CTES collects for Ukraine

CAVENDISH, Vt. – They looked under the couch, in the laundry room, and in the car for coins to put into the containers in their classrooms. The Cavendish Town Elementary School students, parents, and community members collected coins for Save the Children, earmarked to help children in Ukraine. The total amount collected was $442.80.

Mountain bike trails, rental registry, and hybrid meetings all get a nod

BY SHARON HUNTLEY
The Vermont Journal

LUDLOW, Vt. – During their May 2 meeting, the Ludlow Selectboard gave their support and a tentative pledge for $10,000 in matching funds for the mountain bike trail project on the “Back 40,” town land located behind Ludlow Elementary School. They also determined the structure and size for establishing a Ludlow rental registry committee, and agreed to set up remote access for hybrid selectboard meetings starting in July.

Mariel Meringelo, a Mountain Bike Committee member working with the Ludlow Recreation Department, spoke to the board and said she already had fundraising commitments for $10,250. Once the board provided their support for the project and approved the $10,000 in match money, she would collect the money to begin Phase I, which is estimated to cost $20,000, and includes a beginners loop and pump track. Ludlow Municipal Manager Scott Murphy confirmed they had $40,000 in available funds in their Recreation fund to draw from.

Several community members expressed their support for the project including Marissa Selleck who is on the board of the Expeditionary School at Black River. She also passed along messages of support from ESBR Head of School Kendra Rickerby, and Two Rivers Supervisory Union Superintendent Lauren Fierman. ESBR is planning a course that would include trail maintenance as part of their curriculum.

Although the board offered initial support and enthusiasm for the project, several questions were raised including whether the project had resources and manpower for ongoing trail maintenance, what permitting issues the project might face, and who would be responsible for liability.

The board agreed to give their consensus to move forward with the project as well as a tentative commitment for the $10,000 match, but said they would make the final agreement at an upcoming special meeting planned for Monday, May 16 once the Mountain Bike Committee, Rec. Dept., and Murphy could provide some answers about insurance, specifically whether that insurance might be available through the Vermont Mountain Bike Association, whether Act 250 permitting would be needed, and input from the Recreation Department and volunteers on maintenance.

Schmidt emphasized that this project, as with the skate park, is something that, if the town is committed to do, “We got to do it 100%,” saying the town will ultimately be responsible to keep the area safe and well maintained. “So if we’re committed, we got to be committed long term.”

The board approved moving forward to form a Ludlow Rental Registry Committee and determined the board would include seven members in total: two from the selectboard; one from the Ludlow Planning Commission; and four from other stakeholders in the community. Appointments to that committee will also happen on May 16. Justin Hyjek and Scott Baitz volunteered to be the selectboard members to serve on the committee.

Hyek clarified that the registry would be used fairly and should not be seen as a punishment for short term rentals, but that they should be regulated as a commercial entity and added that the process could incentive some landlords to reconsider using their rental space differently. He also suggested that both short and long-term rentals should be a part of the registry, which seemed to be a consensus shared among several residents that attended the meeting, but would ultimately be determined by the committee itself.

One concern raised was receiving buy-in from the Ludlow Village Trustees for a rental registry, since they have openly opposed the suggestion in the past. Schmidt confirmed that the selectboard did not have authority over the trustees in matters concerning the village area.

The Ludlow Selectboard agreed to shift from in-person only meetings to a hybrid option, providing both in-person coverage and remote capabilities. How this might impact town meeting will still be up for discussion.

Murphy said that a remote system is being installed within the next two weeks and once installed they will be able to cover the meeting remotely with one attendee from Okemo Valley TV to operate the system.

The first hybrid meeting could be ready by the June meeting but more likely it would launch in July.

At the beginning of the meeting, Schmidt introduced new board member Robert Blandt, who has replaced Heather Tucker.

Appointments to vacant seats on the Planning Commission, Development Review Board, the Recreation Department, as well as other vacant town positions will be assigned at the special meeting on Monday, May 16, when letters of interest will be reviewed and public interviews held before appointing members.

The next Ludlow Selectboard meeting is their special meeting planned for Monday, May 16 at 6 p.m. Their next regular selectboard meeting is scheduled for Monday, June 6 at 6 p.m. Both will be at Ludlow Town Office in the Heald Auditorium.

Plymouth proceeds with tax sales and ARPA grants

BY SHAWNTAE WEBB
The Vermont Journal

PLYMOUTH, Vt. – At the May 2 meeting, the Plymouth Selectboard approved the waste and recycling contracts with ABLE Waste, agreed to proceed with the Hawk Properties tax sales, and approved ARPA grants for small business improvements to help make the town look a little more appealing.

Art Lynds from ABLE Waste presented five-year contract renewals to the board for both waste and recycling. There were increases to both contracts, mainly for rises in disposal and trucking costs. Solid waste went from about $96 per ton to $120 per ton this year, and recycling increased from about $117 per ton to $123 per ton. The rates are based on an estimated average tonnage, and fluctuate with volume. The board approved the rate increases and contracts with ABLE, which are effective July 1. They also re-appointed Lynds to be the district representative for Plymouth.

Steve Ankuda, the town's tax attorney, recommended the town postpone the second set of tax sales for the Hawk Properties, because Hawk Inn, the Restaurant, and the main Hawk Properties have a signed purchase sales agreement with a closing date set for June. The pending sale closing date was originally set in May, and has already been postponed. The board expressed their concerns for further delays, questioning how long they should wait on a tentative sale before moving forward. Town attorney Bill Meub is representing one of the parties, so getting legal advice from him is a conflict of interest.

Board member Keith Cappellini commented the owners didn't pay their taxes and were “asking for some leeway... but it's not up to us to grant that leeway.” The property owners have 12 months after the tax sale to buy the property back and make the sale.

Selectman Rick Kaminski questioned how the tax sale would affect the closing of a property, to which the board didn't feel that it would have any impact on a potential purchase. If they do close in June, the purchasing party can come forward and pay the fees and still take ownership of the property.

Cappellini continued, “The deal might actually fall apart,” and the board would still be left to sell the properties with delinquent taxes.

Chair Jay Kullman noted that the owners have dealt with some hardships in the past, but ultimately agreed, “Nobody has given me a compelling reason [to postpone the tax sale]... if I'm going to vote on this, my responsibility is to the town.” Kullman continued, “Unless an attorney can tell us how it will benefit the town by delaying this, I'm wanting to proceed.”

The board voted unanimously to move forward as planned with the Hawk Properties tax sales. The date will be confirmed and announced at the next selectboard meeting.

Kaminski also noted that tax sales will be conducted every two years; “This won't be dragged out every five years anymore.”

Kaminski then gave an update on the town building renovations project with a budget breakdown: design development $72,756, commissioning $14,775, permit and copying $10,000, inspection and testing $10,000, contingency $10,000, and construction estimates and materials $843,000. They are soliciting contractor bids at the next meeting, looking for them to be around $843,000.

The renovation plan continues: execute a contract and have contractors order materials to lock in those prices now, as well as store those materials that have long lead times to get. The projected start date of construction is April 1, 2023 with a completion date of Oct. 1, 2023. “The flow should be really efficient during construction, because we know we have all of our materials right here,” Kaminski explained. He noted the pre-bid walk-through was informative, and they communicated the project very well to the bidders. “There is always going to be hidden conditions [in any renovation project], but we tried to anticipate what we could.”

Kullman then proposed to use a portion of the ARPA funds to make grants available to small businesses and nonprofits for painting, landscaping, and to help make the town look a little more appealing. Good Commons, Salt Ash Inn, Echo Lake Inn, the church, and the Inn at Waters Edge are all examples of businesses that would be eligible for the grants. Kullman suggested that they allow a grant of up to $7,500 for each project, with a maximum of $40,000 of the ARPA funds used on these grants. The application process would also require that the applicants suffered hardships from Covid.

The idea for the ARPA grants pairs nicely with the downtown village center development program that Kullman has been working on, designating specific downtown village areas to be recognized by the state. After some discussion, the ARPA grant proposal was approved to move forward.

Revisions and adoptions need to be made to the Town Policy manual, however the board agreed that this was more of a formality and other pressing issues were more of a priority. They tentatively agreed to look at those revisions in August.

Kaminski reported on a lot that the town owns out on Johnson's Farm Road, and proposed logging a portion of the lot to create a parking lot for the ATV trail. Currently, residents are parking their vehicles and trailers on the side of the road to use the trail, which is causing a bit of a roadway concern. There is potential to get multiple uses out of the lot, which could include hiking trails or other recreational purposes. The board would like to hear from the town on the potential of the

News from Fletcher Memorial Library

LUDLOW, Vt. – The Fletcher Memorial Library staff is ecstatic; FML was selected by the Vermont Department of Libraries to be one of 30 initial participants in their new, downloadable service named “Palace.” “Palace” is a software app, like our “Libby.” The new VTLib service uses Palace to access the collections.

Jill L., adult reference, has been a busy bee, sorting all of the drawers and cabinets under our marble circulation desk. It is a very long and tedious process, and we are getting closer to cataloging everything and adding it into our online collection. Sooner than later, it will be accessible by our library members.

Our yearbook collection, “Black River Academy, 1930–1938” and, “Black River High School, 1939–2020,” is now available online. Go to www.fmlnews.org and click the tab in the menu for “Yearbooks” to search, print, and cut and paste, all from your own device or from within the library. Copyright free. There is a tutorial from the company on our page as well. In the future, as time allows, we will make an easy step-by-step cheat sheet.

A new catalog patron access page called, “ASPEN,” is coming by July. It will be integrated into our system and replace the awkward one which is there now. ASPEN is much more intuitive and useful.

We are in high hopes of bringing back our Annual Book Sale, which would take place Aug. 20, and our Holiday Silent Auction, which would take place in November. These are our only fundraisers and we have missed them. Please hold all book donations until July 15. Book Donations are only accepted from July 15 to Aug. 15.

Are you interested in assisting with our book sale? Please call Beth at 802-228-8921.

Our first post-Covid book discussion is in development. If you would like to be on a mailing list for notifications, please call and let Beth know.

Whiting Library presents foster care story hour

CHESTER, Vt. – Tuesday, May 10, 2022 at 3 p.m. at 117 Main St., Whiting Library celebrates National Foster Care Month with a special family story hour. This event combines the library’s monthly kid’s book clubs to focus on learning about foster care, adoption, and family differences. Youth Services Librarian Carrie King will do a read aloud from books that engage kids and get them learning about foster care. The library will have a collection of relevant books available for check out about foster care and adoption. Books help children better understand different families, so that children in foster care aren’t left out or secluded for their differences or traumas.

Special guest Michelle Springer-Blake, a Recruitment and Retention Specialist for the Department for Children and Families, will join the group to discuss how attendees can support foster care in Vermont. Springer-Blake encourages all families in the community to come and learn about foster care at the library. She says, “I think if we can collaborate and share the love of reading, children, and families, together we can make a difference in our world a little at a time!” Everyone who loves story time will enjoy this event, and Springer-Blake will be on hand to answer questions for those who want to know more about becoming involved in foster care.

Community Art Garden splashes onto the scene

CHESTER, Vt. – As you enter the newly remodeled space at 287 Main St., Chester, Vt., your eyes are immediately drawn to rows upon rows of beautiful glass jars holding creative materials that line the walls. From recycled subway tiles to natural pussy willows, this studio holds magic in every corner, as well as just about every art supply you could imagine. Next to the big picture window in front sits an extensive collection of natural materials: pinecones, daffodils, smooth pebbles, scallop shells, zinnia, marigold, and more, all neatly tucked into glass jars. Behind the register, assorted jars of supplies line long white shelves at eye level, and below, trays of sparkling multi-colored crystal beads sit sorted and stored in various sized seashells. It is all the work of owner and visionary Emily Burkland who feels when things are organized in this way it is pleasing to the eye and easier for people to connect with the materials. This tiny community studio is tucked into the North End of the Green. After a few very quiet years, Community Art Garden is about to come out in a big way.

“The idea, back in 2013 when we first opened, was to create a community art studio meets an exploratory sensory classroom experience,” says Burkland. “The sensory kitchen emerged organically soon after we opened. The kids absolutely love it!” The sensory kitchen sits in the back of the studio and is a special space where kids are encouraged to play with water, natural materials, mortars, pestles, spoons, pots, funnels, sand, etc. It is an indoor sensory playground and it is here where you get a sense of Burkland’s background as an early childhood educator for more than 20 years. It was the art centered “Reggio Emilia Approach” to working with young children that fueled her drive to create a community art studio and atelier, where people of all ages can take a class and be creative, regardless of their skill level. “Feeling creative is important for our development, regardless of our age,” notes Burkland. “I think it is the piece that is missing most from our lives in present day. People ask me what kinds of things I teach at the studio, and I answer, ‘I teach creativity.’”

The reopening will feature a partial line-up of classes this spring. There will be a few days of after-school programming, one morning class, and some Saturday offerings, all kicking off with a grand celebration on Memorial Day weekend, Saturday, May 28 from 1–5 p.m. Starting this year, Community Art Garden will join the bustle of Memorial Day activities on the Chester Green with their first annual Spring Color Splash celebration on Saturday, May 28 from 1–5 p.m.

The creative rainbow of fun starts in spring and carries on all summer long with a new series of Summer Camps on the schedule as well as the return of some favorite homeschool classes for ages 4-8 in the fall of 2022. All of these inspiring invitations can be found at www.communityartgarden.com, where you can join their mailing list and take a virtual peek around the studio. It is an exciting time to be in Chester, and Community Art Garden is ready to embrace the color and spring into creativity.

approximately 61-acre lot. Kaminski also reported the road commission crew was having storage issues with town equipment. Highway Department head Larry Lynds had a solution to buy two 20-foot storage containers to store necessary equipment, and make way in the barn for the tractor, which is currently being stored at the fire department. At $3,000 each, the town has it in the budget to buy the containers. Kullman said he was all for getting more storage if that’s what the crews need, but not to feel obligated to move the tractor unless the fire department needed the extra space.

The town is soliciting paving bids for summer paving for Crimson Hawk and two sections of Lions Hill. Kaminski also discussed Bridge 40 on Billings Road due to an email from a concerned resident. Kaminski pulled the report, and it does need new guardrails and curb repairs. The town currently has a $200,000 structure grant, which is designated to repair Stickney Bridge 39 with the funds available July 1. They can apply for another grant next year for Bridge 40.

There have been four “great interviews” with well-qualified applicants for the Town Clerk position, and two applicants have “risen to the top,” Kullman reported. Further discussion took place in executive session.

The next selectboard meeting is May 16 at 6 p.m.

Talk on Abenaki peoples at Gallery at the VAULT

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Gallery at the VAULT is proud to present, “Traditions of Lakota and Abenaki Peoples,” a photography show by Kathryn Adams on display until May 25 with a talk and stories on Saturday, May 14 at 1 p.m.

The photo is of Chief Arvol Looking Horse, 19th generation keeper of the White Buffalo Calf Pipe on a prayer horseback ride. He is the spiritual leader of the Lakota, Dakota, and Nokota. Learn the story of White Buffalo Calf Woman and the pipe during the talk. This photo was taken when Kate traveled to Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota to learn from the master horse people of the plains.

The Athens Quarry

Here’s another newspaper clipping from Mary Harris’ scrapbook. It dates to 1907. I found the technical language used to describe different jobs particular to the quarrying industry, interesting. The Davis Quarry is up Quarry Road in Chester.

In West Cemetery in Athens, are a number of soapstone gravestones. West Cemetery is up an old road on the crest of a hill. It’s a beautiful resting place.

Danny and I have toured this cemetery and noticed some of the soapstone gravestones have rust colored stains. We wondered why. I’ll bet it’s the diamonds and yellow jackets you’ll read about below:

About a year ago the Union Soapstone Company leased the property known as the Goodrich Quarry, which lies near the boundary line between Athens and Grafton, in the southern part of Vermont, ten miles from the soapstone works at Chester.

The property has been in the possession of the Goodrich family for a great many years. The present owners are T.W. Goodrich of South Bend, Ind., and his brother Edward Goodrich of Exeter, N.H.

This quarry is in Athens; another, a few rods from it, known as the Smith and Butterfield Quarry, is partly in Athens and partly in Grafton, as has been determined by a recent survey.

The latter, frequently called the “lower” quarry, lies idle, as it has for the past 25 years. The former, the “upper” quarry, was leased and worked at one time by the firm of Smith & Butterfield. Later, it was run for three or four years by Williams & Co of Frankestown, N.H. Work upon it was discontinued ten years ago, and was not resumed until the quarry was leased last year by the Union company.

That company, after several months of prospecting in the vicinity, began operations at the Goodrich Quarry some time in August. The work for a few months was mostly blasting, for the body of soapstone, with a front 12 feet high and 80 feet long, lay under 40 feet of “hard-rock.” Such, at least, was the appearance at first, but the “hard-rock” is found to decrease somewhat in depth the farther back it goes, while the depth of the soapstone increases.

Sufficient space having been cleared by the middle of November, stone cutting began, and several hundred tons of soapstone have since been cut out. Twelve men are employed at present. The prospects are that the business will be increased considerably in the near future.

The Union Soapstone Company lately obtained a new lease of the rich soapstone quarry at Chester, known as the Davis Quarry. In their mills at Chester Depot, tubs, sinks, griddles, footstones, register frames, and all other articles made of soapstone are manufactured.

Located near the soapstone mills at Chester Depot are mills for grinding waste pieces of soapstone into a fine dust that is used for many purposes.

In technical language, the men who do the general work around a quarry are “yard help.” The steel drills, 7 or 7 1/2 feet long, sharpened at both ends so they are reversible and weighing about ten pounds each, which are used for cutting soapstone, are “cutting bars,” and a short drill for the same purpose is a “chub.” The excavation, which yarns more and more widely as the work progresses, is the “pit,” while the conveyance that swings from the boom of the derrick and is loaded many times a day with refuse is the “boat,” and the rope for guiding that sort of airship the “tag rope.” A “goose” is an implement used for getting water out of a channel. “Diamonds” or “yellow jackets” are the smooth, shiny cubes, as hard as flint, which are sometimes found in soapstone, which, being ruinous to drill points, are the especial detestation of stone cutters. It takes several months to learn to cut soapstone. Cutters are paid $2 and $2.25 a day and yard help $10 a week. A heavy pair of oxen is used for drawing refuse to the dump, and four or six horses on the stone team that draws the soapstone to the mills. Thousands of tons of soapstone, in blocks averaging perhaps three tons each, have been drawn over the old “ledge road” to be sawed into slabs and made into tubs, etc., in the mills, run by water power, located at Cambridgeport. Those mills are not in use at present, the stone from Goodrich Quarry being drawn to the mills at Chester Depot.

This week’s old saying: “If you want to be rich, stay married.”

Dear Editor,

To the voters of Windsor District 3-1, after much consideration, I have made the difficult decision not to seek re-election to the Vermont House of Representatives. Serving in the State Legislature and representing my constituents from the towns of Chester, Andover, Baltimore, and North Springfield for the past six years has been one of the greatest honors of my life. I am deeply grateful for the confidence which you have placed in me.

As you may be aware, Mariette and I have been in the process of moving to Colchester to be close to family, while still maintaining a residence here in Chester. While I have chosen not to seek re-election, I will continue to serve you as your representative in the remaining months of my term.

I am proud of the work done while serving six years in the legislature. My focus has always been improving the lives of Vermont's families and helping rural economies and communities thrive; committed to a Vermont that works for all of us.

To continue this commitment, it gives me great pleasure to enthusiastically endorse Heather Chase as my successor. I have known Heather for many years; we served together as members on the Chester Selectboard. I know her to be conscientious, caring, and hard working in dealing with the demands of public office. Her involvement in the community as Selectboard Vice Chair has provided her with the knowledge and experience necessary to represent our interests in Montpelier.

As a small business owner, she understands the struggles that face small businesses and can work toward promoting sustainable, economic growth in our communities. She will work toward promoting jobs and fair wages to make Vermont more attractive and affordable to young families.

Redistricting has placed Chester along with Grafton, Athens, and Windham in a new district. I hope you will join me in voting for Heather Chase for State Representative representing this new Windsor/Windham district.

Again, thank you to all who have supported me.

Sincerely,
Representative Thomas Bock
Windsor District, Vt.

Dear Editor,

To the residents of Chester, Grafton, Windham, and Athens, I am excited to announce my candidacy as a Democrat for the Vermont House of Representatives Windsor-Windham District. This is a new House District formed during the 2022 reapportionment process. Currently, Tom Bock represents Chester and Carolyn Partridge represents Grafton, Windham, and Athens. I am proud to have the enthusiastic endorsements of Tom Bock, and former legislators Leigh Dakin and Kathy Pellett, as well as the support of Carolyn Partridge.

It has been my privilege and a wonderful learning opportunity to have served my community as a Chester Selectboard member since 2015 and as Vice Chair since 2017. As well, I am the Chair of the Board of Civil Authority, a Justice of the Peace, having also served briefly as the Town of Chester Health Officer. In 2021, I was appointed by the Governor to serve on the Board of the Vermont Economic Progress Council. Working in these capacities has allowed me to gain expertise and understanding of local and state government.

As a registered nurse active in community health, I started my own business, Corporate Lactation Services, over 26 years ago. Since 2002, when my young family and I moved to Vermont, I've grown my business and raised and educated my four children in Chester. As my children have moved on with their full lives, I now have the time, energy, and passion to further serve my broader community.

Over the course of my professional career and my involvement in town leadership, I have developed skills and knowledge which will be useful in serving as your legislator in addressing the many challenges of our times. When elected, I will work diligently to represent all of you in a problem solving and consensus building manner.

I look forward to meeting with you during my campaign for the Vermont House of Representatives during the next months to share our thoughts and ideas as to how our state government can continue to improve its ability to serve all Vermonters.

I ask for your support and vote on Aug. 9, 2022, in the Democratic Primary election.

Sincerely,
Heather Chase

Dear Editor,

In response to the letter to the editor sent in by the Londonderry Conservation Committee – they are presenting only one side of the options to be considered by the townspeople of Londonderry. Removing dams has become very trendy, but we have other options to investigate before deciding on any final action to be taken in reference to the Williams Dam. The dam is an important part of Londonderry's history, and certainly adds to the aesthetics of our eastern entrance to the town. We could consider and investigate a small hydro project, which could offer benefits to the town in the way of income and generating clean energy (also an environmental benefit). We have time to further study the issues, and there are a lot of people who would like to pursue this option. The Conservation Commission does not speak for all of the residents of the Town of Londonderry.

Sincerely,
Cynthia Gubb

Dear Editor,

To my fellow Vermonters, for the last seventeen years I have worked as a fuel and propane delivery driver serving the residents of Vermont. I am just one of the many drivers and employees in the home heat industry working to make sure you and your loved ones stay warm during the long, dark, and cold Vermont winters.

Without exception, every one of the drivers, technicians, customer service representatives, dispatchers, and managers is laser focused on the goal of giving the best possible service at the best price.

Those of us on the front lines of this industry are all hard working Vermonters. We are not immune to the struggles of the people we serve. Fuel prices this year have gone through the roof and so have the prices of everything else. Even when prices were much lower, it was not easy for many of us to make ends meet while paying to stay warm.

This year, even with the doubling of government fuel assistance, the challenge has been more difficult. While on my daily route, I listen carefully to the pain of low and middle income Vermonters who have had no choice but to go cold and hope for spring to come early. You cannot help but feel the anguish of your neighbors. I understand it. Everyone in the industry understands it. The dominant political party in Montpelier does not understand it. They are callous to the struggle of their constituents.

The evidence of this rude disconnect is a thirty-minute recorded discussion on the morning of April 15 between four of Vermont's Democratic state senators on the committee for natural resources and energy. The conversation is revealing and just plain disgusting for those of us being pinched in these hard economic times. They can be found at this link: www.youtube.com/watch?t=1230&v=dW4zADVny4&feature=youtu.be.

State Senator Mark McDonald (D) and Committee Chair Chris Bray (D-Addison) were discussing the implementation of the "clean heat standard legislation." The worst comments came from McDonald (D), who is quoted as saying, "Before I kill someone to get their clean heat credits, I want to know what the charge is going to be. Embezzlement, scam, securities fraud?" (20:30-52:00), followed up later in the conversation with a response to committee chair Senator Chris Bray (D), who states, "Well for the person who says, 'I don't like that. I don't want to be paying extra.'" Senator McDonald says "Well then, get a blanket for Christ's sake!" (30:55)

I was once a Democrat, for the reason that I believed this party was compassionate and concerned about the people they are elected to serve. A little over fifteen years ago I figured out my beliefs were flawed. Vermonters would be wise to elect state senators who do not mock the people who pay their salaries. As for state senator Mark McDonald (D) you should apologize to every Vermonter and then resign.

Sincerely,
Stu Lindberg

Dear Editor,

Hello from Montpelier. We are fully in the end-of-session shuffle. This is a crazy time of year. It feels like we are close to adjourning, but it is still hard to tell today what is actually going to pass this year aside from what has passed already. It's also uncertain when we will actually adjourn. And even more uncertain, what the Governor will sign and veto of the bills that may pass. It feels like each year that I've been here, this part has gotten crazier, but part of that may be that I'm more aware of what's going on and more involved in conversations that I was not as a first-term legislator.

I think I talked about this in past articles and somewhat at Town Meeting, but my committee spent most of the first half of this session working on a big workforce development bill, H.703, which would put a lot of money into various technical education programs. It is a very far-reaching bill, with specific incentives for areas where we are seeing extraordinary need, like nursing, but also sets up systems for more general assistance for people looking to enter and reenter the workforce or to change careers. That bill has not yet passed the Senate, so right now a lot of our focus is trying to iron out the policy differences we have with the Senate with hopes that we can pass that bill before we adjourn.

And this seems to be happening all throughout the building right now. There are big policy bills in just about every committee in both chambers that are still up in the air, and some are taking somewhat dramatic shifts in policy, seemingly overnight. Universal School Meals is one such policy that seems like a priority for many in the building, and the scope seems to change week-to-week. There are also multiple bills reforming different aspects of Act 250, but a lot of uncertainty as to which will make it out on time.

This time of year, we colloquially talk about "Christmas Trees" and "hostages," as some bills, which are important to certain legislators or committees, become hostages for another bill that's important to someone else, while other bills get issues and policies added on like ornaments on a Christmas Tree. This process always worries me because otherwise good bills become vehicles containing poison pills the Governor disagrees with and may cause him to veto an otherwise great bill with one such "ornament" he disagrees with.

I should have more to talk about next month as we should be adjourned by then, and I'm also thinking I'll be able to restart coffee hours after we do adjourn so I'll have more on that.

Talk soon, as always you can still call or text anytime at 802-345-8430.

I am also starting to feel the election-year politics creep into the State House more these past couple of weeks. Obviously there are multiple people in the leg-

Dana David Atkinson, 1954-2022

"Each evening from December to December before you drift to sleep upon your cot, think back on all the tales that you remember in Camelot." (Frederick Lowe)

PERKINSVILLE, Vt. – Dana (Dan) David Atkinson, musician and humanist, born Nov. 24, 1954 in Mount Holly, N.J., died in Perkinsville, Vt. on April 1, 2022. He is survived by his wife Alisa Van Domburg Scipio, siblings Sid Mumford, Deedee Wigler, Phoebe Atkinson, Stacey Fillebrown, and Perry Atkinson, multiple nieces and nephews, and a large selection of friends from all walks of life.

Dan had a quick and delicious wit. His intelligence, insight, and compassion were shared with family, friends, and pets. His curiosity was boundless. As a systems thinker, Dan immersed himself in learning about and exploring ideas from a variety of social and political movements. He was very much interested in socioeconomic structures as they related to the areas of ecological and social justice.

Dan held the role of family historian and documented the service of his father, Dave, a WWII veteran of the battle of Iwo Jima. Additionally, Dan traced his family history and shared the extensive findings with his siblings and extended family.

Dan was a prolific guitarist and was happiest with a guitar in his hand, whether jamming with his friends or providing a melodious backdrop to whatever activities were unfolding. He composed a large body of unique songs and frequently referred to these unfinished tunes as "works in progress." Bringing together his love of music and training in electronics, Dan was a member of the "site crew" at the Falcon Ridge folk festival. In the visual arts, his strengths of creativity and humor found a myriad of pathways of

Neil J. Martin, 1936-2022

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Neil J. Martin of Springfield, Vt. passed away on Jan. 26, 2022, at the age of 85. He was born on June 30, 1936, in Marlborough, N.H., the youngest of five sons born to Alfred and Serena Martin. At the age of four his family moved to Springfield (qualifying him as a "Vermont").

Neil graduated from Springfield High School in 1954 and became a long-serving officer of the Springfield Police Department. He was also a member of the U.S. Army Reserve. It was in Springfield that he met his wife, Patricia (Follett), and they married in 1964.

Following his career as a police officer, Neil worked at Johnson & Dix Fuel Corp. He was an active member of St. Mary's Parish, and participated in numerous community organizations. In retirement, he enjoyed riding in his 1972 Chevy pickup, puttering in his gardens and workshop, and identifying tractor projects.

Neil is survived by his wife, Pat; their daughter, Sandi Prescott and husband, John; brother-in-law, John Follett and his wife, artistic expression stemming from his appreciation of John Lennon's earliest sketches to M.C. Esher's extraordinarily complex graphics.

There is no better way to remind us of him than by the kindnesses he gave to the world. To his wife, siblings, nieces, nephews, and vast community of friends he left as a beloved and cherished human being who led a most remarkable life. Dan was grateful for and proud of his decades long sobriety and was always ready to pass it on, lending a hand where needed, as a fellow in recovery.

Steve Leder writes in "The Beauty of What Remains," "the pain of our loss is the greatest evidence we can offer of the importance and meaning of life." Keeping with his wishes, there will be no memorial service apart from a celebration of life, which will be held at a future date. Until that time, please gather your family and friends together and celebrate your own lives; keep the "home fires burning," as Dan always did.

We love you dearly, Dan, and you are precious to so many on this earth. If gratitude is the heart's memory, our hearts are filled with appreciation for you even as we mourn your passing.

Date: April 20, 2022 Civil Division Clerk

VERIFIED COMPLAINT FOR ABANDONMENT
PURSUANT TO 10 V.S.A. § 6249(i) (Uninhabitable)

NOW COMES The Housing Foundation, Inc. ("HFI"), by and through its counsel Nadine L. Scibek, and hereby complains as follows:

- HFI, a Vermont non-profit corporation with a principal place of business in Montpelier, County of Washington, State of Vermont, is the record owner of a mobile home park known as the Shady Pines Mobile Home Park located in the Town of Westminster, Vermont (the "Park"). The Park is managed by the Vermont State Housing Authority.
- Larry Porter ("Porter") is the record owner of a certain mobile home, described as a 1957 Travelo, 8' x 48', bearing serial number 2178094 (the "Mobile Home"), located at Shady Pines Mobile Home Park, 130 Shady Pines in Westminster, Vermont. There is no Bill of Sale recorded in the Westminster Land Records.
- Porter leased a lot in the Park for his mobile home from HFI pursuant to a written lease. Porter paid no security deposit. See attached Lease.
- Porter is believed to be deceased on or about April 26, 2019. Porter did not die in Vermont per Vermont Dept. of Health records.
- No petition to open a probate estate has been filed for Porter per the Windham County Probate Court.
- HFI's Counsel did send Porter a letter to ascertain his intentions with the Mobile Home on January 13, 2022 and the letter was returned by the Post Office. See attached.
- The last known resident of the mobile home was Porter. The mobile home has been abandoned and is unoccupied for over 1 ½ years.
- The following security interests, mortgages, liens and encumbrances appear of record with respect to the mobile home:
 - Porter is in arrears on obligations to pay property taxes to the Town of Westminster, Vermont in the aggregate amount of $167.26, plus any additional interest and penalties. The delinquent property taxes are now a lien on the property. See attached Tax Bill & Delinquent Tax Report.
 - Mobile home storage fees continue to accrue at the rate of $346.00 per month. Rent, storage fees and late charges due HFI as of April, 2022 total $7,634.79. Court costs and attorney's fees from this action to date exceed $750.00. See attached Account History.
 - HFI sent written notice by certified mail to the Town of Westminster on December 23, 2021 of HFI's intent to commence this abandonment action as required by statute. See attached.
 - The mobile home is uninhabitable. Thomas Young, Property Manager and duly authorized agent for the Park owner, will testify under oath as to the poor and unlivable condition of this mobile home at the abandonment hearing.

WHEREFORE, HFI respectfully requests that the Honorable Court enter an order as follows:

- Declare that the mobile home has been abandoned;
- Transfer the mobile home that is unfit for human habitation to Park owner HFI without a public auction so that it may be removed and disposed of accordingly.
- Order pursuant to 10 V.S.A. § 6249(j) that the mobile home and any security deposit paid be conveyed to the Park Owner in "as is" condition, and free from all liens and other encumbrances of record.

DATED this 20th day of April, 2022.

THE HOUSING FOUNDATION, INC.

BY: Nadine L. Scibek
Attorney for HFI

I declare that the above statement is true and accurate to the best of my knowledge and belief. I understand that if the above statement is false, I will be subject to the penalty of perjury or other sanctions in the discretion of the Court.

CHARLESTOWN, N.H. — It's baseball time in the Connecticut River Valley. Charlestown Middle School has a group of ball players that are ready to play ball. Head Coach Smokey Aumand is excited about these boys and sees a fine team developing.

"Our boys are very dedicated and are sharpening up on their ball-to-glove handling, defensive play making, base running, and batting skills every week," says Coach Aumand. "The Charlestown Athletic Director, Brandon Hill, has put together a good schedule of fourteen area games.

Come on out and support the Charlestown team!"

Submitted by Smokey Aumand.

Saxtons River Fishing Derby

SAXTONS RIVER, Vt. — The Saxtons River Recreation Area will hold its annual fishing derby on Saturday, May 7, at the ponds on Pleasant Valley Rd.

Following last year's schedule, there will be three different age groups in three shifts to help ensure more children can participate with their families. Children ages four to six will register at 8 a.m. with fishing beginning at 8:30 a.m. Age group seven to ten will register at 9:15 a.m. with fishing starting at 9:45 a.m. Age group 11 through 14 will register at 10:30 a.m. with fishing beginning at 11 a.m.

Children not showing up at their correct time will not be able to participate. Families with children in multiple age groups will only be allowed to have the appropriately aged child registered and fishing during their given time. Siblings can be present, but not fish. Adults are responsible for providing their children with all the gear, bait, and assistance needed while at the derby. Participants and families will be required to leave the derby once their age group's session has ended, unless there is a sibling in the next age group.

Donations towards expenses will be accepted at the derby, and volunteers of all ages are welcome to contact samanthamperry@hotmail.com or through the Saxtons River Rec Facebook page.

Springfield Dam Run

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. — The Edgar May Health and Recreation Center is hosting the 16th Annual Dam Run, which will take place on Saturday, May 14. Registration opens at 8 a.m. The four-mile course begins and ends at 335 River Street in Springfield and heads out to Reservoir Road and through the Springfield Dam before heading back to River Street and back to the starting point.

Prior to the race, kids under the age of 15 can participate in our half-mile Fun Run, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Registration for the Fun Run is free, and each participating child will be entered into a raffle for a chance to win a mountain bike, donated by Tygart Mountain Sports.

In addition, every person who participates in the Springfield Dam Run this year will be entered into a raffle for one of several prizes. Following the run, awards and prizes will be announced for the top finishers in each age group. The Springfield Dam Run's purpose is to promote an active, healthy lifestyle and provide an opportunity for family and friends to get together and be a part of their local community. Each year, the Dam Run proceeds are donated to a local organization that benefits our community. This year, all proceeds will go toward the Toonerville Trail for upkeep and expansion.

The Dam Run was founded by Joseph Cerniglia Jr. of Springfield, Vt. After going through his own journey from an inactive to active lifestyle, Joe encourages others to begin their own active journey. Joe has gone on to complete significant athletic achievements including a seven-time Ironman finisher, Ironman World Championship in Kailua Kona, Hawaii, and qualified for the Boston Marathon multiple times. His journey proves that it's not where you start but where you finish. Currently a USAT certified coach, Joe continues to give back to his community through events like the Dam Run. This event would not be possible without the great support it receives from local businesses and sponsors. If you're interested in sponsoring the Springfield Dam Run, please email Olivia Satti at osatti@edgarmay.org. Thank you to our sponsors to date: Springfield Medical Care Systems, IVEK Corporation, Lawrence & Wheeler — The Richards Group, HCRS, Wellwood Orchards, Cota & Cota, Muse & Associates, the Melanson Company, and Springfield Moose Lodge 679.

If you would like to register for this year's event, you can register at Joe's Discount Beverage or the Edgar May Health and Recreation Center, and always online at www.active.com. We are also looking for volunteers to assist EdgarMay staff on race day. If you are interested in volunteering, please email Olivia Satti at osatti@edgarmay.org.

For more information, call the Edgar May at 802-885-2568 or email info@edgarmay.org.

VT F&W deer hearings

MONTPELIER, Vt. — The Vermont Fish & Wildlife Department

and Vermont Fish & Wildlife Board will hold two public hearings to solicit input on deer and the department's 2022 Antlerless Harvest and Youth Season Recommendation. The hearings are scheduled for 6:30-9 p.m. at the following locations:

Tuesday, May 10 at the Bellows Falls Union High School, 406 High School Rd., Westminster, Vt.

Thursday, May 12 at the Vermont Fish & Wildlife Dept., 111 West St., Essex Junction, Vt.

"In recent years, the department has successfully reduced deer numbers in many parts of Vermont to bring populations into balance with their habitat," said Nick Fortin, Deer and Moose Project Leader for the Fish & Wildlife Department.

In addition to the public hearings, anyone can leave a comment on the proposals with a telephone message by calling 802-828-7498 or by emailing ANR.FWPUBLICCOMMENT@vermont.gov. Comments must be received by May 14.

Cavendish Energy Committee composting

CAVENDISH, Vt. – When the Vermont legislature banned food scraps from the trash and mandated that all Vermonters compost food scraps, the Town of Cavendish engaged the services of a company to haul away those scraps each week. That quickly became hugely expensive, so the town decided to try a different route. For several months now the Cavendish transfer station has been composting on site. That saves both the carbon cost and dollar cost of haulage, making composting more economical and environmentally sustainable. Any Cavendish resident with access to the transfer station can use the new composting section for no extra charge.

What must stay out of the trash and instead be composted includes those parts of food items that are typically discarded rather than eaten, such as peels, rinds, cores, eggshells, seeds, pits, bones, coffee grounds and paper filters, loose-leaf tea and paper tea bags, and fats, oils, and grease. It also includes food plate scraps or leftovers and any food that went bad. And not just food must be composted, but if it was once part of something alive, like a plant or an animal, it does not belong in the landfill. So, grass clippings and any other yard debris must stay out of the trash and can be put into the compost.

Eventually the newly created compost will be available to Cavendish residents free of charge, although it will take time for the scraps and waste to become usable compost. Meanwhile, the town employees ask that people be more careful in what they throw into the compost pile. Plastic bags are not compostable. Dump compostables into the pile and throw the plastic into the trash. Some plastic food containers and utensils may be recyclable, but they are not compostable, even if the manufacturer says they are. Food scraps will compost in a few months, the containers and utensils will take many years if at all to compost. If they are clean, put them in recycling.

For those people who have a yard where they can set up a compost pile or bin, there's no reason to bring that food and yard waste to the transfer station. Instead, create your own compost. It's usable to enrich the soil of lawns, gardens, and potted plants. For information on how to make your own compost, or about any aspect of food waste disposal, go to www.okemovale.com/ccca-composting-workshop-2015 or to www.dec.vermont.gov/waste-management/solid-materials-mgmt/organic-materials.

For more information about the Cavendish transfer station, please call the Cavendish Town Office at 802-226-7291.

Neighborhood Connections hosts Master Gardeners

LONDONDERRY, Vt. – Native plants are very important for your garden because, once established, natives are able to withstand seasonal conditions such as frigid, snowy winters, the circumstances that they have evolved in. Native plants also enhance local biodiversity by offering food and habitat for wildlife. Best of all, these plants belong in our area and make your landscape a distinctly regional one.

On Thursday, May 19 at 3 p.m., Neighborhood Connections will host Cheryl Wilfong and Somara Zwick, Vermont Master Gardeners, who will discuss why it is important to landscape with natives. They will share a list of plants suited to our location.

The duo will also discuss the new and highly destructive group of earthworm species invading Vermont forests. Find out why it is important to spot them in your garden and what to do about them.

Neighborhood Connections is a nonprofit social services organization located in Londonderry's Mountain Marketplace.

Springfield Community Garden plots available

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – St. Mark's Episcopal Church, 33 Fairground Rd. in Springfield, Vt. announces that their Community Garden Plots are ready for "adoption." These spaces are located behind the church and, as in past years, are entirely free. They are part of St. Mark's ongoing Community Outreach Program. Those "adopting" a plot are responsible for their seeds, sprouts, and sweat. Water is available on site. For those interested please call Boris at 802-885-4163. Leave a message if necessary.

Saxtons River Art Guild show in Rockingham —

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. — Members of the Saxtons River Art Guild will exhibit their work at the Rockingham Library from Thursday, May 12 to Friday, July 29. Each artist will display four or more works, whose styles, use of media, and subject matter vary.

Here are a few highlights about some of the presenting artists: John Dimick paints landscapes from various trails in New England and can be seen painting street scenes around Brattleboro on Gallery Walk nights; Kathy Greves paints a variety of subjects, some plein air, and others from photographs she has taken in and around Vermont and during her travels in France, Italy, Germany, and the Bahamas; long time member Donna Lund paints regional landscapes either in watercolor or pastel; Liz Winchester-Larson works primarily in the still-life genre with rich color and intricate detail.

Founded in 1976, the Saxtons River Art Guild is a nonprofit organization whose purpose is to promote and encourage the advancement of the fine arts with about 80 members throughout the Monadnock region of New Hampshire and the Southern Connecticut River Valley area of Vermont. Their activities include exhibit and sales venues, classes and workshops, open studio time September through May and plein air gatherings June through August, luncheons with guest speakers and demonstrations, and trips to museums and galleries. An art scholarship is awarded yearly to a qualified senior from an area high school who is going on to a four-year major in the arts.

For more information, contact Liz Winchester-Larson lizart39@yahoo.com or 802-876-5083.

Fletcher Farm School applications, open studio-

LUDLOW, Vt. — Spring events are coming to the Fletcher Farm School for the Arts and Crafts:

Open Studio Weekend: Once again, this year the school will be participating in the Vermont Craft Council's Open Studio weekend, held on Saturday, May 28 and Sunday, May 29, from 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. Several of our instructors and members will be demonstrating their work and are available to answer questions about classes at the school.

Craft Shop Applications being accepted: If you are a member of the Society of Vermont Artists and Craftsmen, Inc., or an instructor working at the school this summer, you are eligible to show and sell your work in the School's Gift and Craft Shop. For more information, please see the website under the "Gift Shop" link, or call the School at 802-228-8770 for more information.

Craft Festival Applications being accepted: We are also accepting applications for our Summer Arts and Craft Festivals. The first is being held on Saturday, July 2 and the second will be held on Saturday, Aug.

13. You do not need to be a member to participate. Music and food will be part of both festivals. On Aug. 13, we will be celebrating our 75th anniversary. The Tyson Ladies Aid organization will be holding their annual Bazaar and Chicken Barbecue on our campus to help us celebrate.

If you are interested in participating, visit www.fletcherfarm.org and click the "Craft Festivals" link, or call the school at 802-228-8770. Links to the Terms and Conditions and the Festival Application are located at the bottom of the Craft Festivals webpage.

The VAULT calls for artists

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. — You are invited to show your work at Gallery at the VAULT in our Open Wall Show. This is a chance to display your work in a non-juried show. There is no fee. It is a great opportunity for artists who would like to get their work out there for the first time, as well as for seasoned artists. The next show's theme is, "Just For The Fun Of It." You can bring in two works if they are 18-inch by 20-inch or smaller, or one if it is larger. Sculpture, pottery, etc. are appreciated just as much as wall art. The work needs to be suitable for viewing by all ages.

Please bring in your creations on Wednesday, May 11 from 11 a.m. – 5 p.m., Friday, May 13 from 11 a.m. – 7 p.m., or on Saturday, May 14 from 11 a.m. – 5 p.m. The show will be on display from May 18 through July 13.

For more information, please call Gallery at the VAULT, 68 Main St., Springfield, Vt. at 802-885-7111, email galleryvault@vermontel.net, or visit www.galleryvault.org, or on Meta. Handicap accessible.

Grafton Nature Museum presents wildlife exploration afternoon

GRAFTON, Vt. — The North American Beaver is an incredible keystone species that benefits entire ecological communities across the continent, as well as right here in our own backyards. These charismatic rodents that nearly disappeared from the Vermont landscape continue to play a pivotal role in Vermont's ecological communities. Join Vermont Fish & Wildlife's Tyler Brown, a Wildlife Specialist, and Chris Bernier, a Wildlife Biologist, for an afternoon exploring a local and unique beaver flowage in the beautiful Turner Hill Wildlife Management Area.

This event is presented by The Nature Museum of Grafton and will take place on Saturday, May 7, from 1–3 p.m. Registration is required. This event will happen rain or shine. This event location does not have facilities. Please be prepared for off-trail hiking conditions that may include uneven, muddy, wet, and brushy terrain.

Tyler Brown started working as a seasonal worker with the department in 2012 and was hired full-time in 2022. He has a B.S. in wildlife biology from the University of Vermont. Tyler is responsible for the department's Beaver Baffle Program, as well as assisting with the furbearer program. He provides technical assistance to private landowners in Windham and Windsor Counties as part of the EQIP program. Tyler is an avid outdoorsman, enjoying time spent hunting, fishing, trapping, foraging, and beekeeping. He can often be found exploring the beautiful public lands of Vermont.

Chris Bernier has been working for the department since 1994. He has a B.S. in wildlife ecology from the University of Maine. Throughout his career, Chris has served the department in numerous capacities including as a district Fish & Wildlife Specialist, State Lands Manager, Wildlife Biologist, Furbearer Project Leader, and, most recently, as the Upland Gamebird Project Leader. His work with the department has included various roles in a number of high-profile projects such as Best Management Practices for Trapping in the U.S. research, the Atlantic Salmon Restoration, the Champlain Valley Bobcat Study, Act. 250 Wildlife Reviews, marten and lynx research, and land acquisition. In his current role, Chris serves on the department's Big Game, Furbearer Management, and State Lands teams and represents Vermont on the Northeast Upland Gamebird Technical Committee where he beats the drum for all things turkeys and grouse. He lives with his wife and three kids on 60 conserved, off-the-grid, managed woodland acres in the hills of Andover, Vt. where he spends as much time as possible outdoors.
