New convenience store, Dunkin' drive-thru coming to Rockingham

BY JOE MILLIKEN

The Shopper

ROCKINGHAM, Vt. – Sandri Energy, based in Greenfield, Mass., is ready to build a new, $2 million convenience store and Dunkin' restaurant at Exit 6 off I-91, in Rockingham, near where the existing Sunoco Energy convenience store sits.

According to Erika Young, Sandri Energy vice president of store operations, the company is hoping to start construction in late September. This will take approximately three months, and the existing store will remain open during construction.

The new store has already received approval from the Town of Rockingham, as well as the Vermont Agency of Transportation, and an Act 250 state land-use permit is currently in the works. The land being utilized for the new store, restaurant, and drive-thru is an 11-acre lot on Route 103, next to the Exit 6 southbound onramp. It is also the same area where the current store stands.

"We are closing out the Act 250 permitting process; given that we may run out of time with winter approaching, the project will likely start in early spring 2025," Young said in a recent interview. "We will build the new store behind the current location, to lessen the interruption in business. Once the new building is complete, which will take approximately three to four months, we will tear down the current building."

The new store and restaurant/drive-thru window will be constructed behind the current store and further away from the road, and the existing gas pumps and canopy will remain in place, with new landscaping surrounding the property. The current store is 2,300 square feet, while the size of the new store will increase to some 4,300 square feet. Store parking will be on the footprint of the old store. "The new store is going to be much bigger than the existing store, doubled in size," Young said. "We will be adding diesel fuel at the pumps, as well as a much larger selection of beverages, fresh and warm food offerings, and self-checkout for those who prefer that option. The new store will be much bigger, cleaner, and more modern."

The decision to either start construction at the end of September or wait until the spring to begin building should be made within the next week. Once that decision is made, bids will go out to choose a contractor. Sandri Energy is investing an estimated $2 million in the project, and the new store and restaurant will require a new water and wastewater system.

Sandri Energy also owns and operates similar convenience stores in Williston and Greenfield, Mass. A decision is not being made at this time on whether the new store will apply for a liquor license.

Springfield considers revitalization projects

BY PAULA BENSON

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Kelly Stettner, director of Black River Action Team (BRAT), attended Monday night's Springfield Selectboard meeting, held on Sept. 9, at the Springfield Town Hall, beginning at 6 p.m., where town manager Jeff Mobus recognized the effort that Stettner and volunteer employees from Hypertherm in Springfield put forward for a day of cleanup along the Black River.

"The cleanup was a tremendous success," reported Mobus. "2.4 tons of material and 125 tires [were] removed from the river/riverbank."

Stettner told the board this was part of the annual "source-to-sea cleanup" program sponsored by the Connecticut River Conservancy.

Selectboard Chair Kristi Morris asked Stettner to please talk "about some of the other things that BRAT does, such as the water quality testing."

"Sure," began Stettner. Stating that she hadn't prepared anything specific, Stettner took a moment to speak on the topic. She reported that BRAT monitors the water of the main river and its many tributaries on the watershed, which is about 202 square miles. Seven lakes and eight swimming holes are tested for bacteria, following the state's program regarding monitoring and managing the ecology of the area.

Mobus introduced Chris Rivet, project manager from the engineering consulting firm Dubois & King, and explained that the town had applied for several grants to replace the salt shed, a large structure built in the 1980s for use by the Springfield Town Highway Department, and currently in a state of deterioration. The town received funding to conduct a scoping study coordinated by the Mount Ascutney Regional Commission (MARC) and carried out by Dubois & King to look at the issues, costs, and recommendations for repair or replacement.

Several months ago, the board heard from the owner of two properties that were to be demolished under the town's unsafe building ordinance, and granted an appeal based on meeting certain conditions. Per a memo from planning and zoning coordinator Chuck Wise, the owner of 52 Valley Street and 67 Furnace Street has not complied with the board's requirements, and Wise recommended enforcing the order of demolition. Wise's memo stated Lewco LLC would be awarded the bid, and demolition would occur between November 2024 and January 2025, with full restoration completed by April-May 2025.

Vice Chair Michael Martin reviewed a proposal to designate the portion of Wall Street between Summer Street and Reed Street as one-way, as presented by the ordinance committee. After a brief discussion, the board moved to accept the amended ordinance and scheduled a public hearing for Oct. 14. At that time, Martin stated, the board could take action to approve the ordinance, which would go into effect 60 days after the public hearing, and the public will have 44 days to petition the board to rescind their decision.

Library director and Springfield resident Sue Dowdell asked the board, "Will there be a four-way stop sign at the intersection of Reed and Wall Street?"

Martin responded that the designation of traffic signs was within the purview of the police chief, but said the board would forward her concern.

Mobus presented the board with his proposed 2025-2026 budget calendar, and took a moment to invite any Springfield residents interested in the budget process to volunteer for the budget advisory committee. Applications can be found on the town website.

The board considered four proposals for the Springfield North Gateway Riverwalk Project, prepared by Stantec Consulting Services. The presentation can be found within the meeting packet on the town website. Mobus said the project was still "a few years down the road," and the board decided to bring the engineer in again for further clarification before taking action.

Adjourning to an executive session, Morris closed the selectboard meeting. The board will meet again on Sept. 23.

A quick meeting for the Bellows Falls Trustees

BY PAULA BENSON

The Shopper

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – At the Tuesday, Sept. 10, meeting of the Bellows Falls Village Trustees, town manager Scott Pickup updated the board on two capital projects that are winding down. The Lula lift project for the fire department and the installation of new radios for the police department are nearing completion, and should be finalized this week.

Pickup also announced the startup of fall leaf collecting, reporting that residents can pick up the clear plastic bags at the town hall or the recycling center. The bags are typically collected curbside from residences on Mondays and Fridays.

Regarding the intended renovation of 0 Bridge Street, one of the first of the mixed-use projects that was identified in the Area Wide Plan, Pickup told the trustees that the town would be publishing a request for quotation, asking interested private-sector parties to respond with proposals prior to the end of the year. The schedule factors in a period for questions and review, with the deadline of Dec. 20 to receive all final proposals.

Pickup mentioned that the employee pension plan had not been updated since 2008, and told the board he was going to review the plan, make changes, then present it back to them later for approval.

The next meeting of trustees will be held on Oct. 8, where the agenda will include a discussion of year-end financials, Health Care and Rehabilitation Services (HCERS), and distribution of opioid settlement funds.

"Ask the Chamber" at Springfield Library

BY PAULA BENSON

The Shopper

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – What does a chamber of commerce do for its community? The Springfield Town Library invites residents to an engaging and informative event, "Ask the Chamber," on Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 6 p.m. This deep dive into local business support will be held at the library, 43 Main Street in Springfield. Executive director Taylor Drinker and Chamber President Mike Schmitt will provide insights into the Springfield Regional Chamber of Commerce's pivotal role in supporting local businesses and community projects.

Attendees will have the chance to explore the Chamber's various initiatives, and discover how these efforts are driving the growth and prosperity of Springfield. Drinker and Schmitt will share valuable information on the Chamber's programs, and answer questions from the community, fostering a deeper understanding of how local businesses and residents can benefit from their work.

"Community Conversations give residents an opportunity to connect with government officials and leaders of our local organizations," said library director Sue Dowdell. "We encourage everyone to exercise their right to know what is going on in town and, in this case, gain a clearer picture of how the chamber contributes to our town's development. Whether you're a local business owner, a community member, or simply interested in learning more about the chamber's impact, this event is designed to provide valuable insights and foster meaningful dialogue."

For more information about the "Ask the Chamber" event, or to RSVP, please contact the Springfield Town Library at 802-885-3108, email springfieldlibrary@hotmail.com, or visit www.springfieldtownlibrary.org.

Technicians earn Daimler Professional Certification

WESTMINSTER, Vt. – Diesel technicians from Advantage Truck Group (ATG), including Adrian Emrick and Ryan Labbe, who work at the company's Westminister location, recently earned the Daimler Trucks North America (DTNA) Professional certification for Freightliner and Western Star vehicles.

The technicians earned the DTNA Professional certification by completing a series of web-based training modules and in-depth, instructor-led classes covering the various systems on a truck, including electronics, suspension, axles, brakes, clutches, electrical, and HVAC.

"Achieving this certification is an important milestone that distinguishes a technician's expertise, and ensures a high level of service for our customers," said

ATG training director and certified dealer-trainer Rob Lynds, whose classes at the ATG training center in Shrewsbury often include technicians from other dealer companies.

Lynds, along with ATG network trainer Matthew McCuin, leads training for ATG technicians throughout the company's locations in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Vermont.

Diesel technicians Adrian Emrick and Ryan Labbe (second and third from right) from Advantage Truck Group in Westminister were among the five ATG technicians who recently earned the Daimler Trucks North America Professional certification.

Candidates at the Coffeehouse

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Join community members at the Flat Iron Cooperative in Bellows Falls for an opportunity to engage with the state and local candidates. This event allows voters to ask questions and share their concerns in advance of the November general election. On Saturday, Sept. 21, at 10:30 a.m., the Candidates at the Coffeehouse series will hold its third event at the Flat Iron, located at 51 The Square, Bellows Falls, Vt.

Attendees will have the chance to meet with local and statewide legislators, including Vermont State Treasurer Mike Pieciak, State Sen. Nader Hashim, State Sen. Wendy Harrison, State Rep. Michelle Bos-Lun, and State Rep. Leslie Goldman. The Candidates at the Coffeehouse series provides a valuable opportunity for community members to converse with Vermont legislators and elected statewide officials.

Bos-Lun expressed, “The Candidates at the Coffeehouse Series connects residents of Windham County with both local representatives and senators, and a number of individuals serving in statewide office.”

Larisa Demos, a co-owner of the Flat Iron, added, “Some of the seven co-op principles include education, democracy, and concern for community. We are excited to host the Candidates at the Coffeehouse series to help educate our community about democracy, and encourage engagement with local and state officials in conversation.”

Snacks will be provided, as well as materials about candidates and elected officials.

For more information about this event or future Candidates at the Coffeehouse sessions, contact Bos-Lun at michelleforvt@gmail.com, or Goldman at lesliegforwindham3@gmail.com.

Getting out the vote

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Join with friends and neighbors partnering with Lean Left Vermont and the Center for Common Ground to get out the vote this November. On Saturday, Sept. 21, from 10 a.m. – 12 p.m., at the Rockingham Library, we will gather to write postcards to voters in North Carolina, who are often overlooked by political campaigns. The postcard messaging is tailored to the communities, providing accurate and critical information, offering a bridge from nonvoter to empowered voter, because every voice deserves to be heard.

In order to elect leaders who will address these problems, advance democracy, and put the nation's welfare before self-interest, Lean Left has chosen to work on elections outside Vermont, where the need for voter protection and legislative change is the greatest. Lean Left partners with progressive grassroots organizations like the Center for Common Ground, who are promoting meaningful, sustained actions that focus on supporting and protecting the vote and building democratic power at the local, state, and federal levels. In 2024, Lean Left will be working in three key states: New Hampshire, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania.

This postcard effort is part of Reclaim Our Vote. This event is free, and everyone is welcome. All materials needed will be provided. Donations to the organizers to help defray the cost of postcards and stamps will be welcome. For more information, contact Meg Lucas at 802-869-1236.

VINE receives Spirit of the ADA Award

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – VINE Sanctuary, a Springfield-based animal sanctuary, has been selected as a winner of the 2024 Spirit of the ADA Award by the Governor's Committee on the Employment of People with Disabilities (GCEPD). This esteemed award honors businesses that exemplify the values of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) by promoting inclusive hiring, training, and retention of people with disabilities.

VINE Sanctuary, nominated by Jennifer Stagg of the Vermont Association of Business, Industry, and Rehabilitation (VABIR), was recognized for its commitment to creating equal employment opportunities for individuals with disabilities. The Spirit of ADA Award is part of the GCEPD's mission to foster partnerships between businesses, government, and people with disabilities, and to promote equal employment for all Vermont citizens.

“We are incredibly honored to receive this award,” said Cheryl Wyle of VINE Sanctuary. “At VINE, we are committed to creating a place that is a sanctuary to all individuals, including visitors, staff, and residents, and this recognition encourages us to continue our efforts.”

The award will be officially presented at a ceremony in October, in recognition of Disability Employment Awareness Month, a time dedicated to raising awareness about disability employment issues and celebrating the many and varied contributions of workers with disabilities.

VINE Sanctuary, located in Springfield, Vt., is a farmed-animal sanctuary that works for social and environmental justice and animal liberation. The solar-powered sanctuary, the first to rehabilitate roosters used in cockfighting, is currently home to over 500 residents. The founders of VINE Sanctuary first met while working on a campaign to protect the housing rights of people with disabilities, making this award especially meaningful to its mission and history.

For more information about VINE Sanctuary, visit its website at www.vine-sanctuary.org.

Discussion circle about incarceration

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – On Saturday, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m., the Rockingham Library will host a discussion circle exploring the realities of life while incarcerated, the challenges of re-entering society afterwards, and the meaningfulness of creating art during these life adjustments. Two women who work closely with incarcerated persons in Vermont, Heather Newcomb of Vermont Works for Women and Mel Dawson of Greater Falls Community Justice Center, will share their perspectives, and answer any questions. A number of formerly incarcerated persons might also join in. The public is invited to take part in this conversation. This event is free and open to the public. For more information, email programming@rockinghamlibrary.org, call 802-463-4270, or stop by the library at 65 Westminster Street in Bellows Falls, Vt.

Breeze Thru Agility offers dog agility classes

S. CHARLESTOWN, N.H. – Longtime dog agility instructor Elise Pafra of Breeze Thru Agility, a Brattleboro, Vt., based business since 1995, is now offering dog agility classes in South Charlestown, N.H.

While many people's first introduction to agility is often by watching high-level national events on TV, agility training has so much to offer people and their dogs aside from competition.

It is one of the most engaging and fun sports you and your dog can do together. It's an excellent confidence builder, is mentally and physically challenging, and can't help but improve the bond between you and your dog.

While learning to do the agility obstacles, handlers will also work on their dog's focus, responsiveness, and self-control – all good skills for agility and real life.

Breeze Thru Agility classes are small, supportive, and fun. All training is done with positive reinforcement to create the best learning experience possible for both dog and human.

For more information and details about upcoming classes, email BreezeThruAgility@gmail.com, or call 802-463-1084.

You may also check out www.breezethruagility.com, although specific information about the upcoming New Hampshire classes is not yet available on the website.

“The Sale on the Green”

BY RON PATCH

802-374-0119
ronpatch27@gmail.com

The Chester Festival on the Green is celebrating its 50th year this Sept. 21 and 22. I got to thinking about it in years past. I always knew it as, “The Sale on the Green.”

Over its half-century, it has been run by different organizations, and under different names. It has always been a great get-together. I always manage to wander down.

A number of years ago, Theresa Johnson donated to the Chester Historical Society her collection of The Message newspapers. Theresa and Wes ran The Message for years. These newspapers are boxed by year, beginning in 1982.

I met Carla Westine at the historical society this past week to search the papers for relevant history. Carla took the 1982 box of The Message, I took 1983. We sat apart, reading out loud, when we found mention of the “The Sale on the Green,” or maybe an ad, or news event that piqued our interest. Year by year, Carla and I searched these newspapers. It was fun. It is from these newspapers I can give you some history of changes made over the years.

Our findings

In the June 1982 edition of The Message is a press release that reads in part, “The Summer Sale on the Green is a recent sibling of Chester Chamber’s Autumn Sale on the Green.”

In the same edition was an ad for the July 4 Sale on the Green. I remember when vendors included antiques dealers. There was some opposition about allowing antiques dealers, some said they didn’t want it to turn into a flea market.

The Message in September 1982 offers more information: “The Chester Chamber of Commerce has officially designated Saturday October 2 as the date for the Annual Sale on the Green.” They boasted 30 exhibitors.

The Sept. 30, 1986, edition of The Message has a press release for the October event: “Chester Celebrates Fall with The Sale on the Green...The Sale on the Green has become one of the area’s largest and best attended celebrations of the foliage season.” They boasted 55 vendors.

By October 1989, The Sale on the Green had grown to the point where more space was needed. They thought the answer was expanding to Memorial Field off Coleigh Street. It was billed as, “The Sale on the Bigger Green,” I remember a few antiques dealers set up on Memorial Field. This field did not work out well. Not many shoppers ventured out back. They soon gave up this location. They boasted 100 exhibitors.

By 1991, it was billed as “Chester Chamber of Commerce Annual Foliage Fair (Formerly The Sale on the Bigger Green...)”

By 1992, another name change came. A full-page ad headline read, “Chester’s Fall Foliage Fair.”

At some point, the Ches-

ter Chamber of Commerce gave the venue up. That’s when Okemo Valley Chamber of Commerce took it over. It continued under their direction, until it was taken over by Chester Rotary. In 2020, Chester Rotary turned the reins over to the current group.

Today it is called “Chester Festival on the Green.” A committee was formed made up of five volunteers. The committee is known as Chester Community Events. There are five members: Scott Blair, Lee Whiting, Shannon Parker, Ruthann Batchelder, and Julie Hance.

This year there are two street dances, one in front of the Fullerton, the other in front of Free Range. In older ads I found mention of Ali Lubin playing and singing on the porch of the Chester Inn, and cloggers in the street. I remember these dances. This year, cloggers are back.

They have many food vendors, so you won’t die of starvation.

The historical society lawn is for nonprofit organizations. Behind the historical society will be The Vermont Culture Area, where artists and professionals will offer demonstrations, how they do what they do. By the way, Chester Historical Society will be open both days.

This year there are over 85 vendors. Maybe I’ll see you there.

This week’s old saying is a joke I heard years ago. A fellow from the city counterfeited 18-dollar bills, thinking he could pass them in Vermont. He stopped at a general store and asked, “Can you break an 18-dollar bill for me?” “Sure. Do you want three sixes or two nines?”

Don’t miss this year’s 50th annual Chester Festival on the Green.

Ronald A. Ameden, 1958-2024

JAMAICA, Vt. – Ronald Alan Ameden, 66, of Jamaica, Vt., died peacefully on Tuesday, Sept. 3, 2024, with his wife by his side, following a brief illness. Ron's death, like all his life, was "on his own terms."

Ron was born Jan. 19, 1958, in Townshend, Vt., to Alwin and Joyce (Slade) Ameden. He attended the Winhall Elementary School, and graduated from Leland & Gray Middle and High School in 1976. He owned and operated a property management company in the Winhall/Stratton area for many years.

He married Debra D. Nadeau on July 16, 2024, but they spent the last 12 years building a life and home together in Cavendish, Vt.

Ron was an avid hunter, and always looked forward to the "first weekend in hunting camp." He was also a firearms enthusiast, and enjoyed sharing his knowledge of firearms with others. Ron enjoyed his weekly bowling nights with his team, and took much pleasure in riding his Harley and spending time RVing with friends. He was a member of the Rutland Elks Lodge #345. Although Ron had no children of his own, he thoroughly enjoyed spending time with his nieces and nephews.

Survivors include his wife, stepdaughters Kaylee (Roger) Purdy of Rutland, Vt., Kristie (Jason) McGraw of North Carolina, and Melissa (John) Colvin of Proctor, Vt.; a sister-in law Brenda of Cavendish; a brother Randy (Teresa) Ameden; and his sisters Nancy (Robert) Oakes and Robin Ameden, all of Bondville, Vt. He is survived by nieces Amanda (Nick) Bergeron of North Stratford, N.H., Angela (Jared) Ryan of Poultney, Vt., and Andrea (Nate) Ameden of Bondville, Vt.; and nephews Tim (Elizabeth) Oakes of Bondville, Vt., Jared Ameden of Bondville, Vt., and Riley Kenney of Chester, Vt. In addition, he is also survived by numerous great-nieces and great-nephews, and step-grandchildren. He was predeceased by both parents.

As per Ron's wishes, there will be no services, but a Celebration of Life will be held on Sunday, Oct. 13, at 2 p.m., at 2184 East Road in Cavendish, Vt. Charitable donations may be made in Ron's name to Shriners Hospitals for Children, Attn: Office of Development, 2900 N. Rocky Point Drive, Tampa, FL 33607; or The Dorset Equine Rescue, P.O. Box 92, East Dorset, VT 05253.

Arrangements are under the direction of Clifford Funeral Home.

Robert Blish, 1953-2024

CHARLESTOWN, N.H. – Robert "Chicky" Blish Sr. of Sunrise Village passed away Sunday, Sept. 8, 2024. He was born on Sept. 13, 1953, to Margaret (Allen) and George Blish Jr. He is survived by his children Robert Blish Jr. and partner, Angela Bly Scanlon and family, Samantha Blish and her partner, and Michael Fowler and family; Wend; Macia; his brother William Blish (Diane); his sister Sharon Lambert (Roland); his former wife Gail Matthews; and stepchildren Amy Brown and family, Adam Hooper and family, and Nicole Hooper and family. He had many grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, and nephews who adored him. He was predeceased by his parents, sister Joyce Mason, and brother-in-law Jim.

Bob was currently working at the Charlestown Transfer Station. He also worked as a mechanic at many local shops, and also as an attendant at Blish Trucking. He had wandering feet, and loved to travel, go to the races, and later in life fishing, especially at Lake Warren with his friend Brian. There will be a Celebration of Bob's Life on Sept. 21, at 1 p.m., at 52 Bowker Street in Claremont.

Please wear a pocket T-shirt in honor of him. Be Ready to laugh and have a good time, as he wanted it. "I'm not here for a long time. I'm here for a good time."

Arrangements are with Stringer Funeral Homes and Crematorium, 146 Broad Street, Claremont, N.H. To view an online memorial or send a private message of condolence, visit www.stringerfh.com.

Scott B. Hinds, 1949-2024

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – Scott Bradford Hinds, 74, formerly of Springfield, Vt., and, since May of 2023, a resident at the Gill Odd Fellows Home in Ludlow, Vt., passed away at the Gill Home on Sept. 11, 2024, a few weeks shy of his 75th birthday, with his sister by his side, of a sudden medical event related to multiple declining health issues. Scott was born Oct. 19, 1949, in Springfield, Vt., to John F. Hinds and Eileen M. (Simonds) Hinds. Throughout his life he also lived in Burlington, Vt.; Chicago, Ill.; Hanover, Mass.; North Kingstown, R.I.; Newfane, Vt.; and while under Developmental Services with shared living providers, in Bellows Falls, Vt., and Bethel, Vt.

Scott attended special education at Brookside School in Springfield, Vt. After completion of the required curriculum, he went to the Vocational Occupational Training Center in Proctorsville, Vt. He worked briefly at the Brattleboro Retreat in Brattleboro, Vt., and in 1970 went to work at The Old Newfane Inn in Newfane, Vt. He worked at The Old Newfane Inn for 41 years, until 2011, when the inn closed. At this point he retired.

Scott is survived by his sister and brother-in-law, Sherry and Ralph Goings of Perkinsville, Vt., as well as Ralph's extended family. Also an uncle, Steve Simonds, of Maine; Jacqueline Rousseau of Bethel, Vt., special friend and previous home provider; and many cousins located throughout the country. He is predeceased by his parents, his sister Kathleen "Kate" Hinds, his grandparents, as well as several uncles and aunts.

The family wishes to extend a very heartfelt thank you for their loving care and support to all employees at the Gill Home. They were right beside him and his sister during the last few days of his life. Thanks also to Developmental Services at HCRS during his time there receiving services. There will not be services, and a private burial will take place at the family plot at a later date. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to a charity of your choice.

Arrangements are being assisted by the Davis Memorial Chapel in Springfield, Vt.

Andon C. Wilson, 1952-2024

BRISTOL, Vt. – Andon Charles "Sandy" Wilson, born Feb. 27, 1952, in Leicester, Vt., lost his battle with heart failure Aug. 3, 2024, at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston, Mass. Sandy will be cremated and placed at his family plot in Bristol, Vt.

A memorial service will be held Oct. 5, at 10 a.m., at the Baptist Church, 2258 Main Street, Cavendish, Vt. Andon served in the Navy from April 10, 1969, to Feb. 12, 1970, when he was honorably discharged from the service. He was a lifetime member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7823. He was a member of the American Legion for 55 years, mostly at the local Ludlow Post 36, and enjoyed serving his community through his membership. He also served the community of Bristol, Vt., as a volunteer firefighter, and obtained his license as a propane gas installer, and worked for his uncle delivering oil. He enjoyed travelling to Virginia Beach, taking his daughter to amusement parks and beaches, and attending her school events. Sandy fondly remembered his summers camping out near Red Bridge, and enjoyed the company at the lakeside. Sandy also enjoyed his time in Virginia Beach.

Andon was survived by his daughter Donnia Blagrove. He was predeceased by his parents Donald Edward Wilson and Anne "Lovell" Wilson, and his wife Donna Angella "Ellis" Wilson, whom he married April 8, 2008. She tragically passed away May 28, 2009, of cancer.

Gary and Karen Balch graveside service

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – A graveside service for Gary and Karen Balch will be held Oct. 12, at 11 a.m., at the Oakland Cemetery in Springfield, Vt., followed by a reception at the Crown Point Pub, 155 Gold Club Road, Springfield.

William D. Hodgson Sr., 1944-2024

N. SPRINGFIELD, Vt. – William D. Hodgson Sr., 80, died Sunday, Sept. 8, 2024, at Cedar Hill Nursing Home in Windsor, Vt.

William was born on Dec. 7, 1944, in Taunton, Mass., the son of George and Lillian (Wilkinson) Hodgson. He grew up in Taunton and attended Taunton Public Schools. In 1961, he joined the Navy. A Vietnam veteran, William was a cook, and was stationed throughout the United States and traveled the world for 23 years, until retiring in 1984 as a chief in the Submarine Service of the U.S. Navy. He was married to Shirley Gouveia in 1967, in Taunton, Mass., where they started a family together. They would later divorce, and he would make his home in Hubbardton, Vt., where his son and daughter have many fond memories of summers spent together. He later moved to West Rutland, and then Ludlow, where he met his future wife, Mary Michalke, at the Ludlow school where he worked in the kitchen, and she taught. They married in 2003, and made their home in North Springfield, where they lived together until Mary's death in 2013.

William was a former member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He loved to go fishing with his family and friends, always searching for that perfect bass. He would make regular trips to Lake Champlain with his good friend John Montgomery.

William is preceded in

Percussionist Cyro Baptista to perform

PUTNEY, Vt. – The Next Stage Bandwagon Summer Series presents Brazilian-born percussionist in jazz and world music Cyro Baptista, on Saturday, Sept. 21, at 5 p.m.

Baptista is a Brazilian-born percussionist and composer whose vast talent and penchant for innovation brought him to be praised as one of the most respected musicians in the world.

Baptista's endless sonic curiosity and intense rhythm led him to create several musical ensembles, and record many albums of his own. He has also lent his sounds to several Grammy award-winning records and to over 300 CDs with many of the most beloved musicians in the world.

"Easily the most famous of all of the artists of the series, Cyro has played with Trey Anastasio, Paul Simon, Yo-Yo Ma, Herbie Hancock, and John Zorn. This project, Chama, is his new group that explores Brazilian themes, but with obvious surprises," says Keith Marks, executive director of Next Stage Arts. "Cyro is a musician's musician, and it goes without saying that we're blessed to have this performance as part of our outdoor summer series. Cyro is a playful soul whose music is imbued with playfulness and virtuosity."

Baptista leads four different ensembles with 10 released albums under his name. He tours continuously throughout the world with them. He conducts master classes at major musical institutions, such as Juilliard School, Berklee College of Music, New York University, Mannes College of Music, The New School, Holy Cross University, New World Symphony Orchestra, University of Vermont, University of Buffalo, Kimmel Center Jazz Camp, and K-12 schools across the country.

Baptista has a great interest in education and sharing his knowledge and experiences, especially to underserved factions of society, through his "Sound of Community" initiative.

This performance is copresented with The Stone Church.

Cooper Field is located at 41 Sand Hill Road in Putney. Tickets can be purchased in advance at www.nextstagearts.org; kids under 12 get in free. For more information, visit the website or call 802-387-0102.

Support for the Bandwagon Summer Series is provided by M&T Bank, Lawson's Finest Liquids, Oak Meadow, The Porch Cafe & Catering, Southern Vermont Solar, and Confluence Acupuncture.

Almost Canon's Paranormal Story Night

JAMAICA, Vt. – Kick the spooky season off the right way this year with Almost Canon Podcast and our Paranormal Spooktacular Story Night at Jamaica State Park on Saturday, Sept. 28.

We'll be taking the show out of the studio and into the wild, with the hopes of hearing your paranormal encounters inside one of Vermont's very own haunted state parks. We'll be spending the night around the campfire, hosting this special event for you, the public, to share your personal encounters with the unknown or paranormal, free of judgment.

So, if you've experienced the paranormal or unknown, and have a story you'd like to share, or a story you've wanted to share in the past but were convinced no one would believe you, then please, join us at Jamaica State Park on Sept. 28, for a no-judgment story night.

That's right folks. If you've seen or encountered a big-foot, dogman, ghost, lake monster, UFO/UAP, alien, or some sort of other unexplainable phenomenon not mentioned above, then come down to Jamaica State Park on Saturday, Sept. 28. Our night starts at 5 p.m.

We are unable to waive the park entrance fee. To help offset the park fee, Almost Canon will include a free Almost Canon sticker with the first 50 tickets, or until they run out.

Killington Cup returns

KILLINGTON, Vt. – Vermont's Killington Resort, the largest ski and snowboard destination in eastern North America, announced today that tickets for the 2024 Stifel Killington Cup were made available for purchase, starting Sept. 17, at 10 a.m. Taking place Nov. 29 – Dec. 1, the Audi FIS Ski World Cup will once again bring women's giant slalom and slalom races to Vermont. The event is expected to attract Stifel U.S. Ski Team superstars, including seven-time Stifel Killington Cup slalom victor and winningest alpine skier in history Mikaela Shiffrin, who may be going for her historic 100th victory. She'll be joined by teammates, former University of Vermont skier Paula Moltzan, Olympian AJ Hurt, and Nina O'Brien, who is making her return from injury this season.

A percentage from all ticket options benefit the Killington World Cup Foundation, which supports athlete team services and provides grants to bolster winter sports infrastructure and access to winter sports throughout the region.

For additional information about the 2024 Stifel Killington Cup, please visit www.killington.com/worldcup.

Vermont Comedy All Stars at Next Stage

PUTNEY, Vt. – Gordon Clark and his Vermont Comedy All Stars return for a night of stand-up comedy at Next Stage Arts. Featured performers will include several contest-winning and touring comedians most often seen in the Burlington area.

“We’ve got to keep laughing to handle the news these days,” says Keith Marks, executive director of Next Stage Arts. “We’ve had a number of Vermont comedians go into New York and start careers. We’re proud to give them a space in southern Vermont to be seen.”

Ang Buxton is a wild comedian and tiny-handed DJ. Born and raised in Springfield, Mass., Buxton is high-energy and smart in a stupid way. They’ve done Denver’s Rise Festival, and were featured as P3 Comedy Festival’s Queer of the Year. Buxton has headlined at Radio Bean, Cinema Salem, Don’t Tell Burlington, and Nate Jackson’s Comedy Club in Tacoma, Wash., to name a few. They also produce a bunch of stuff like the Far Out Comedy Festival. Follow them on all social media platforms @bux_wild.

Tracy Dolan has been a staple of Vermont’s comedy scene for the past 12 years, and has been featured in Boston’s Women in Comedy Festival and New York City’s She Devil Comedy Festival. She teaches stand-up comedy at the Vermont Comedy Club, and regularly features there for national headliners.

Tim Lovett launched his comedy career in Massachusetts, and has now been entertaining audiences across New England for the past 10 years with his unique blend of wit and energy, an engaging style, and sharp observational comedy. Along the way, Lovett has shared the stage with some of the biggest names in comedy, including Donnell Rawlings, Talent Harris, Damon Williams, the late AJ Johnson, Jessica Kirson, and Robin Montague. Lovett is also the founder of Comedy as a Weapon, a comedy production brand that showcases diverse comedic voices and brings laughter to a wide variety of venues. As relatable as he is outrageous, Lovett has quickly become a big fan-favorite of Vermont Comedy All Stars, and has performed this year at our other shows in Burlington, Montpelier, and Waterbury.

Danny Pee hails from the White Mountains of New Hampshire, and now calls the city of Manchester his home. He got his start in the Manchester comedy scene, and soon earned write ups in the local press. Danny serves as the host of The Laugh Attic at Strange Brew Tavern, and has been featured in Laugh Boston’s Roast Battle series. He has enjoyed performing throughout New England, and is very excited to return to Vermont.

Host Gordon Clark is proof that you can teach an old dog new tricks. A lifelong organizer and activist, he took up comedy when he was nearing 60 and never looked back. Mostly because it hurts his neck when he turns that way. Clark is the director of the non-profit Vermont Comedy All Stars, through which he produces and hosts monthly stand-up comedy showcase specials in Burlington at the iconic Nectar’s, and Montpelier’s Bent Nails Bistro, as well as the quarterly showcase at the Next Stage Arts Theater in Putney. He lives in Burlington with his wife, dog, and cat.

Next Stage is located at 15 Kimball Hill in downtown Putney, Vt. All talks are free to attend, but donations are appreciated. Advance registration is available at www.nextstagearts.org. For information, call 802-387-0102.

Three new shows at Canal Street Art Gallery

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Canal Street Art Gallery presents the “Ceramic | Fiber” show and the Carol Keiser Solo Spotlight show, open Sept. 20 – Nov. 9. The gallery is also pleased to announce the opening of its new Artist Made Stationary Department. Join the gallery for Third Friday Gallery Night in historic downtown Bellows Falls, Vt., Sept. 20, from 5-7 p.m., to celebrate fall in Vermont with local art and an opening reception for the artists. All gallery events are free and open to the public, for wheelchair accessibility call 802-289-0104.

The “Ceramic | Fiber” exhibition shows work by five local artists who use one or both of these historically and culturally significant mediums in their art. One-of-a-kind blankets by Christine Cole consist of hand-dyed luxury fibers from around the world and are treated as paintings, blending threads of different yarns together to mix colors. Meghan Dogherty builds hollow ceramic sculptural forms, utilitarian wares, and occasionally whimsical creatures. Her sculpture is heavily influenced by her previous work as a tenured research professor of media ecology. Kristen Donegan’s work combines both textile and ceramic, and comes from a place of introspection and investigation into nature and myth, and where the two intersect through art and craft. D. Brooks Heley creates painted clay sculptures which challenge the fundamental nature of knowledge, reality, and existence. Su Lin Mangan’s art quilts are inspired by urban landscapes, and informed by her background in anthropology and fashion design.

Carol Keiser, in her Solo Spotlight show, shares acrylic paintings depicting floral still-lives, Mexican interiors, and friends gathering, all created by the artist over the winter of 2023-2024. “My work is inspired by the world around me, my life in the countryside of Putney, Vt., and my time living in Mexico, a country of color and contrast,” explains Keiser.

The new Artist Made Stationery Department, located within Canal Street Art Gallery, features original artwork on hand-folded paper. The Artist Made Stationery Department debuts with a collection from MC Noyes Studio. Products include note cards, greeting cards, and writing sets, all with matching envelopes. Also available are gift tags, as well as accordion-folded, stab-bound sketch and notebooks in three sizes. Initial designs include woodland forget me not, hawksbeard, lady fern, seven-spot ladybug, brook trout, wild turkey, aurora pink and luminous red dots, fluorescent green with fluorescent blue, and luminous lemon stripes. The gallery invites artists to present their own original artwork on stationery products to be sold in the gallery. To submit, send images with details on materials used and retail prices to submissions@canalstreetartgallery.com.

Canal Street Art Gallery is located at 23 Canal Street, in historic downtown Bellows Falls, Vt., and is open Tuesday-Saturday, from 10 a.m. – 5 p.m. For more information about the “Ceramic | Fiber” show, the Carol Keiser Solo Spotlight show, or the Artist Made Stationery Department, go to canalstreetartgallery.com, call Mike at 802-289-0104, or send emails to artinfo@canalstreetartgallery.com.

Nordic Harmoni at the Peru Fair

PERU, Vt. – Nordic Harmoni invites all to join us at the Peru Fair on Sept. 28, at 12 p.m., in the Peru Church, Peru, Vt. We are delighted to be back singing together under the wonderful direction of Lorri Bond.

The Peru Fair started in 1978 as a tag sale event, and has grown to much, much more, with over 100 exhibitors and upwards of 6,000 visitors each year. The spirit of the fair is one of community and small town life. Proceeds from the fair are donated to the Peru Scholarship Fund. Scholarships are awarded to graduating high school seniors of Peru continuing on to higher education. Check out the Peru Fair website at www.perufair.org.

Nordic Harmoni is the only Swedish-American chorus in southern Vermont, and enjoys sharing Scandinavian heritage and traditions. We welcome all interested singers to join us for rehearsals at the Second

Congregational Church in Londonderry, where we sing both in English (70%) and Swedish (30%). You do not need to know Swedish to join – we will help all with pronunciations. To learn more about Nordic Harmoni, see www.auss.org/nordic, find them on Facebook, or call Carl-Erik Westberg at 802-824-6578.

Julian Gerstin

Sextet at Stage 33

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. – Julian Gerstin Sextet will be at Stage 33 Live, 33 Bridge Street in Bellows Falls, Vt., on Sunday, Sept. 29, at 7 p.m. Tickets are available in advance through www.stage33live.com, or at the door. Advance tickets guarantee entry. There is limited seating, and the performance will be recorded and filmed.

Julian Gerstin has spent a lifetime playing the music of the Caribbean, Africa, the Middle East, and the U.S. – funk, R&B, and jazz. He’s lived and studied in Martinique, Cuba, and Ghana, mastering dozens of percussion instruments and hundreds of traditional rhythms. On a given song you might hear him playing congas, jawbone, an enormous beaded shaker, or the tanbou drum of Martinique, on which he sits and uses his heel to change the pitch.

Gerstin founded the sextet to bring his wide range of instruments and influences to a jazz setting, where they serve as a platform for his fellow musicians’ creativity. The group includes some of New England’s most creative talents: clarinet virtuoso Anna Patton; versatile trumpeter Don Anderson; pianist Eugene Uman, who, like Julian, ranges across traditions, and from funky grooves to experimentalism; bassist Wes Brown, whose career spans gigs with early jazz master Earl “Fatha” Hines to avant-gardists like Wadada Leo Smith and Anthony Braxton; Ben James, who was John Tchicai’s drummer for several years, and can both swing and go wild.

This is global jazz – music with lively Caribbean drums and sparkling trumpet, velvety clarinet and muscular piano. Music by turns lyrical and humorous, intense and peaceful, grooving and thoughtful, and always surprising.

Some do's and don'ts for home buyers

REGION – Purchasing a house is an exciting endeavor, and it doesn't have to be a stressful one. Choosing a good realtor, lender, and attorney to assist you through the process can smooth out a lot of the bumps, and allow you to focus on your future plans while your team keeps the process moving forward. I highly recommend working with local lenders who are familiar with Vermont real estate transactions and property taxes. Vermont recently passed some major changes to our property transfer tax, which was reduced for home buyers looking for a primary residence, but be mindful it actually increased substantially if you are purchasing a second home.

Here are some suggested do's and don'ts for a successful closing. Do keep your attorney aware of any changes to the deal as it progresses, sometimes there are price reductions following an inspection, or the parties decide to close sooner or later than originally planned, and it is important the attorney is aware. Don't make any major purchases right before your closing. A new car loan may negatively impact your credit score or impact your debt-to-income ratio in a way that prevents your home loan from getting approved. Don't plan to rely on money from friends or family to come up with the downpayment on your house. Your lender will verify the source of the funds used to put money down. You'd need specific advanced approval to utilize any gifted funds, so make sure you discuss it with your lender and attorney if it is part of your plan.

Do consider seller credits. When you purchase a home there are a number of expenses that get paid at closing, including homeowner's insurance for the next year, the cost of the heating fuel currently in the tank, a portion of the upcoming property taxes, your appraisal, lender fees, recording costs, and the Vermont Transfer Tax, among other costs. In most cases, assuming the appraised value of the property is sufficient, you can arrange the purchase so that the seller will give you a credit out of the purchase price to assist with your purchaser's closing costs. For example, if you have an agreement to buy a property for $100,000, but want to preserve a little of your cash on hand, you can suggest a purchase price of $105,000, with the seller giving you a $5,000 credit towards your closing costs.

This can allow you to utilize less of your cash on hand to fund the closing, and instead utilize funds you are borrowing from your bank.

Do remember to contact the power company and set up an account with them so you don't have any disruption in power. Do obtain homeowner's insurance in advance of the closing, so they can have your insurance begin as soon as you own the property.

Do make sure you have all your closing funds accessible in time to close. Selling stocks, moving funds between different banks can require time for transactions to clear and allow the funds to be available. Plan on being able to provide a bank check to your attorney days before the closing, so your attorney has cleared funds in time to close. In most instances you will need to bring two forms of ID to closing, so as you pack up your apartment or house, make sure you keep your social security card, passport, or other form of identification accessible. If you are wiring funds, you need to personally verify the wiring information (not via email) to protect yourself. There are risks in wiring funds, so make sure you discuss the process with your attorney.

Okemo Valley Women's Club to hold food drive

REGION – The General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) Okemo Valley Women's Club (OVWC) is pleased to announce the kickoff of the National Day of Service (NDS), spotlighting food insecurity and hunger in the United States. This year's NDS is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 28, nationwide. GFWC clubs nationwide are participating, to help increase public awareness and provide food resources to residents and families in their communities.

The Okemo Valley Women's Club will hold a food drive on the National Day of Service, Saturday, Sept. 28. They will be collecting donations of nonperishable food items at Shaw's Plaza in Ludlow, Singleton's Store in Proctorsville, and Shaw's in Springfield, from 10 a.m. – 2 p.m. All food donations will be donated to local food shelves.

"The GFWC National Day of Service is an exciting opportunity for our clubwomen to demonstrate their volunteer know-how," said Suellen Brazil, GFWC international president. "The GFWC tagline is 'living the volunteer spirit,' which is the essence of this national public awareness campaign about hunger and food insecurity. It takes a village of concerned community leaders, public servants, and compassionate neighbors to solve hunger."

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 34 million people in the U.S are food insecure, 9 million children are hungry, 53 million people turned to food banks following Covid due to unemployment, and 100% of U.S. counties have families suffering from food insecurity.

GFWC women work tirelessly to be of service to their local communities. If everyone in their community works together, no one in the United States needs to suffer from hunger or food insecurity.

For more information on the National Day of Service, contact OVWC President Sally Scarp at 407-242-0901, or Karen Haskell, committee chair, at 603-826-0197.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is an international organization dedicated to community improvement by enhancing the lives of others through volunteer service.

Senior Solutions presents Creative Play for Seniors

REGION – Senior Solutions, with sponsorship from AARP, is pleased to announce our offering of a wonderful free program featuring three longtime artists, friends, and collaborators, who are also older adults, to engage with our community elders in arts activities that will provide fun and creative ways to strengthen cognition and wellbeing while making new friends. This series of weekly workshops is presented by creative artists Ham Gillett, Marv Klassen-Landis, and Michael Zerphy.

All workshops take place at Senior Solutions, 38 Pleasant Street, Springfield, Vt., from 1-2:30 p.m. The kickoff opening event and final performance take place at 4 p.m., at Nolin-Murray Main Hall, 38 Pleasant Street, Springfield.

The program was highly successful last year in Woodstock, Vt., when hosted by the Norman Williams Public Library and the Thompson Senior Center. Senior Solutions looks forward to bringing it to Springfield.

A full list of workshops can be found at www.seniorsolutionsvt.org/services/staying-safe-healthy/creative-play. Registration is recommended, as space is limited to 25 individuals. These are individual sessions – sign-up for one, all, or something in between. For more information, please visit the website above, email us at info@seniorsolutionsvt.org, or call us at 802-885-2669.
