Ludlow talks class 4 road, allocates ARPA funds

BY NICK GIBERTI

The Vermont Journal

LUDLOW, Vt. – Seated in the Heald Auditorium, backed by paintings of rhinoceroses and tall savannah grass in place for the forth coming June 5 production of The Lion King by Ludlow Elementary School students, The Ludlow Selectboard met on Monday, June 3, at 6 p.m., for their regular monthly meeting.

During the meeting, Ludlow resident Steven Webersen spoke to the board about a class 4 road near his property, which encompasses a small portion of Freedom Hill Road. Most of Freedom Hill Road is a class 3 road, meaning it is open to vehicle traffic, but closed to ATVs. However, a small stretch of the road is classified as class 4, and, Webersen claimed, it has recently been used by ATV riders, causing what was once a walkable, grassy path to become “a disaster,” rutted and muddy due to being churned up by four-wheelers.

Town manager Brendan McNamara said he had visited the site, as had selectboard member Scott Baitz. Both agreed that the road was in poor shape, and that the section of road was not well suited to use by ATV traffic. Additionally, ATVs are not allowed on class 3 roads, the board noted, meaning that the only way to access the class 4 section of Freedom Hill Road on an ATV entailed breaking the law.

Several options were discussed by the board concerning how to limit access to the road by ATVs. The board largely rejected the notion of “throwing up” the road, meaning abandoning it and allowing it to become private property, explaining that they preferred that the public right of way remain for other uses. Webersen was also in favor of public use of the road other than by ATV traffic.

Another option McNamara raised was for the town to pass a class 4 road ordinance. Currently, Ludlow adheres to Vermont state statute in what uses it does and does not allow on class 4 roads, but an ordinance would allow the town to further restrict activities on these roads. This would, McNamara explained, require the usual warnings, meetings, and processes involved in passing any town ordinance, and would take time. McNamara felt that this would be “the most seamless way” to deal with the issue, and that it is “something that is not uncommon in towns.” The possibility of reclassifying the road as a trail was also noted. In the end, the board determined to pursue the matter further, and expressed their support of ending ATV use of the road.

The board also approved the use of ARPA funds for a number of projects, pursuant to special meetings held with residents to discuss the funds: $50,000 for the transfer station bathroom, $45,000 for the dog park relocation at West Hill Recreation Area, $15,000 for the Jewell Brook Dam level alert system, $25,000 for the mountain bike trail system behind Fletcher Farm, $15,000 for audio/video upgrades to the Heald Auditorium, and $65,000 for Dorsey Park recreation upgrades. This leaves a balance of $116,926 left to allocate.

Several board members felt that the amount allocated to the mountain bike trail project should be increased, as it had originally been set at $10,000, while $50,000 had been requested by the group in charge of constructing the trail. McNamara explained that these amounts could be amended, and that the remaining funds could be allocated in the future however the board desired. The amount was increased to $25,000 before the board approved the allocation.

Board member Justin Hyjek expressed his feeling that the funds allocated for recreation should be increased, particularly the $65,000 for Dorsey Park, rather than using the funds for projects that could be accomplished through other budgetary means, such as the Jewell Brook Dam alert system and Heald

Auditorium upgrades. “I have sat through enough budgets to know that the rec department will get sabered every single time. As soon as there’s a slight overage, it’s really, really hard to pass recreational improvements,” Hyjek said. “This money should go towards something that the town wouldn’t necessarily get otherwise, and I don’t think we’re executing that properly.”

Despite these objections, the board approved ARPA fund allocation as listed above.

McNamara informed the board that a special town meeting had been scheduled for Monday, June 17, at 6 p.m., in the Heald Auditorium, to discuss a local options tax and the merger of the Town and Village of Ludlow. The selectboard’s next regular meeting will be held on Monday, July 1.

Singo fundraiser for United Church bell restoration

LUDLOW, Vt. – Jane McGarry, who runs the popular Singo bingo games at Off the Rails, Black Line Tavern (Magic Mountain), and other New England venues, is hosting a special Singo Night on Monday, June 24, at 7 p.m., to raise funds for the United Church of Ludlow’s Ring Out Love Capital Campaign. Ludlow musician Sammy Blanchette, aka Sammy B, will perform the songs live, adding a unique twist to a fun event that usually offers recorded music.

Singo is a musical variation of bingo that uses songs instead of numbers to fill playing cards. It’s fun for all ages, everybody sings along, and winners get prizes for each of three Singo rounds. Singo cards will be on sale at the fundraiser, with every dollar raised going to the church’s Ring Out Love campaign. Snacks will be provided, and participants are encouraged to BYOB.

The United Church is located at 48 Pleasant Street in Ludlow. Learn more about Singo at www.playingsingo.com.

Sammy Blanchette is online at www.sammyblanchette.net.

The United Church of Ludlow is trying to raise $50,000 to restore its historical bell. With the campaign theme “Ring Out Love,” the United Church hopes to not only repair the disintegrating supports on its venerable bell, but also to make upgrades, to improve accessibility, and to help neighbors in need.

Built in 1891 as the Congregational Church of Ludlow, the United Church is listed on the National Register of Historic Places as one of the only churches in Vermont constructed in a fully mature expression of shingle-style architecture. Its Congregationalist congregation was organized in 1806, and in 1930 it merged with a Methodist congregation to form a union congregation and become the United Church of Ludlow.

The Church’s more than 1,000-pound bell was cast by the Holbrook Bell Foundry of East Medway, Mass., in 1839, when Martin Van Buren was president, only 50 years after the Constitution of the United States became effective.

Community members had the opportunity to tour the belfry in 2012 when the church threw a party celebrating the 120th birthday of its building and the 220th birthday of its founding. More information about the bell is available on the United Church website, www.unitedchurch.us.

Over the years, the United Church has become a community gathering place, hosting concerts, events, dinners, game nights, and meetings of local nonprofit organizations.

Anyone wishing to donate can mail a check made out to “United Church of Ludlow” to Anne Oakes, Receiver of Offerings, 145 Merrill Road, Ludlow, VT 05149, with the memo “Ring Out Love Campaign.”

Okemo Valley Women's Club April/May news

LUDLOW, Vt. – Several members of the General Federation of Womens Clubs (GFWC) Okemo Valley Women's Club (OVWC) recently attended the annual Vermont state meeting. The meeting was held in Poultney, Vt., on May 4, and attended by members of GFWC clubs throughout Vermont. A business meeting was held, followed by installation of state officers for the 2024-2026 term. The Okemo Valley Women's Club members in attendance were honored that two of their members were installed as incoming state officers: Darlene Remy as state president, and Penny Trick as state treasurer.

Following the business meeting, the attendees were treated to an interesting presentation by Habitat for Humanity of Rutland County, Vt., nonprofit builders of affordable housing. Executive director Rebekah M. Stephens explained Habitat's history, purpose, and goals. Habitat for Humanity is a global nonprofit housing organization working in local communities across all 50 states in the U.S. and in approximately 70 countries.

Habitat's vision is of a world where everyone has a decent place to live, working toward their vision by building strength, stability, and self-reliance in partnership with families in need of decent and affordable housing. Habitat homeowners help build their own homes alongside volunteers, and pay an affordable mortgage. Decent, affordable shelter provides families with a place to gather and grow. Even more, by working with Habitat to achieve affordable homeownership, families can transform their lives. Owning an affordable home allows homeowners to lift up their entire family by saving for their futures and investing in educational opportunities, bolstering job opportunities and long term career growth. Surveys of Habitat homeowners and their families show better financial health, parents who are more confident about meeting their family's needs, and even improved grades for their children since purchasing a Habitat home.

Two local Rutland Habitat homeowners attended the meeting, and each spoke at length to explain how purchasing a Habitat home has changed their lives and the lives of their families. Rutland Habitat not only builds affordable housing, but also does minor home repair, and is a 0% mortgage lender, using shared equity and sweat equity by homeowners.

Also present at the meeting were two of this year's recipients of the GFWC Barbara Jean Barker Scholarship, which helps displaced women return to the workforce. Each recipient spoke eloquently about their appreciation for the funds received from Vermont GFWC to assist their efforts in educating themselves to facilitate reentering the workforce.

After the presentations by Habitat for Humanity and the scholarship recipients, there was a brief memorial service for members that we lost in 2023-2024, and then the installation of the new slate of state officers. Darlene Remy of Okemo Valley Women's Club was installed as president, Sue Monaco of Poultney installed as secretary, and Penny Trick of Okemo Valley was installed as treasurer.

guests, and members of the Grafton Village Cheese team.

For the grand opening weekend, the store was bustling with excited visitors from near and far, and the entire community came out to welcome the new store to the region. Their grand opening weekend was a great success filled with live entertainment, lots of laughter, delicious samples, and incredible artisan cheeses.

As you walk into the new store in Proctorsville, you're immediately embraced with warmth and excitement. Their store is filled with an impressive selection of local and international artisan cheeses, and every accompaniment you may need: hot sauces, salsas, wines, cutting boards, hand-crafted gifts, and more. Drop by their new location at 2568 Vermont Route 103 in Proctorsville to sample their free cheese tastings and browse their selection any day of the week.

Bellows Falls Pride hosts presentation by Mark S. King

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Senior Solutions and Bellows Falls Pride jointly sponsor a special presentation in celebration of Pride Month. On June 20, at the Bellows Falls Opera House, Mark S. King, an internationally acclaimed author of the book "My Fabulous Disease," will speak about sexual politics, the twin epidemics of addiction and AIDS, and how he has navigated sex, love, and family as a gay man living with HIV for nearly 40 years.

He has been writing personal reflections on gay life, sex, addiction, and his family since shortly after testing positive for HIV in 1985, and only weeks after the test became publicly available. "I wanted to put something down on paper while I could," King explains, "something that said we were here, and this is how it felt. No one is more surprised than I am that I'm still writing it down."

The result has been nearly four decades of moving, sometimes hilarious accounts of what it was like for a young gay man to make it out of the 1980s alive – and what came next.

Those who were in their 20s in the 1980s when the AIDS crisis began are now in their 60s. 53% of Americans living with HIV are now over 50. This presents a new demographic challenge for agencies serving seniors, and for medical and health professionals.

We have little data or research on the interaction between HIV medicines and other medicines frequently used by seniors. In addition, seniors living with HIV are at serious risk of social isolation due to having lost friends to the disease, a personal reluctance to share their stories freely due to stigma, and the statistical likelihood of not having children or extended family care networks.

King will address the audience with a multimedia presentation drawn from his lived experience, and will hold a question-and-answer session following his presentation.

Admission is free, but due to the expected turnout, advanced ticket reservations are recommended. Tickets are available at the Bellows Falls Opera House box office and website, www.bellowsfallsoperahouse.com. Doors open at 6:30 p.m., and the event starts at 7:30 p.m.

This initiative is a first step towards raising awareness of this growing issue, and has been funded in part by the Vermont Community Foundation.

King will be available before the event for interviews and meetings with the media.

Class of 1915

BY RON PATCH

ronpatch27@gmail.com

The Chester Alumni Parade is this Saturday, June 8. I thought it fitting to write some Chester High School history. This history is taken from a 1915 graduating class scroll in my collection.

The scroll is paper, measuring about 6 feet long when unrolled, and 8 1/2 inches wide. At top and bottom are nicely turned wooden dowels, to which the paper is affixed. I bought it years ago from Ronnie Metzger. In part it reads:

"The Last Will and Testament of Class 1915

"We, the Class of 1915 of Chester High School, being in an infirm state of health, and sensible too, of our liability of sudden demise, at the same time being in our own apprehension of sound mind, do judge it best to make, and accordingly do hereby make this our last Will and testament.

"It is our will that all of our just debts and the charges for our obsequies be paid and discharged by our executor hereinafter named and appointed, out of our estate as soon as conveniently be after our decease, and we leave the charges of our solemnization rites to the direction of our said executor.

"We give, devise, and dispose of all our estate, real and personal (save what shall be necessary for the payment of our just debts and funeral charges) in the following manner.

"Item I.

"We give and devise to the class of 1916 the last two rows of seats on the left hand side of the main room, in the Chester High School Building, where the aforesaid class may enjoy the rights of Seniors.

"Item II.

"We devise and bequeath to the Class of 1916 all class moneys deposited in the Chester Bank, after paying all just debts and charges of our solemnization rites, a part of which is to be used for the purchase of speaking trumpets for timid freshmen.

"Item III.

"We devise and grant to Olive Douglas of Class 1918 the duty of instructing the entering class how to enter and leave the various rooms of the building in a manner suitable to the dignity of a High School student...

"Item V.

"We devise and bequeath the second row seat from the back, first row, on the left hand side of the main room, recently occupied by Vincent Lafountain, to Harold Tollerton, where the blue of the sky, the twittering of the birds, and the passing pedestrians may give him inspirations for the writing of English themes. It was our will that Lucretia Hubbard of class of 1918 might enjoy the associations of this seat of honor but find that the statutes prohibit a sophomore from occupying a Seniors seat...

"Item VII.

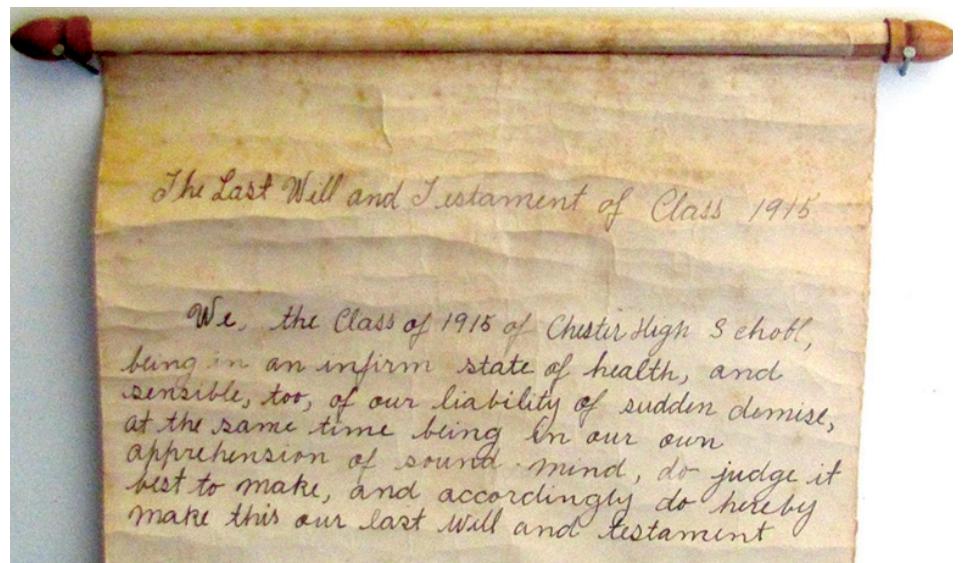

"To Dewuse Dewitt we give and grant the position of pianist for the ensuing year.

"Item VIII.

"We do hereby devise and bequeath to Chester High School, as our most valuable piece of property our good example is our request that this be used with especial care on the yearly trips to Washington, D.C....

"Item XIV.

"To Lloyd Martin of class 1917 we hereby bequeath the position of sub mascot on the Base Ball team so well filled by Westley Whitcomb.

"Item XV.

"We devise and bequeath to Hurbert Darrow of class 1916 the privilege of giving special attention to Cicero's Orations during the coming school year remembering that all is fair in Love, Latin, and War...

"We give to Oscar Johnson of class 1916 whom we shall always remember as our Private Secretary, and whom we nominate and appoint executor of this our last will and testament, all our goods and chattels, and personal property of every kind whatsoever not otherwise disposed of by this our last will and testament.

"In testimony whereof we hereby set our hand and seal, and publish and declare this to be our last Will and Testament, this eighteenth day of June, in the year of our lord nineteen hundred and fifteen."

Open house at the Athens Brick Meetinghouse

ATHENS, Vt. - The Athens Brick Meetinghouse is having an open house on Sunday, June 9, from 2-4 p.m. The meetinghouse will be open for visitors to tour and learn more about this fascinating 1817 building. There will also be note cards available to purchase, with pictures of the meetinghouse by the late Bill Sumner, renowned professional photographer.

The Athens Brick Meetinghouse is on the National Register of Historic Places, and is historically significant to the Windham County region. The Athens Meetinghouse came to be known as the "Mother Church" for the 12 towns of Grafton, Rockingham, Townshend, Londonderry, Weston, Chester, Acton, Springfield, Land-grove, Windham, Putney, and Mount Holly - which comprised the "Old Athens Circuit." Circuit riders from Athens traveled out to these 12 towns by horse to perform religious services. Quarterly meetings with the Methodist congregants from these towns often lasted two days at the Athens Old Brick Church.

Originally erected to serve the spiritual needs of the residents of Athens and surrounding towns, the large open sanctuary which boasted a high pulpit, box pews, long side galleries, and a handsome chandelier was divided into two stories. The lower continued to be used for worship services, while the upper, a large hall, served the town's civic needs for Town Meetings and elections through the late 1970s.

Members of the Athens Meetinghouse Committee and the Athens Historic Preservation Society will be on hand to answer questions and lead visitors on tours of this historic gem. Donations made to the Athens Historic Preservation Society are fully tax deductible, and will support the preservation of the Meetinghouse.

The Athens Meetinghouse is located on Meetinghouse Road in Athens, just off Route 35, and all are welcome. For more information, contact Sherry Maher at 802-275-2835 or follow Athens Meetinghouse on Facebook.

CHURCH SERVICES

Dear Editor,

Vermont's 2023-2024 Legislative biennium ended in the wee hours of Saturday morning, May 11. The Senate gavelled out at 1:18 a.m., and the House about 2 a.m. This has been a hard session. It was begun in the wake of a natural disaster, with a state recovering from terrible flooding. Despite these challenges, we managed to accomplish a lot.

We made real progress further protecting Vermont from future natural disasters, improving flood safety by protecting our river corridors, updating Act 250 as we plan for greater density in our smart growth areas while protecting our natural resources and reducing sprawl, and improving government's response to natural disasters. We passed a climate superfund bill which holds the largest fossil fuel companies liable for the cost of repairing the damage to our environment through climate change. We updated our renewable energy standard to ensure that the energy Vermonters use will be 100% clean by 2035 – which will put us on track to be one of the first states whose energy will be fully decarbonized.

And we passed one of the most comprehensive data privacy bills in the country, designed to protect Vermont consumers from having their data used in inappropriate and harmful ways. It includes a "kid's code," which protects children's privacy and prohibits certain code designs which increase use and create online addictions.

So many bills were passed in the last two weeks it is hard to keep track. We passed bills to improve literacy, public safety measures to reduce retail theft and increase firearm safety, and, in a new attempt to address the opioid crisis, we established a pilot "overdose prevention center" in Burlington to help those with substance abuse disorder use safely under medical supervision and get help with recovery if they choose. We updated our open meeting law, we created a municipal code of ethics, and we saved the Salisbury fish hatchery. And there is so much more.

In many ways, the most important thing we did was to pass the $8.6 billion fiscal year 2025 Vermont state budget – every line of which represents a real value to someone. Whether it's supportive housing for our developmentally disabled or our state parks, new bridges or the renovation of our historic sites, housing the homeless or workforce development, this budget funds much of what we take for granted – our courts, our schools, our state employees, transportation – it funds all of state government, which supports so much of our life in Vermont.

I am proud of how the legislature works together to help improve and support Vermonters and the beautiful state we are lucky enough to live in. It's easy to forget that the vast majority of our decisions are unanimous. When we do disagree on an issue, we tend to come together and continue to work productively on the next issue facing us. I still feel we are a model for how democracy, at its best, works.

I appreciate hearing from you. I can be reached by email at aclarkson@leg.state.vt.us, by phone at the statehouse at 802-828-2228, or at home at 802-457-4627. To get more information on the Vermont Legislature, and the bills which have been proposed and passed, visit the legislative website, www.legislature.vermont.gov.

Sincerely,
Sen. Alison Clarkson

Alternative communication technique

REGION – For those interested in learning a new skill and an opportunity to increase your personal communications capability, alternative communication technique (ACT) offers something for an emergency that could save your life, but also something that is fun to use and can be a low-cost home intercom system as a bonus.

We are all familiar with the words "walkie talkie." You can buy these radios at your local Walmart, Best Buy, Staples, Harbor Freight, Amazon, and many more places. They typically range in price from $15 to several hundreds of dollars. ACT uses units that range in price from $15-$30. Today's walkies are unbelievably powerful, and have advanced much like cell phones have over the past decade.

To mention a few of the capabilities, they typically can monitor more than one radio frequency at a time. Many can be used as scanners to local fire and police departments. Many have the standard FM-radio-band-receiving capability, while some actually have the capability of listening to shortwave radio, including the CB band. They typically can do two-way communication in three specific radio bands, with a range of several miles unit-to-unit or to a group of units. A license is not needed to use them, but they also can be registered with the FCC without requiring any type of test, to be used with extended capabilities that can reach 20 or 30 air miles through the use of repeaters.

There is another use for these devices, and that is as amateur radio handheld ham units. Now this is an area of usage that some will inevitably want to explore, because then the capabilities of these radios can be expanded tenfold compared to what already has been mentioned. The goal of this article is to promote an alternative communication technique regardless of if there is or is not an interest in ever becoming an amateur radio operator. However, it is the amateur radio hobby that has promoted these walkie talkies to become as powerful as they are today, and still be available for the average citizen to use. If you can operate a cell phone, you can learn to operate one of these walkie talkies.

The most important path

to explore is to establish a local community network that allows for local communication between neighbors and neighborhoods, should cell phones and the internet go down. Examples where portable radio communications would be helpful are the extended power outages, disabling road closures from flooding, lengthy internet failures, and the recent AT&T phone service failure which have happened here in Vermont within the past year. If an infrastructure failure even a fraction as severe as what recently happen with the Baltimore bridge collapse happened in Vermont, the ability to communicate and know what is going on would be of paramount importance.

A Vermont group within the Health Freedom Network are offering to help coordinate and set up these local communication neighborhood networks. There will be no charge for this service. The goal is to help communities with an alternative communication technique, and an opportunity to get to know your neighbors and much more. Contact Steve via email at N1QDT@aurorasky.net or visit the www.aurorasky.net/radios website for more information.

He lived in Vermont most of his life, but had also lived in Virginia, New York, and Tennessee, building homes in these places as well.

Bill was an old car enthusiast. He loved going to car shows, showing his cars, or walking around looking and talking to fellow owners. He was into restoring cars, favoring Chevys. He kept track of every car he restored, totaling 45. He was an avid hunter into his late 70s, bringing home several trophy deer. He beat his wife in points, but not by weight. Michael W. Emerson, 1960-2023

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Michael Wayne Emerson, 62, of Rockingham, Vt., died on Nov. 7, 2023, of a heart attack, in the woods of Jackman, Maine, while hunting with his son Matt.

Mike was born in Bellows Falls, Vt., on Dec. 14, 1960, to Ann (Benjamin) and Paul Emerson Sr. Mike attended school in Bellows Falls, graduating with the BFUHS Class of 1979. To some, he was “Michael” or “Mike”; to his longtime friends and family, he was “Muzz,” and to his race family, he was “Fruit Loop/Emerson.”

Besides his children, Mike had two things he loved: hunting and snowmobiles. He spent his whole life hunting in Rockingham, Vt., a place that was very special to him, as generations of his family hunted there. He lived for hunting season, hanging with his friends, especially “Broken Arrow,” and trying to bag that big buck. Mike was an incredible mechanic who could fix anything. He loved working on snowmobiles and building race sleds. He traveled all over New England, Canada, and out west, to either race himself, or to support a team. Mike loved anything that went fast. Later in his life, he would go to wrench on machines he built or help a race team in need. His knowledge was an inspiration to many fellow racers. He would lend a hand to anyone who needed it and was always willing to pitch in to help.

Mike was an incredibly hard worker. He built beautiful stone patios and walls, or anything else that he could, with his excavator. When

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – If you are reading this, my spirit is gone from my body. My body is still on this earth, but my spirit is in Heaven with the Lord Jesus Christ. I didn't get here by myself. I got to Heaven because Jesus died for me. John 3:16, “For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believes in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life.” He loved me and you so much that He died so we wouldn't have to pay the consequences of our sins.

My last wish is that you may know that Jesus died for your sins too, and that you also can be a sinner saved by grace. It does not take anything but to call on the name of the Lord. Romans 10:13, “Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved.” If you're not sure: James 1:5, “If you lack wisdom, ask God and He will provide.”

I sometimes lacked boldness, but pray my death may help those in need by being truthful.

Life was a struggle, as for some it just is. OCD, depression, and anxiety was an exhaustive behavior that many may not have realized I dealt with and preoccupied my mind nonstop. I fought addiction for many years, but was sober for the last five years.

I thank Savida Health and Turning Point Recovery Center in Springfield, Vt., for all their help. I tried my best to fit in and thrive in this world, but became too overwhelmed and gave up the good gift.

I know many loved me. I thank you all for being a very special part of my life.

I was predeceased by maternal grandparents Sandra W. Moore (Springfield, Vt.) and William R. Moore (Springfield, Vt.), and paternal grandparents Howard and Shirley Hatt (North Springfield, Vt.). I leave behind my stepgrandmother Nancy G. Moore (Springfield, Vt.), mom Julie Bartlett (Springfield, Vt.), my dad Kirk Hatt and stepmom Meegan (Rutland, Vt.), my sister Gabrielle (Connor) Shanks, my niece and nephew Eibhilin and Jason (Claremont, N.H.), stepbrother Alex Bartlett, and stepsisters Chelsea Bartlett and Olivia Nickerson.

Much loved immediate family – aunt and uncles Diane, James Daniels, Jeff, Amy Moore, Pam, Jason Murray; cousins Elijah, Tessa, Penelope, Sawyer Daniels, Amy, Barney, Sydney Poole, Matthew Martel, Brittany Daniels, Jayde, Aylin Huntley, Colton Murray, Felicia, Nate, Katja Persing, Meela Pollard, Ashley Clark, Gabe, Nate Duvall; and many other aunts, uncles, and cousins not mentioned, but loved very much.

I was a dental assistant with Springfield Family Dental, along with traveling to surrounding offices within the company. I touched the hearts of many, and showed care and compassion to my coworkers and the many patients in need. Thank you to Dr. Syed, associates, staff, and patients on pieces to a puzzle of life that molded me into the person I had become.

I was a quiet soul, but was often led in private to say a prayer for those in need, whether in a dental aspect or personal aspect shared during the visit.

Services will be held on June 8, at 1 p.m., at Calvary Baptist Church, with The Rev. Malcom Fowler officiating. There will be a gathering after at the church.

We would like to thank Davis Memorial Chapel for their assistance, along with the Springfield, Vt., Police and Rescue Departments, and Ludlow and Rutland Police Departments, for their contributions.

Ephesians 2:6, “And God has raised us up and seated next to Christ in heavenly realms in Christ Jesus.”

Donations may be made in Drew's name to Turning Point Recovery, 7 Morgan Street, Springfield, Vt. 05156.

Community Art Garden summer camps in Chester

CHESTER, Vt. – Calling all creative children and parents wanting to boost their child’s inner artist. Community Art Garden in Chester, Vt., has a fun summer lineup of camps for kids ages 5 and older that are certain to bring creative fun to your household for the weeks of camp and beyond. Because all of the camps at the studio come with a take-home kit, campers can enjoy the Art Garden fun endlessly all summer long. All camps provide sensory play, child-led, play-based fun for all ages, as well as ample time outside walking about town or playing in especially curated outdoor stations. Camps are led by Community Art Garden owner Emily Burkland and staff, and the studio is located at 287 Main Street, Chester, Vt. Community Art Garden has been growing local, hands-on creativity since 2014. For more information, or to register, visit www.communityartgarden.com/camps.

Nature Arts Camp for ages 5 and older will be held June 18-20, from 9:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m. Nature Arts Camp is a fun way for children to connect with the natural world, selected art materials, and each other in our sensory-rich, play-based process art studio. We will explore with bundle dyeing using natural fibers, create our own mosaic pots, play with wool felting, shell painting, and more. This camp is full, but we will start a wait list and with enough interest may run another session in August.

Fairy House Camp runs July 1-3, from 9:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m. Fairy House camp is a fun, child-led way for children to create with natural materials by creating their very own fairy house to take home with them at the end of camp. Materials are provided, and we will also go on nature walks to collect and find just the right things to embellish our creations. Camp is inspired by the natural world around us, and fosters observation and appreciation, as well as creative exploration.

Drama Arts Camp will be held July 9-11, from 9:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m. In this camp, we will explore the arts that surround the stage. Musical instruments, puppets, costumes, face painting, dancing, movement games, and more. In this three-day camp, participants will have the chance to create and star in their own show – or just have fun exploring dramatic arts within our process-art and play-based studio. This camp is such a special experience for children, and it is a classic summer favorite.

Doll House Camp is slated for July 23-25, from 9:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m. Doll House Camp is new to the studio this year, but destined to have a special place in our summer line up. Campers will be invited to customize their very own IKEA wooden dollhouse, from exterior painting, to interior design and furnishings. Miniature play is such a fun outlet for kids of all ages. From blueprints to final creation, this will be a memorable experience with a lasting keepsake.

These funds, combined with a $1.2 million grant from the Department of Commerce and Community Development, will facilitate the environmental remediation and brownfield cleanup of the former foundry building at 140 Clinton Street.

Their backing demonstrates great commitment to our project and the Springfield Community,” said Christian Craig, executive director of The Edgar May Health and Recreation Center.

The brownfield cleanup, which involves the removal and management of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbon, and benzene, will begin later this year. This initiative marks Phase I of a comprehensive, three-phase Edgar May project that will include the construction of a 13,000-square-foot addition to connect the current building to the historic foundry building, as well as the revitalization of the foundry building itself. Interested parties can view renderings at www.drive.google.com/drive/folders/1killmzXMMvUR3YK-uao-D1tAfrp1qTd?usp=sharing.

This expansion is set to provide enhanced recreational opportunities for Springfield and the surrounding region, making it one of the few advanced recreation facilities in Vermont. In preparation for this project, Edgar May conducted two meetings to gather input and feedback from the community. These were instrumental in shaping the project to meet local needs and expectations. When all phases of the project are complete, the Edgar May Health and Recreation Center will be expanded by 31,000 square feet. The new and enhanced features will include 32 infant to pre-K childcare slots, an indoor walking track, an indoor turf field, wellness spaces, a community meeting space, larger locker rooms, a rock-climbing wall, and basketball and pickleball courts.

This project will also create eight full-time jobs, providing significant economic benefits to the region.

“This important grant has come at the perfect time,” Joshua Dufresne,

CEO at North Star Health, said. “As our population ages and chronic disease continues to rise, it is crucial for our community to have access to health and wellness programs that can reduce reliance on expensive medications and specialized healthcare. North Star Health is very excited to be a part of this project with Edgar May.”

For more information about the project or to make a donation, please contact Christian Craig at ccraig@edgarmay.org or 802-885-2568.

Kinhaven's Young Artists return

WESTON, Vt. – Residents of Weston and nearby towns have enjoyed concerts by the students and faculty of Kinhaven Music School for years. Kinhaven has traditionally offered Senior (high school) and Junior (middle school) sessions. In June of 2015, Kinhaven launched the tremendously successful Young Artist Seminar; its students, who are somewhat older, mainly in college and graduate school, work closely with dedicated and experienced teachers for one week, and then perform concerts for the community.

In addition to the opportunity to perform, the program's outreach concerts are a chance for Kinhaven students to establish relationships for themselves and their school with their neighbors by giving back to the local community.

Old Parish Church is proud to have hosted one of the inaugural concerts of the Young Artists back in 2015. The group has returned annually, except for a hiatus due to Covid, and will again in 2024, performing on Saturday, June 8, at 2 p.m. Their concerts last just over one hour, and have been highly popular. This year's program will consist of works by Bedřich Smetana, Jan Bach, and Ernő Dohnányi.

Kinhaven was founded by visionaries David and Dorothy Dushkin, and cultivated by pioneering music educators Jerry and Nancy Bidlack. Since 2011, Deborah Buck and Tony Mazzocchi have served as executive directors, and Adam Grabois is the director of the Young Artist Seminar.

This concert is a presentation of Old Parish Church's Hearts and Voices Performance Series. Revenues from the performances are donated to benefit recognized nonprofit organizations serving the local area. In this instance, patrons are asked to donate to benefit Neighbors Pantry, a volunteer organization dedicated to combatting food insecurity in the mountain towns.

Old Parish Church is located on Route 100, on the left as you enter Weston from the south.

Sammy, Israel, Gershom, and Shekinah to perform

PUTNEY, Vt. – Twilight Music continues its 21st Twilight On The Tavern Lawn series of bluegrass, folk rock, world beat, jazz, pop, and Zydeco summer concerts on Sunday, June 9, with an evening of music from East Africa by Sammy, Israel, Gershom, and Shekinah. The seven-concert series continues every other Sunday through Aug. 18. All concerts begin at 6 p.m., in downtown Putney, on the Putney Tavern lawn – bring a lawn chair or blanket – or at Next Stage at 15 Kimball Hill in case of rain. Coperesented with Next Stage Arts Project, the series is sponsored by the Town of Putney, The Mockingbird Tavern, Rod's, and many other Putney-area businesses and organizations. The concerts are free to the public, donations are accepted, and food will be available. For more information, call 802-387-5772 or visit www.twilightmusic.org.

Sammy Divinda, Israel Mbombo, Gershom Mbombo, and Shekinah Pemba are siblings who blend traditional African music – specifically from the Democratic Republic of the Congo and East Africa – with acoustic arrangements and melodic and message-driven songwriting. Playing music together from an early age, the three brothers and one sister have always strived to bring peace and joy to the hearts of people. Recent refugees, they continue their musical journey as new Vermonters.

Bandwagon Summer Series presents Bristol Lightning

PUTNEY, Vt. – The Next Stage Bandwagon Summer Series presents an odyssey of American music with Bristol Lightning on Saturday, June 8, at 6 p.m., at Cooper Field, 41 Sand Hill Road in Putney.

"Bluegrass from Tennessee from Grammy Award-winning musicians – what's not to love?" says Keith Marks, executive director of Next Stage Arts. "Dave Eggar has been on stages around the world in pop, classical, jazz, and so many more settings. He's an award-winning cellist who infuses a sense of virtuosity and freshness into the bluegrass genre. We're excited to host Bristol Lightning."

In 1927, the first country music records were cut in Bristol, Tenn./Va., by ordinary people with ordinary stories, and the courage to create. Now, almost 100 years later, Bristol Lightning is born in the same town, celebrating the American stories of today. From Aaron Copland to American roots music, blues, bluegrass, and beyond, Bristol Lightning's live shows take the audience on a high-energy adventure of bluegrass cello and mandolin, blues guitars, tap dance, and storytelling, weaving a powerful and poignant tapestry of the true creativity and resilience of the American spirit.

Bristol Lightning is the baby of cellist Dave Eggar. He's a student of the great American composer Aaron Copland and the legendary cellist Yo Yo Ma. Eggar has performed, recorded, and arranged for artists across genres, including Taylor Swift, Beyoncé, Coldplay, Frank Ocean, John Legend, Lewis Capaldi, Tony Bennett, and Andrea Bocelli, to name a few. He is a Grammy-nominated composer, has scored multiple films, and regularly performs in the classical and American roots music worlds. Dave teamed up with two-time Grammy nominee Phil Fanti (who has worked with Norah Jones and Foreigner) and Bristol locals Blake and Jamie Collins, to form Bristol Lightning.

The Bandwagon Summer

Series is a family-friendly outdoor cultural performance series running from early May through mid-October. More than 20 performances ranging from a diverse group of musical styles, circus arts, dance, and theater will take place at ballfields, farms, and parks throughout Windham County. Kids under 12 always get in for free, and a dedicated play area will be available at all shows. Refreshments are sold on site, including the return of the hugely popular Barr Hill cocktails. Bring a picnic and a blanket or fold-up chair to enjoy our concerts.

Cooper Field is located at 41 Sand Hill Road in Putney. Tickets can be purchased in advance at www.nextstagearts.org; kids under 12 free. For more information, visit the website or call 802-387-0102.

This performance is sponsored in part by AARP Vermont. Support for the Bandwagon Summer Series is provided by M&T Bank, Oak Meadow, The Porch Cafe & Catering, Brattleboro Reformer, and Barr Hill.

Weston Theater Company presents "Jersey Boys"

WESTON, Vt. – Weston Theater Company takes audiences for a musical ride chronicling the rise of Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons in "Jersey Boys: The Story of Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons," playing at Weston's Walker Farm Theater from June 12 – July 13.

Rock out with four young men of the 60s as they rise from the streets of New Jersey to conquer the music industry and forge friendships that stand the test of time. One of the greatest sensations in the history of popular music, Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons will sweep you off your feet with doo-wopping melodies that resonate today. The hits just keep coming, including "Sherry," Weston's production of this iconic musical is directed by John Simpkins, known for his Drama Desk-nominated production of "Bloodsong of Love," and many collaborations with Tony nominee Joe Iconis. Simpkins says, "Our team is excited to have the Weston audiences experience the epic musical 'Jersey Boys' in the intimate Walker Farm space. In addition to the iconic and legendary songs of The Four Seasons, the show is full of history, off-stage intrigue, and the price of success and fame.
