiec, BSN, RN is Kurn Hattin Homes' Director of Health Services. In a typical year, she keeps us all informed about upcoming cold and flu season, and tick and sun burn prevention. Since 2020, she's been Kurn Hattin Homes' "Dr. Fauci" and guided both the children and the staff through the entire Covid pandemic with composure and compassion, in addition to all her other duties.

Shannon comprehended and relayed all the CDC and Vermont Department of Health regulations and updates and maintained in compliance with all the state, local, and federal documents for record keeping. She kept the children, their families, as well as the staff, calm and on track to deal with all the changes and issues that came along – protocols for distancing, masking, quarantining, testing, vaccinating, and what was mandatory and optional. Shannon was, and still is, the go-to person for everyone. This was a big expansion of the Health Services Director role. In the past, the focus was only on the children, but Covid necessitated that Shannon work with everybody, including extended family members of children and staff. The goal was to keep everyone, and the campus, safe, and she did so with aplomb. She's gone above and beyond, and she truly is Kurn Hattin's, and the community's, superhero.

We also honor Keri Tincino, CMA; Jean Farrell, BSN, RN; and Kelly Maglio, BSN, RN, who joins Shannon in our Health Center, and all the nurses and health care professionals who work tirelessly every day for the well-being of others.

Along with burgers and BBQ, there are sandwiches, salads, and milkshakes. Bagels from Crimson and Clover Bakes are offered as an option for bread, and Kendall explained that all of the fried options are made fresh.

Joy said, in regards to Kendall, "It's a great feeling as an owner when you put someone in place that's perfect for that position, [Kendall] is as good as it gets!"

Par 13 is open Tuesday through Sunday, 12-9 p.m., and both the course and restaurant are open to the public. Gloria is still your smiling bartender and she said they encourage tee times.

Tuesday is Men's Night and Thursdays are for the ladies. The course opens at 7 a.m. with the last cart returned by 8 p.m. The BFCC celebrates its centennial this year with a tournament on May 28.

State Representative Leslie Goldman was in attendance as well. She said, "It's thrilling to be here tonight, to see the excitement and energy coming back to the town. I will say congratulations to a whole community for coming together like this."

The band Intercept, musicians with a large local following, played for free. Floyd Lawrence, of the band, said, "[The market is] free, and its local, and a good cause." That spirit seemed to permeate the event. He says he was asked to come by Dylan Lester, a bread baker from Saxtons River who had been a market vendor for a number of years. Lester was donating his cooking skills on the big gas grill loaned by Cota & Cota, preparing burgers donated by Spring Lake Farm and hot dogs donated by Li-sai's Market.

Hamlet in Wonderland, or Alice, Prince of Denmark

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – John Hadden and Sean Roberts, the directors of the two shows this summer at Main Street Arts, “Hamlet” and “The Books of Alice and Wonderland,” will stage a brief, semi-improvisational mash-up of the two plays, to be filmed before a live audience for promotional use on local media, at the Flat Iron Café on June 4, at 12 p.m.

Members of the two casts will bring speeches from the plays and play a game in which they are interrupted by speeches from the other play, and have to try to make sense of it in a scene using only words from their text. After this experiment, the directors will play a game called “Interview at a Café,” in which audience members ask questions about the two productions while drinking coffee and enjoying a Saturday afternoon.

The recently formed company Wild Goose Players, run by David Stern, which just closed a successful run of “Into the Woods” at the Bellows Falls Opera House, is producing “Hamlet,” and Main Street Arts is producing Roberts’ “Alice.” This is the first public occasion of the two companies working together.

Fletcher Farm School Open Studio

LUDLOW, Vt. – The Fletcher Farm School for the Arts and Crafts will be participating in the Vermont Craft Council’s Open Studio Weekend, to be held on Saturday, May 28 and Sunday, May 29. Several of our members will be demonstrating skills such as quilting, silver fabrication, collage, decorative painting, and creative metalworking.

The artist registration fees will be waived for anyone signing up for a class during the Open Studio.

In addition, we will be hosting a retrospective of the work of Fletcher Farm Graduate Pamela Friend Gwinn (née Spalding), 1943–2021, who was a Fletcher Farm School for the Arts and Crafts graduate in Early American Decoration. Pamela was known as “The Stencil Lady” at the School. She enjoyed a thirty-year (plus) artistic career thanks to the Fletcher Farm School. Her reputation for meticulous artwork persisted throughout her career, teaching, hobbies, and retirement play with sailors’ valentines – seashell mosaics. She was a prolific artist until her death.

Please stop in to explore her life’s work and play, and you are welcome to visit with her daughter, Natalie, at “open-box” show and tell sessions on the arts and crafts she mastered. Sessions may include: stenciling overlay demonstration, primitive painting process, beaded jewelry show and tell, theorem designs, reverse paintings on glass, and shell mosaic designs.

We invite the public to stop by to see the demonstrations and talk with Ms. Friend’s daughter about her work. The Open Studio will run from 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. each day.

Fletcher Farm School classes

LUDLOW, Vt. – The Fletcher Farm School for the Arts and Crafts announces June classes. All summer classes are also posted on www.fletcherfarm.org, and new classes are being added weekly.

F4 – June 11 (a.m.) – Felted Landscapes – Sandi Cirillo – Reg. deadline 6/1/22. In this class, you will learn about the felt making process using wool, soap, and water to create a beautiful felted landscape made entirely of wool. Wet felting and dry needle felting techniques will be demonstrated. This is a hands-on class, so come prepared for lots of felted fun!

F5 – June 11 (p.m.) – Silk Shibori – Sandi Cirillo – Reg. deadline 6/1/22. Shibori is a Japanese resist method of creating designs on silk scarves using a PVC pipe. You will leave this class with two silk scarves you have created using this resist method. You’ll also have time to paint directly on your scarves.

B4 – June 12 – Make a Versatile Basket – Dona Nazarenko – Reg. deadline 6/2/22. Not too big nor too small, this tote will do the job for berry picking. It’s also the perfect size to use for your hobby, craft, or any garden needs. Woven with natural and dyed reed, this hangs nicely with the attached soft Shaker strap to carry around or rest on your shoulders. A very handy basket, you will be proud to use and display it.

W3 – June 13-15 – Introduction to Chip Carving – Dennis Wilson – Reg. deadline 6/3/22. This course will introduce students to Chip Carving, a craft in which a knife is used to incise designs created by the removal of small pieces, called chips, from the wood. Chip carved plates, jewelry, keepsake boxes, trays, breadboards, furniture, and other items make wonderful personal items and gifts. Some carving experience is helpful but not necessary. Chip carving knives will be loaned to you, although students may purchase knives from these makers: www.mychipcarving.com, www.chipcarving.com, or www.flexcut.com.

B1 – June 18 – Bucket Basket – Meg Kupiec – Reg. deadline 6/8/22. This basket is an original design by your instructor. You will work with round, flat, and flat oval reed and learn the most popular weaving methods. Attention will center on sizing your basket to fit the wooden swing handle.

S1 – June 18-19 – Creative Metalworking – Piper Strong – Reg. deadline 6/8/22. The Creative Metalworking class will explore techniques in welding, brazing, and forming sheet metal into 3D shapes. The goal is to learn by creating your own small sculpture. You will explore organic and geometric forms, using a plasma cutter, torches, hand tools, and your own imagination. Two days will cover the basics, give you time to be creative, and learn how to setup your own home studio. All abilities are welcome.

W4 – June 25-26 – Introduction to Green Wood Spoon Making – Andre Souigny – Reg. deadline 6/15/22. Green wood spoon making relies on the combination of easy-to-carve, freshly harvested hardwood, razor sharp tools, and steady, thoughtful technique. Students will be introduced to various tool handling techniques. The schedule will be dictated by the skill and progression of the group. Day one will focus on preparing green wood spoon blanks, including hatchet techniques, sawing stop cuts, and shaping with the shaving horse, drawknife, and spoke shave. Day two will be devoted to working with the straight and bent knife, learning safe knife holds and carving techniques, drying, and decorative embellishments such as finials, chip carving, and kohlrising.

Walpole Players, “The Wind in the Willows”

WALPOLE, N.H. – On Friday, June 17, 2022 at 7 p.m., The Walpole Players will open its second production of Alan Bennett’s adaptation of “The Wind in the Willows,” the children’s novel by Kenneth Grahame. It will continue June 18 and 23, at 7 p.m.; Sunday, June 19, at 2 p.m.; and Saturday, June 25, at 8 p.m.

Their first production of this play was in 1993 and was not only the U.S. premiere of “The Wind in the Willows,” it was the premiere for the entire Western Hemisphere. At the time, the original production was still on stage at the National Theatre in London and players were not allowed to reference that fact. Directed by Jane Skofield with the assistance of her husband Herman, they spent months retaining the rights to produce the play in the U.S. after learning about it during a trip to London.

While it’s the same story, with a slightly shortened script from the original, this year’s production will be different in several ways, from the costumes and set design to the music. However, it is the same charming story with the same delightful characters, and many cast members from the 1993 production are either reprising their original roles or appearing in new ones. And don’t let the term “children’s novel” deceive you into thinking this is a play just for children. Alan Bennett’s script injects plenty of sly jokes for the adults. This is a play for all ages.

We are dedicating our 2022 production to Jane, who not only directed this and other plays in the early days of The Walpole Players, but was instrumental in making the Players a successful organization and a permanent part of our community. We hope Jane would approve of what we’ve done in her honor.

Tickets will go on sale on May 18, and, for the first time, be available to purchase online through our website, www.TheWalpolePlayers.org. Tickets will also be available at Galloway Real Estate and at the door.

Community Art Garden grand re-opening

CHESTER, Vt. – Please join Community Art Garden on the green at 287 Main St., Chester, Vt. for their grand re-opening celebration on Saturday, May 28 from 1–5 p.m. They will have some fun activities set up on the porch and their friends from Art Camp Studio will be on site with their Art Camper, offering a free craft workshop from 2–4 p.m.

Dear Editor and TRSU families,

Last week we had to share with you information about a staff member being placed on administrative leave. This evening, we received news that Norm Merrill, a teacher at Green Mountain Union High School was arrested after a federal indictment on charges of child pornography.

The press release from the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Vermont can be found here at this link: www.justice.gov/usao-vt/pr/green-mountain-union-high-school-teacher charged-producing-child-sexual-abuse-material.

Providing support and safety for our students, staff, and families during this incredibly difficult time is our priority. This is a shattering experience for all of us.

If you are reluctant to send your child to school on Friday, we understand. They may still attend all after school and weekend events if they choose.

There will be counselors available throughout the day at Green Mountain to help students and staff process this information.

The Chester Police Department is also available to answer questions. Their number is 802-875-2035.

The investigation is ongoing and new information continues to come out. We will try to answer any questions you have.

Sincerely,
Lauren Fierman, Superintendent of Schools

Dear Editor,

Last week, I was interviewed by WCAX News about the recent shootings in Springfield. During that interview, I made comments that, when reported, have been taken as being very critical of Police Chief Mark Fountain and Lieutenant Patrick Call. It was not at all my intention to criticize either of these gentlemen or their work. I apologize to Chief Fountain, Lieutenant Call, and their families for any hurt that my comments have caused them.

Policing in today's society with increased drug usage, increasing gun violence, and severe staffing shortages has become a very difficult profession. This is true not only in Springfield, but also throughout Vermont and our country. It is critical that we support our police. I strongly support the Springfield Police Department, from Chief Fountain and Lieutenant Call to our patrol officers and our dispatchers. They are doing a great job in a very challenging environment, and I thank each and every member of the department for all that they are doing for Springfield.

Sincerely,
Kristi Morris
Chairman, Springfield Selectboard

Dear Editor,

On Saturday, May 21, 2022, the Rockingham Republican Town Committee hosted a Candidates Forum at the Rockingham Meeting House, which ran from 10 a.m. – 12 p.m. Candidates Tyler Austin, Bonnie DePino, and Ryan Coyne participated. All three are running for State Representative here in the Rockingham, Westminster District. Two seats are available.

Tyler Austin wants internet access for all Vermonters so that they can access, among other things, non-corporate news programming. He also spoke against the state government overreach of power in addressing the Covid response. He does not support Article 22/Prop 5, or the procedural mandates such a bill would place on medical professionals.

Bonnie DePino is an educator who wants tax credits for parents who homeschool as well as school choice for parents with students in public education. She is a proponent of gun-rights. DePino does not support late-term abortions and the potential harvesting of human organs, a possibility given the vagueness of Article 22/Prop 5.

Ryan Coyne is a fiscal conservative who considers the teachers' pension deficit of $4 billion, the high property taxes compared to other states, and keeping Vermont's small business climate healthy, to be of utmost importance in the November elections. Coyne does not believe we should be altering the language of the state constitution in regards to Prop 5. He also believes that the most common ground between the two parties concerns the environment, but that more research on the negative environmental impact of automotive lithium batteries is needed.

Tuesday, Aug. 9 is the Republican primary. The Town Committee plans to continue hosting candidate forums on the last Saturday of the month until the general elections on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Forums will be held at the Rockingham Meeting House from 10 a.m. – 12 p.m.

For more information, please contact Bill Morse at williammorse42@gmail.com or call at 802-591-1793.

Sincerely,
Bill Morse
Rockingham, Vt.

Dear Editor,

With the release of the census data comes redistricting in Vermont, which tries to make one representative for every 4200 constituents. I have been a resident of Putney for 40 years, so my district is Windham-4, which has had two representatives and two senators for the last ten years. Because Windham County lost about 17% of its population since the last census, Putney and Dummerston lost one representative: Michelle Bos-Lun.

This is great news for folks living in Westminster, Brookline, and Rockingham, the towns in her new district. I want to introduce you to Michelle Bos-Lun, who serves on the Corrections and Institutions committee, from a current constituent's viewpoint. That committee submitted a budget that increased funds for public housing, clean water, and state park improvements.

To highlight some of her other Montpelier activities: Bos-Lun co-sponsored the Child Care bill which both increased affordability of quality childcare for families, and the Youth Council bill which passed in 2022, and cosponsored the Community Schools bill, which passed in 2021.

She did intensive work this year with students around the state from VSARN (VT Students Against Racism Network) to develop a vision on how to support schools working against racism. She regularly attends the Social Equity Caucus in the Vermont Statehouse to keep aware of challenges and pending solutions to a range of Vermont social justice issues including health care and economic and racial justice issues.

Michelle Bos-Lun is on top of key issues for all Vermonters. Please go to an event where she is speaking to hear her understanding of the issues for yourself.

Sincerely,
Candace Brown

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR SUBMISSIONS

Subject to space. May be edited for clarity, grammatical errors, and libelous statements. Must be kept under 400 words. Must include name and town for publication. Viewpoints do not necessarily reflect the views of The Vermont Journal & The Shopper.

Dear Editor,

For all voters of Westminster, Bellows Falls, and Brookline.

The elections are coming up and all voters who believe in free elections, government for all, and that all people are equal need to pay attention. Our freedoms are in jeopardy! Sorry, but if you have not watched or read the news lately our values are under attack.

Political conservatives may take over both the Senate, House, and the Presidency. This will create such a conservative series of laws it will take decades to clean up.

Michelle Bos-Lun and Leslie Goldman are two candidates 100% for the people. Michelle cosponsored legislation, signed into law on: community schools, childcare, sustainable transportation planning, and support for public school employee health benefits.

Leslie is working on improving health care access and quality and reducing costs. She is supporting legislation on addressing the climate crisis, workforce development, social justice, and rural economics.

Please vote for Leslie and Michelle and our rights.

Sincerely,
Matt Conkin,
Westminster, Vt.

Alan Coburn, 1951-2022

WINDHAM, Vt. – Alan “Butch” Coburn, 70, passed away May 16, 2022, at his home in Windham, Vt. He battled with lung cancer for several years, but even so, his death was sudden and unexpected. He was born Oct. 9, 1951, at Grace Cottage Hospital in Townshend, Vt. to Donald and Jean (Ingraham) Coburn.

Alan attended school at Leland and Grey Seminary. He entered the Navy in 1976, after which he owned and operated Coby’s Sales & Service for several years. He went on to work 39 years in the mining industry, which was his passion. After 17 years with the Mine Safety and Health Administration, Alan retired from his job as a Mine Inspection Supervisor with the Federal Government in 2018.

“Butch” enjoyed many years of riding Harley-Davidson motorcycles. In his later years, he found just as much joy driving Ford Mustangs. He was an avid NASCAR racing fan and loved cheering on the University of Alabama college football team.

In his retirement, Alan enjoyed his love for warm weather and spending time on the sandy beaches in Alabama and Florida. He later moved back to Vermont to spend more time with his children and grandchildren.

Alan is predeceased by his parents and two siblings. He is survived by his two children: Alison (Joseph) Barone of Valatie, N.Y. and Aaron Tate (Thayla) Coburn of Andover, Vt., as well as his beloved grandchildren: Marcus, Cobie, and Isabelle, two siblings, and many other beloved extended family members.

A memorial service will be held Thursday, May 26, 2022, at 4 p.m. at the Windham Congregational Church.

Directly following the service, we will gather to share our favorite memories and stories – to laugh, to cry, and to remember a wonderful person who will be deeply missed.

Davis Memorial Chapel is assisting with the arrangements.

Rhoda Devarney, 1947-2022

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Rhoda Jeanne Devarney passed away May 3, 2022 after living with Alzheimer’s for nine years. She was born Sept. 2, 1947 in Gardner, Mass. After marrying Bruce, they relocated to Vermont and worked hard to gain their independence while raising their family. With three of their four children serving in the armed forces, they were fortunate to see the world from many perspectives. She was precious to many, an exceptional woman, a dedicated friend, an extraordinary wife, a free-spirited mother, and an inspirational grandmother and great-grandmother.

Rhoda was never bothered when her husband threatened to nail the furniture to the floor as she was a master furniture visionary and loved decorating their home. She was dubbed as the queen of vacuuming and a pyromaniac, as she would burn just about anything in their woodstove! Her passions were reading and writing as she was whimsical, creative, and witty. Nevermind our ability or inability to read her chicken scratch handwriting, scribbled on distant postcards or elegant stationery.

A lover of music, she was known to many as “The Dancing Queen.” Some of her favorites: Rod Stewart, Van Morrison, Michael Bubl , and Andrea Bocelli. The front-runner being “Cocaine” by Eric Clapton. She would shimmy her way across the wooden floorboards of their kitchen, continuing to show off her moves even through her illness. She would encourage anyone to be her dance partner, especially the men. They never stood a chance to turn down her offer! Her energy was contagious as she was amusing, lively, and entertaining.

She is survived by her husband, Bruce, and their children: Ken, Chris, Allison, and Marlo; grandchildren: Kristen, Thayne, Aria, Kenzie, and Hattie; great-grandchildren: Chase and Holly; and her cherished friend, Irene Michaud. We would like to thank Bayada/Hospice for their support and Becky Klopchin, a very special lady, for her caring, loving nature and round-the-clock care she provided.

Rhoda will always be remembered for her spunky, vivacious spirit. “Be courageous and be brave, and in my heart you’ll always stay Forever Young.” So, the next time you hear Michael Bubl  or Rod Stewart, think of Rhoda, or better yet, dance!

Edward Dupell, 1956-2022

UNITY, N.H. – Edward Dean Dupell, 65, of Unity, N.H., passed away unexpectedly at his home on May 12, 2022.

He was born on Sept. 25, 1956 to Thomas Dupell Sr. and Frances (Griffin) Way. He grew up with his siblings, cousins, and friends in Alstead, N.H., where his love of the outdoors and his lifelong passion for hunting and fishing was born.

As a young man, he excelled in all sports. This included boxing, where he was two-time golden glove cruiserweight southpaw champion.

His mother and family where the heart of his existence. He and his mother were passionate Celtics fans and seldom missed a game. Nor did they miss many flea and yard sales. Eddie loved the serenity and freedom of living in the mountains of Unity.

He is survived by his brother Thomas Dupell (wife Deborah), sisters Diane Mispel and Patricia Hutchins (husband Al), and nieces and nephews Tom, Patrick, Albie, Ben, Tara, and Shia.

He leaves behind many cousins and dear friends, as well as his beloved Aunt June Moore and best fur friend Blue.

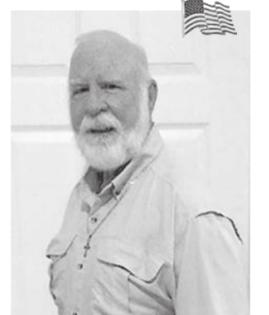

He is predeceased by his mother, father, stepfather Edward Way, and sister Deborah Martin.

There will be a graveside service on Saturday, June 4 at 11 a.m. at Pine Grove Cemetery, Pine Grove Rd., Alstead, N.H., followed by a celebration of life gathering at the Third Congregational Church, River St., Alstead, N.H.

Michelle Leitgeb, 1968-2022

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Michelle Dee Leitgeb, 53, of Bellows Falls, Vt. passed away peacefully after a courageous battle with cancer, surrounded by family and with her beloved daughter holding her hand on Thursday, May 12, 2022. She was born Dec. 17, 1968 in Keene, N.H. to Sandra Lanou and Michael Blanchard.

Mickey attended Westminster Center School, Central Elementary, and was a 1987 graduate of Bellows Falls Union High School. As a single mom, Mickey worked hard to complete her Bachelor’s Degree online through Johnson State College, completing her Business degree in May of 2016. Mickey worked at various jobs including Vermont Apple, Hill House Day Care Center, and most recently WNESU. She spent the last 20 years working with special needs students and recently moved to the Health Office Assistant at the high school. Through her years at the school district she touched so many student’s lives, along with her coworkers. She had many students that she lovingly referred to as “her kids.” She attended sporting events, graduations, birthday parties, and more for these students.

If you ever needed to find her, your best bet would be to check the beach. To her, Hampton Beach was home. She loved being at the race-track, outside walking, going on adventures, and always had a plan. She loved summer, flamingos, cats, and of course her boy bands like New Kids on the Block. She took great pride in her porch in the fall and summer, always filling it with flowers. She spent every minute with her daughter. They were always going somewhere and finding something to do, all while laughing the entire time. When she got sick, her daughter stayed by her side, never straying. They were a package deal; where one went, so did the other. Mickey had the most sarcastic, dry sense of humor and you never knew what was going to come out of her mouth.

She is predeceased by her father, Michael Blanchard; mother Sandra Lanou; grandmother Phyllis Leitgeb and grandfather Robert. She is survived by her pride and joy daughter, Samantha Barth; sister Jaelyn (Jackie) Lanou; brothers Jamie Lanou and wife Beth, and Joseph Lanou. She is also survived by nieces and nephews Logan, Jackson, and Wyatt Coutermarsh; Jenna and Joselyn Lanou; and Jonathan, JoLynn, and Autumn Lanou.

Calling hours will be Saturday, June 4 from 1–3 p.m. at Fenton and Hennessy in Bellows Falls, Vt. Per Mickey’s request, please don’t wear all black. There will be a private family only graveside service following. There will be a Celebration of Life at a later date. In lieu of flowers, please send donations to the Windham County Humane Society at P.O. Box 397, Brattleboro, VT 05302 or online at the Windham County Humane Society website.

LEGAL NOTICES

Fraud Watch Network: Scamming is everywhere —

REGION – Sadly, the amount of money and information lost to fraud and scams has steadily increased over the last decade and actually accelerated in the past two years. This seems to defy logic. After all, common wisdom tells us that there is a greater awareness of criminal activity given the work of AARP, the BBB, government agencies, and business. But scammers are successful because, regardless of the educational effort, human nature works against the victims. Here are a few of the reasons we see for not heeding warnings.

1) At the top of the list, “I’m too smart to be scammed.” Quite often, education is cited as a reason for ignoring the message, but the reality is that the criminals target “smart” people because advanced education means higher salaries and greater assets. A cardiologist may be “smart” in terms of medical knowledge, but far less capable in thwarting the criminal. A criminal is a professional, well-schooled in scamming. 2) “The message is being delivered by AARP, and if I’m not a member, or for that matter, I’m not old or retired, I may not see the message as relevant to me.” But fraud is not the province of senior citizens. In reality, there are more fraud victims between the ages of 25 – 45 than victims over the age of 65; 3) Next, “I don’t have much money so they won’t care about me.” True, the wealthy make for nice targets, but stealing money or information from them is more difficult and involves more work. Scamming a lot of people out of a few hundred dollars each may not carry a big reward, but several small payoffs can be just as profitable in the long run.

There are steps to take that will help. First, avoid “The Ether,” a heightened state of emotion. A late-night call from a friend or family member in trouble, a threatening notice of pending arrest, or a congratulatory call from Publisher’s Clearing House can put you in the ether. When confronted by an emotional situation, don’t succumb to urgency. Step back and allow reason to return.

Know that technology can be manipulated. Phone numbers on a caller ID can be altered by a computer. You may want to consider not answering the phone unless you recognize the number displayed. Be prepared to hang up when you sense something wrong. Be wary of robocalls; most are scams. Don’t connect with an agent and ignore instructions for removal from a call list. That action will only confirm your number as operational and set you up for more calls.

As a computer user, be cautious entering information on websites. Never provide ID’s and passwords, unless you can verify the website as correct. Examine the address line on the web page or address on an email message to confirm its accuracy. A scammer may create a copycat website for TDbank.com with the name TDbnk.com.

One final self-defense step for today: Be cautious with postings on social media. Scammers examine social media and profile intended victims for scams.

Taking these few steps will go far in providing a degree of protections from victimization.

VT Wage replacement bill

MONTPELIER, Vt. – The small business community and members of Main Street Alliance and Vermont Businesses for Social Responsibility applaud the Vermont General Assembly on the passage of S.11, a workforce and economic development bill that would establish a program to provide wage replacement for workers experiencing loss of work for reasons associated with Covid-19.

Throughout the Covid-19 pandemic, Vermonters everywhere have been asked to stay home and isolate or care for others in the event of an exposure – and by and large Vermonters have risen to the occasion, not only to keep themselves safe, but also those around them.

At the height of the pandemic, Congress acted to give businesses tools to ensure employees have the financial security to stay healthy and whole. The federal Families First Coronavirus Relief Act required businesses to provide emergency paid sick leave and expanded family and medical leave for those impacted by Covid-19. In return, businesses received FFCRA payroll tax credits, which partially covered the costs of providing this benefit. These credits were later expanded with the passage of the American Rescue Plan Act for those who voluntarily provided leave.

All told, Vermont businesses utilized approximately $45 million in FFCRA credits to cover the costs of providing paid leave to their employees, however the federal program expired as of Sept. 30 of 2021, leaving them to either pay for these benefits out of pocket or eliminate them entirely.

At the start of the legislative session, which coincided with the height of the Omicron surge, over 100 small businesses and nonprofits and over 500 workers from throughout the state signed on to a letter of support to the legislature to establish a Covid Paid Leave Grant Program.

As written, S.11 would appropriate almost $15.2 million dollars for a program that would run from July 1, 2022, through June 30, 2023. This program would provide up to 40 hours of Covid paid leave for a worker at 100% wage replacement up to $21.25 an hour. Employers can apply for this program on a quarterly basis.

Rockingham Meeting House opens for season

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – The Rockingham Meeting House will open for the 2022 season on Saturday, May 28, 2022. Visitors are welcome daily through Indigenous People's Day, from 11 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Built in 1787, the meeting house remains substantially in its original form and is the oldest public building in Vermont that remains unchanged. It is a designated National Historic Landmark.

The meeting house served as both a place of worship and the town hall until 1869, when it was abandoned for several decades. In 1906, the building was restored to its current state – one of the earliest historic preservation projects in Vermont – leaving intact its king-post timber framing, finely detailed woodwork and its “pig pen” box pews. The building hosts an annual pilgrimage in August as part of the town's “Old Home Days” celebrations.

The meeting house is owned by the town of Rockingham and operated as a museum, with skilled docents on hand to offer additional information about the architecture and history of the building. The adjacent cemetery, which is in use to this day, contains more than 1,000 graves and is a treasure trove of information about the lives and deaths of the town's early settlers, as well as some of the finest gravestone art to be found in New England.

The meeting house is located just north of the village of Bellows Falls and Interstate 91 Exit 6, just off VT Route 103.

Pianist Carolyn Enger at First Universalist Parish

CHESTER, Vt. – World-renowned pianist Carolyn Enger, who takes periodic southern Vermont breaks from her musical journeys, will bring her talent to the First Universalist Parish of Chester on Tuesday, May 31 at 7:30 p.m.

Enger has performed in venues as nationally familiar as Carnegie Hall and the Lincoln Center, and as far away as the National Gallery of Oslo and the Felicia Blumenthal Center in Tel Aviv. Her 2013 Naxos recording of music by Ned Rorem, “Piano Album I,” was selected as one of “The New York Times” “Best in Classical Recordings.”

The concert will, like much of her recent work, include visual elements, which she highlights with music. Her “Resonating Earth” uses music ranging from the Baroque to the present alongside imagery of the environment by Peabody Award-winning producer Elliott Forrest, visual artist Myles Aronowitz, and environmental activist and photographer J Henry Fair – snippets can be seen and heard at www.bit.ly/ResonatingEarthPlaylist.

The Chester concert will be free and open to the public, with a suggested donation to be divided among the church, the Chester Family Center, and the Chester Community Greenhouse & Gardens.

Alan Bykko, Memorial Day Remembrance

Here's an appropriate article for Memorial Day. It is written by Richard Fenton of Springfield. Memorial Day is much more than a barbecue.

Memorial Day gives us a chance to pause, reflect, and be thankful for the freedom won by those who served and protected us. My thoughts go to childhood experiences watching my dad, Merrill Fenton, marching in the Chester Memorial Day Parade. Also remembered was my uncle, whom I never met. My dad and my uncle Alan Bykko grew up in Chester about a mile from each other. Dad was born in Chester in 1919 in the house at the fork-in-the-road formed by Route 11 and Blue Hill Road. During the depression his family moved to West Chester, to what is now called Fenton Road.

Alan was born in Fox-hill, N.J. in 1920. His parents emigrated from Finland to Ellis Island, N.Y. His dad, my Ukki (grandfather), came from Oulu and arrived on the S.S. Baltic, May 30, 1914. My Mummo (grandmother) came from Iisalmi on the S.S. Mauretania Aug. 16, 1912. Ukki was born Juho Einar Pyykko, but changed his name to John Einar Bykko, for easier American pronunciation. The Bykko family finally moved to Andover Road, a short way from Route 11. My dad repeated a school year because of sickness, so he and Alan were in the same high school class in Chester. Alan must have been quite an athlete. Pictures show him doing handstands and diving off the "high" board at the Chester Pool. I know he rode a motorcycle with my dad, and I have one of his cross-country ski medals, probably from the winter events held at the Pinnacle.

Alan was inducted into the Army on Oct. 11, 1941 and trained with the engineers at Army Camps, state side, before going overseas. Alan served 14 months in Europe as a member of General Patten's 135th Engineers, attaining the rank of T/Sgt. (Technical Sargent). Noted by his Captain: "As Intelligence N.C.O (Non-commissioned Officer) of this battalion, Alan was often called upon and assigned difficult and important missions, which he handled confidentially and efficiently. In the absence of the Bn S-2 (Battalion Security Officer), Alan often took that officer's place and, acting in his capacity, took complete charge of the entire section and assumed all the responsibility for its operation."

Alan was the first man to enter the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp on April 11, 1945. Buchenwald, with its satellites, was one of the largest concentration camps within the German borders in 1937. That day in April, in anticipation of the liberation, prisoners stormed the watchtowers and took control of the camp. Later that afternoon, U.S. Liberation Forces entered the camp and found 21,000 people left there (the Nazis had moved many prisoners in anticipation of the liberating forces). It would not be until May 8-9, 1945 that the Instrument of Surrender is signed for Europe. May 8, 1945 would be designated

V-E (Victory Europe) day. June 1945 found Alan at Military R&R located in the Alps at Reid, Austria. Alan called it "our rest home." He sent photos from that area to his mom. On one photo he writes: "Here is the fellows that I work with. Everyone is a good friend of mine. I am standing in the middle. I sure look skinny. So mommy, when Betty and I come home, you will have to fatten me up." Alan married Betty in 1943. On June 17, 1945, Headquarters Company was preparing to move from Ried to Mark Schwabeu, Germany. Alan and his S-2 section left in advance of the company. Alan was driving a three-quarter-ton truck. About four miles out, on a narrow dirt road, a Hiney (German) truck crowded Alan off the road. The truck hit a guardrail made of railroad tracks. The guardrail upright ran through the radiator and floorboard pinning Alan to the seat. Even though Alan was rushed to the hospital in Ried, he died June 20, 1945. The Bykko family never really recovered from this loss.

I was born July 3, 1945 and was given the honor of carrying Alan's name as part of my own. It is with some sorrow that I never met my uncle, but I am also proud Alan performed a meaningful part in helping preserve freedom and democracy for future generations.

This week's old saying my mother used to say when one of us was standing between her and the TV: "You make a better door than you do a window."

Curb invasive species on the river

REGION – The Connecticut River Valley Chapter of Trout Unlimited urges river users to "Get ready, Get set, and Pause." It is up to you to protect the Connecticut River and its tributaries from invasions of exotic plants and animals, and that means, whether you use a powerboat, row, canoe, kayak, float, wade, swim, dive, fish, or sail, all river enthusiasts have a personal responsibility to protect the river and its tributaries.

There are no "fixes" once exotics establish themselves in a new habitat. If these invaders find their new surroundings welcoming, their numbers explode because they do not face predators that usually control their numbers.

Uncontrolled explosions of plant life deny native species their usual habitat. They also create problems for humans; just ask anyone living on a lake where Eurasian milfoil or water chestnut has taken hold, or someone whose beach was closed because of an unnaturally large bust of cyanobacteria feed by nutrient loading.

All river enthusiasts should act as though every waterbody harbors problem species. Rely on the precautionary principle, be safe not sorry. Check, clean, or dry.

Check: At the ramp during trailering, thoroughly inspect your boat's hull, drive unit, trim plates, trolling plates, prop guards, transducers, anchor and anchor rope, and trailer, and scrape off and properly dispose of any suspected mussels and all waterweeds hanging from boat or trailer.

Clean: Before launching your boat, you should thoroughly flush the hull, drive unit, live wells, any pumping system, bilge, trailer, bait buckets, and engine cooling water system. Drain all bilge water, live wells, bait buckets, and any other water from your boat and equipment at the ramp as you leave a water body. One quick way to clean the exterior of a boat is the guide's trick of using a hot hard spray at do-it-yourself carwash.

Dry: If you cannot clean your water toys or tools, boats and trailers, PFDs, fishing waders, water shoes and boots, etc., dry them thoroughly in the sun for up to five days before using them in another water body. Hot water pumped through an engine's intake is one method of preventing zebra mussel growth inside an engine's cooling system. Do not use chlorine bleach or other damaging washing solutions in the water or next to the shore.

Both Vermont and New Hampshire have recently increased boater responsibilities to prevent moving invasives among water bodies including enforcement provisions for boat owners. If it's a plant of any kind, exotic or not, and you transport it to a water body different than the plants origin you are liable for a fine.

Lily Pond Highlands conservation

WINDHAM COUNTY, Vt. – The Windmill Hill Pinnacle Association signed a conservation easement with the Vermont Land Trust and the Vermont Housing and Conservation Board on May 5, 2022 on an ecologically diverse 615-acre parcel recently acquired in Windham County. Known as Lily Pond Highlands and located in the towns of Athens, Brookline, and Townshend, the land was purchased in May 2021 by WHPA and the signing by the co-holders of the easement is the final step in the conservation of this rugged landscape.

Lily Pond Highlands lies west of Hedgehog Gulf and Grassy Brook Road and is connected to the WHPA's 2100-acre reserve to the east by the Town Line Trail, with a trailhead just across Grassy Brook Road.

WHPA's management goal is to allow the forest to mature into old growth conditions whereby it will store a significant amount of carbon. These mature forests will also provide old forest habitat that is underrepresented in the region and will support the diverse range of species that depend on it.

The land that now comprises Lily Pond Highlands was owned for years by James Massey of Westminister West. WHPA realized the importance of this parcel of land and discussed with Mr. Massey his wish to see it remain undeveloped. After Mr. Massey's death, the land passed to his two nephews in Ohio, James and Joseph Massey, who knew their uncle's wish for the land to be conserved, and honored it in the terms of the property transfer. With the addition of the Lily Pond Highland parcel, 3,350 acres of land is protected along the Windmill Hill Ridgeline and on the parallel ridgeline continuing into Townshend to the west by WHPA, Putney Mountain Association, and other landholders.

An extensive ecological assessment was conducted at Lily Pond Highlands in 2021 by ecologist Brett Engstrom, helped by Andrew Toepfer, who assisted with fieldwork, cartography, and information on cultural features. The assessment brought to light important features of the land:

- The report called Lily Pond "a natural pond and gem" and said that a total of 34 wetlands covering approximately 22 acres "are by far the most important habitat for rare, threatened, endangered, and uncommon plant species."

- It noted the remarkable brooks, many acres of mast trees used heavily by black bears, and food sources and denning spots supporting a wide range of wildlife.

- It listed ten plant species listed as endangered, rare, or uncommon, 12 vernal pools of which six are state significant, nine wetland and forest communities that are state significant, and habitat for wood turtles (an uncommon Vermont species).

This summer, Rich Holschuh and Melody Walker Mackin of the Atowi Project in Brattleboro will carry out a "traditional cultural landscape assessment" of Lily Pond Highlands in an effort to contribute to the growing awareness of the connection between the land and the indigenous people who have lived on it for over 12,000 years.
